Council Grants Permit for Use of Spalding Park as Burying Ground

Redmond Welch Wants Salary for Time He Was Out of Office

Mayor's Nomination for Inspector of Wires is Tabled by Council

Unsuccessful Attempts to Take Mayor's Nominations for Assessors From Table

Redmond Welch, retired superintendent of police, will seek to recover salary for the length of time he was out of office, dating from the time of his removal by Mayor Brown on Jan. 10, and up to May 20, the day on which he was reinstated to the superintendency by vote of the city council. This period is 16 weeks and five days and would, if granted, amount to $1,125. A claim for salary covered by this period was presented to the city council last night by Mr. Welch, who followed the usual course of being referred to the claims committee and the city solicitor.

Grant Permit for Burial Ground

The council settled the matter of using Spalding park as a burying ground last night.

OWNER OF INDIANS DEAD

James C. Dunn, President of Cleveland Am. League Team, Died Today

CHICAGO, June 9.—(By the Associated Press) James C. Dunn, president and chief owner of the Cleveland American League baseball club, died here at 6:10 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Dunn's death came after a long illness which first became acute last February. He is survived only by his widow.

Game Called Off

CLEVELAND, June 9.—Manager Tris Speaker on receiving a message from Chicago that James C. Dunn had died this morning, announced that today's game between the Cleveland and Washington teams here would be postponed.

WON CITY'S FIRST PENNANT

CLEVELAND, June 9.—One of the great things James C. Dunn did after assuming control of the Cleveland team in 1916 was to purchase the "Case of Tris Speaker" from the Boston Americans for $50,000, a record price at that time, announcing at the same time that he was going to give Cleveland a pennant-winning team.

He fulfilled this promise in 1920.

TELEGRAPHERS NOT TO BE CUT

Will Not Be Included in Third Wage Reduction Order of R. R. Labor Board

New Cuts to Affect 350,000 Clerks, Signal Men, Stationary Firemen and Oilers

CHICAGO, June 9.—Railway telegraphers probably will not be included in the third wage reduction order of the railroad labor board, according to rumors today of the contemplated new slash from railroad payrolls.

The telegraphers' number, approximately 51,000, is a small local condition on various lines have to be considered that deliberation of an order affecting the telegraphers would necessarily consume weeks, it was said. New wage cuts in the $10,000,000 already lopped off the pay checks of 500,000 maintenance of way employees and 400,000 shopmen will affect 350,000 railroad clerks, signal men, stationary firemen, oilers and marine department employees, according to reports.

Chief among the groups are 22,000 clerks; 22,000 men in the signal departments and 80,000 freight handlers and truckers.

Although board members made no direct statement regarding the next cut, rumors were persistent in predicting a smaller reduction for the clerical forces than those affecting the shopmen. The reason for this was said to lie in the fact that the clerks did not receive increases proportionately as great as other groups of employees when the wage scale was going up.

WAR VETERANS ELIGIBLE

Result of Examination for Superintendent of Ashes and Waste Collection

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, June 9.—An announcement was made today by the state department of civil service that it has established a list of 12 men who are eligible for appointments to the position of superintendent of ashes and waste collection in the city of Lowell.

The examination as ordered by the department was held April 12, and was taken by 25 men, among whom Mr. Sutton Wilson, the present incumbent, was not included. Today, the department announced that 12 of these men were successful in passing and that if the work is to be continued, it will insist upon the appointment of some one from the eligible list, as required by the civil service law.

Those eligible for appointment, all of whom are World War veterans, are as follows, in order of their ranking: Michael H. Harrington, 16 Fifth Avenue; Patrick H. Guenard, 27 Merrill street; Garrett G. Royal, 32 Phillips street; Cornelius F. Desmond, Jr., 135 Stockpole street; El B. Hatt, 125 Gross street; Jeremiah F. Deary, 315 Andover street; James L. Sexton, 254 Gibson street; James J. Powers, 103 Reed street; William E. Brown, 86 Third street; William B. Helly, 197 Inland street; John P. Cassidy, 242 Third street; Thomas P. Woodford, 420 West Fourth street, South Boston.

Hayes Declares Haverhill Music Supervisor "Was a Victim of Circumstances"

Roberts Says Girl Student Bought Liquor at Downes' Home

BOSTON, June 9.—Herbert W. Downes, supervisor of music in the public schools of Haverhill and a church organist in this city, was brought before a federal commissioner here today as a result of a raid on his home at Haverhill, last night, when a quantity of whiskey was seized. Commissioner Hayes announced that no warrant would be issued against Downes, but that the charges would be dropped because it was agreed by the prohibition enforcement officials and others that Mr. Downes was a victim of circumstances.

Prohibition Supervisor James P. Roberts, in a statement to newspapermen after the conference at which the charges were dropped, said the raid and seizure at the Downes home were made as the result of reports that young women students at Bradford academy, had been buying whiskey there.

Mr. Roberts said he caused Miss Catherine Durfee, a graduate of Bradford, the oldest and one of the most fashionable girls' schools in the country, to go to the Downes home, a day or two ago, bringing a flask with her. Miss Durfee reported to him, he said, that the flask was filled by Mrs. Downes, who accepted payment of two dollars for the half pint of whiskey which Miss Durfee brought to Supervisor Roberts' office.

Mr. Roberts added that the whiskey was of good quality and apparently from the same source of supply as the liquor which was found at the Downes residence yesterday.

It was on this evidence that a search warrant was obtained. The prohibition supervisor said he went to the Downes home, which is directly opposite Bradford academy, last night, and found two bottles of liquor on the third floor, covered by clothing. Mr. Downes said he knew nothing of the liquor.

APPRECIATION OF WORK OF FIREMEN

The Mullin Coal Co. has forwarded a check for $25 to Chief Edward F. Saunders of the local department, in appreciation of the work of the men in saving property adjacent to the Mullin Coal Co. at the fire on Monday night.

The letter of appreciation follows: Lowell, Mass., June 9, 1922.

Firemen's Fund Association, Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen:—Enclosed please find out check for twenty-five dollars ($25), given in appreciation for the splendid work done by the Lowell fire department in saving our property and life during the fire on Monday night, June 5, 1922.

Yours most sincerely,

JOSEPH MULLIN, LEON H. MULLIN.

DANCING TODAY WITH OLD MERCURY

The following hourly readings were taken today from the thermometer on Uncle Dudley's clock in Merrimack square:

6 a. m.	75
7 a. m.	77
8 a. m.	80
9 a. m.	85
10 a. m.	88
11 a. m.	88
12 noon	88
1 p. m.	91
2 p. m.	91

A breeze from the west took the edge from today's heat by practically clearing humidity from the atmosphere. The day was more bearable than yesterday, although the temperature mounted steadily from the early morning hours.

Last night was distressingly hot, particularly in congested districts, but men of the fire department wet down a number of streets, and brought a measure of relief.

The sun rose again today like a ball of fire and although showers had been predicted, the sky was practically cloudless. At noon the temperature in Merrimack square was 88 degrees, representing a high of 91 degrees since 6 o'clock. At 2 o'clock it was one degree higher.

The heat was felt a great deal today in most of the public schools and while no sessions were shortened, the daily work was made as light as possible.

$2500 OFFERED FOR SLAYERS

Search for Murderers of Policeman Farrington of Milton Continues

Autopsy Reveals Bullets Which Pierced Officer's Head Fired From Behind

MILTON, June 9.—With a reward of $2500 offered by the selectmen, search for the slayers of Patrolman Emory H. Farrington, whose body was found early yesterday near the Blue Hill reservation, was continued today.

The theory that Farrington was shot down by automobile thieves whom he had detected in the act of stripping a stolen car was almost generally held and officers said they had the description of a small closed car seen traveling rapidly from the scene of the crime at approximately the time of the murder.

The fact that the autopsy revealed that two bullets which pierced Farrington's head were fired from a .38-calibre revolver and from behind, together with the fact that the patrolman's own revolver was still in his holster, caused the police to believe that he was shot by an unseen assailant.

SHOTS EXCHANGED ON ULSTER BORDER

BELFAST, June 9.—(By the Associated Press) There were exchanges of shots last night between the British troops which yesterday occupied Belleek and the Irish irregular forces across the frontier, says an Enniskillen dispatch today. This affected only the outskirts.

A delegation from Pettigoe told Home Secretary Bates today that the loyalists in no circumstances would remain in the Pettigoe district if the military left.

HEAD CRUSHED, THROAT SLASHED

Body of Matron of Girls' Home at Jackson, Mich., Found Near Her Home

Axe and Razor Used by Assassin—Clothing Torn Off—Long Struggle Indicated

JACKSON, Mich., June 9.—The body of Miss Alice Mallott, 40, assistant matron of the Gritenden Home for Girls here, was found with the head crushed and throat slashed near the home this morning. An axe and razor had been used by her assailant and indications are that a long struggle took place. No clue to the slayer has been uncovered, but bloodhounds are being used in the pursuit.

The clothing had been torn from the body, the women having been gagged with a handkerchief.

BIG INCREASE IN SALE OF MILK

At the present time, the amount of milk being sold to school children, under the system inaugurated just a week or so ago, is practically double the amount originally planned.

Prior to beginning the system, a survey made showed that 2000 children would take advantage of the milk if provided, but now 4000 pupils are being delivered daily to the elementary schools.

Mrs. Gardner Pearson of the school committee, whose interest in the idea was instrumental in getting it started, is perfectly satisfied that the experiment was justified and says that she is working out even better than she anticipated it would.

The milk is being sold in sanitary half-pint bottles at 3 cents each to the pupils.

THE MAYOR GIVES HIS APPROVAL

Approval of the recommendation of the board of public service that a paving commission known as Amiesite be purchased in sufficient quantity to pave Westford street from Loring street to Wilder street and Broadway, from Suffolk to Walker street on the north side was given today by Mayor George H. Brown.

Laid at an average thickness of two inches, the paving will cost the city approximately $156 per square yard. Further, the city will pay the expense of the Amiesite Co. and for all labor connected with the laying of foundations and laying of rolling material. This will cost at least $250 per yard more.

Head Constable Taken by Republicans

BELFAST, June 9.—(By the Associated Press)—It was learned today that the republican forces upon evacuating Pettigoe took with them W. A. Murphy, formerly a captain in the British fusiliers and now head constable of the Ulster specials. Thomas Enery, George Hall and Robert Irome, constables of the same force, also were taken. None of the captives has been heard from.

PEASANT EMBROIDERIES

Peasant embroideries are all characterized by the use of brilliant colors—chiefly red and blue, helped out with touches of orange, purple, green and yellow. PRES. HARDING APPROVES CONG. ROGERS' EFFORTS

WASHINGTON, June 8.—President Harding, in a special message to the senate yesterday, stated that the policy of the navy and interior departments in dealing with the naval oil reserves at Teapot Dome, including private leases, has his full approval. The president transmitted a voluminous report made to him by Secretary Fall regarding disposition of the naval reserves. Mr. Harding said the report was not to be construed as a defense of the administration policy, but to give information to the senate in connection with the investigation recently ordered by the senate.

The president added that it was only fair to state that the policy of the navy and interior departments dealing with the naval reserves were "submitted to me prior to the adoption thereof and the policy decided upon and the subsequent acts have at all times had my entire approval." The president's message and Secretary Fall's report were referred to the public lands committee, which today received a truckload of papers containing all correspondence for years back with respect to private leasing on the three reserves.

Secretary Fall, in a letter to the president accompanying the report, said that he was handing the president the document "in the sincere belief that the contracts entered into and the policy as formulated and as finally carried out up to date, will redound to the credit of your administration, both in the immediate present and the distant future."

The president wrote that he was sending the report to the senate with the hope that it might be of assistance to the house land committee in making its investigation under the direction under the senate reduction. He added that the report was comprehensive and "gives details of the handling of all naval petroleum matters up to the present date."

WALSH SAYS PUBLIC SICK OF COAL GOUGING

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The coal strike was brought into senate debate yesterday by Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, who declared that "there is a limit to the patience of our people" and that "extortion is going on with apparent governmental approval."

"Whether operators or miners are responsible for the prevailing condition," said Senator Walsh, "the general public will begin to care less and less and will come to the inevitable conclusion that the coal industry is so organized that it is no longer being conducted from motives of service but motives of greed and profit."

"The public is going to demand," he said, "that motives of service be superior to motives of profit. But the chief trouble today in the bituminous situation is that the motives of the operators are not merely motives of future profit but motives of extortion and immoderate gain."

"The public is tired of operators associating themselves to insure profits and laborers associating themselves to insure good wages. What the public will demand if this condition continues is a new system in the conduct of this business."

"My, this cellar smells clean"
—said Bert

"Last Monday evening Bert went into the cellar to get the garden tools.

"What's happened down here?" he said. "It has never smelled so clean before."

"I had used Sylpho-Nathol that morning for the first time. Our cellar wasn't different from hundreds of others and I kept it clean as could be. But it had had a damp, unpleasant, just-noticeable odor we simply could not get rid of until we used Sylpho-Nathol.

"I had put off using a disinfectant. So many of them leave such an unpleasant smell; and are messy and hard to mix. Sylpho-Nathol has none of those objections.

"I ordered a bottle from the grocer. It was the easiest thing to prepare—a teaspoonful in a quart of warm water made a clean-smelling, pearly-gray solution. I sprinkled it all around the cellar. The results were wonderful.

"Since then I have used Sylpho-Nathol every day all over the house. A tablespoonful to a pail makes mop water that destroys the germs that breed in floor cracks and crannies. Sprinkled over the garbage it keeps away disease-carrying flies. It rids sink drains and pipes of annoying, persistent smells. And it is indispensable for the sanitary cleansing of bathroom fixtures and as a flush for the closet bowl.

"Sylpho-Nathol has many other household uses. It's splendid for wiping off shelves and sprinkling in all sorts of hard-to-get-at places."

Sylpho-Nathol is pleasant and easy to use. Its faint, friendly odor doesn't linger. Though 4½ times stronger than carbolic acid, it is as safe to have in the house as a cake of scouring soap.

Your grocer, or druggist, has Sylpho-Nathol in four handy sizes, 15c, 35c, 65c, $1.25. If he hasn't it, he can get it easily. Just ask for it by the name—"Sylpho-Nathol."

IN ALL MEN TO DECEIVE

Marie "Peggy" Beal, Slayer
of "Perfect Lover," Declares Male Polygamous

KANSAS CITY, June 9.—"I have killed a man and the whole world seems to be asking the eternal 'why,'" Marie "Peggy" Beal, her black bobbed hair, forming a dark outline for her small head and sharply defined face, prefaced the first complete account of her reasons for slaying E. Warren Anderson, Kansas City and Philadelphia department store welfare director, her "perfect lover," in the third floor back of the couple occupied in an obscure hotel here, in the dawn of Saturday morning.

"My own story, my past life and loves, my most intimate affairs have become public property," she declared. "I am scrapping for a public holiday, the woman who kills."

"A jury is going to try me and find me guilty."

"I am willing they should, for my heart has died and what becomes of my body is all a matter of moment now."

"But it is all I am going through now, says but one girl from such a fate as mine, I shall not have lived in vain. I have not turned man hater. One man's sin has not turned me against all men."

"But in the one man I know so well, my 'perfect love,' I believe I have found the trait of all men, even since Adam."

"Warren, the man I believed perfect, was no different than all men. I believe he was more daring—that is all."

"For it is in all men to deceive. A woman can love but one man; a man cannot love but one woman."

"Warren told me he had loved 53, he wrote their names for me, and told me of their intimate personalities, their hair, their eyes, their mannerisms."

"I love them all, Peg," he said. "It was then I realized for the first time, the true nature of man."

"Since then, as I lay here on my cot, I have wondered at the wisdom of modern civilization. When the world was young, man recognized the spirit of polygamy within man."

"I do not believe it is I who failed. I do not believe it is the woman's fault in the thousands upon thousands of unhappy heart affairs which fill volumes of newspaper space today."

"Rather it is the inborn spirit of man."

"Some are cowards of their conscience. They are the 'good men' of every community. Others are 'not found out.' Still others are like Warren."

"I tried by every wife of woman to hold his 'perfect love.' I wanted him

Blue Serge Suit

WITH EXTRA PANTS OF
SAME MATERIAL TAILORED TO YOUR MEASURE FOR

$26.50

The reason why the average motorist carries a spare tire is for emergency. A blow-out, a puncture or stone bruise is liable to happen any moment. So it is with a pair of trousers, they stand most of the wear, and an extra pair doubles the life of the suit.

Lymanville Blue Serge of Rhode Island

I buy several pieces for spot cash. I don't claim these goods are $40 value—because I don't know by what standard $40 value might be measured in clothing. I do say they are 14-oz. in weight, twisted worsted both ways, absolutely wool, and no tailor advertises this make serge under $30 for a suit of clothes.

I don't care how big you are, if you can get through my door without blocking traffic, there will be no extra charge. I am going to turn these goods into cash in the next ten days. Every man should own a Blue Serge Suit and you can't find a better value than this 14-oz. material at this price of suit and extra pants of same material, made to your measure, while they last, for $26.50.

DARING BANDIT
KILLED IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, June 9.—A bandit who for more than three years has led a roving band of marauders through the Tlaxcala oil fields, was killed the other day by one of his own countrymen who refused to believe that Monte Michaels, six shooter in hand, was on a friendly mission when he attempted forced entrance to the headquarters of a petroleum camp. Monte, a hard-hitting and straight shooting American, came to Tlaxcala several years ago, ostensibly to work in the oil fields. He tired of drilling and pumping and started out to gather some of the plentiful gold by means of the familiar slick-up system. He prospered and he gathered followers.

Two years ago a price was set on Monte's head by the International Petroleum company—$10,000 gold for him, dead or alive. Monte answered the challenge by holding up a passenger train at Chocoma, Tlaxcala, and bagging enough money to keep him and his followers for months. Other charges of banditry have been made against him, but no one cared to match him in gun-play to gain the reward.

Several days ago, however, Monte entered an international petroleum company camp near Zacamiltla and finding the door of the headquarters office barred against him, he drew his gun and demanded admission. An American, name not given, quietly opened a side window and filled Monte full of lead.

HALF FARE FOR CHILDREN DURING SUMMER

BOSTON, June 9.—Representatives T. J. Driscoll of Boston and Francis of Charlestown won a notable victory in the house yesterday, when he succeeded in overturning the recommendation of the house rules committee and secured the adoption of an order requesting the Boston Elevated trustees to allow children under 14 to ride for half fare during the months of July and August.

Both Driscoll and Francis argued that the children in the congested sections of Boston should be allowed an opportunity of getting to the beaches and bathing spots during the period of vacation from school. The children are now allowed to ride for half fare, they argued, during the school term, and many of them find it difficult to pay the 10-cent fare necessary for them to get away from the congested parts of the city to recreation spots during the hot weather.

Representative Hull of Leominster in charge of the adverse report of the rules committee, argued that the order is unnecessary and that the trustees can put the half fare into effect if they desire. The house at first accepted the report of the rules committee. Later in the session Driscoll moved reconsideration, in which he was supported by Francis, and the order was adopted.

RECREATION HUT FOR DISABLED VETERANS

Plans for a drive to construct a recreation hut for disabled veterans at the Groton hospital were discussed at a special meeting of the auxiliary of Walker-Rogers post, 662, Veterans of Foreign Wars, which was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jennie Garrity, 82 Westford street. The principal speaker was Thomas Goady, chairman of the welfare committee at the hospital, who outlined the needs of such a building at the hospital. He informed his listeners that a few days ago the Lowell Masonic choir gave a concert at the hospital and at that time it was necessary to move bed patients out of one of the rooms in order to give the concert. He said the project of erecting a recreation hut has met with the approval of the Rotary club, the Boys' club and other organizations and also that Mayor Brown is strongly in favor of such an improvement. The matter will again be discussed at a later date. During the meeting, refreshments were served and a musical entertainment was given.

THE BOY SCOUT STRATEGY BOARD

The Boy Scout strategy board, under the direction of C. D. A. Grasse, met last night for the purpose of outlining the work of the organization as applied to the boys of Lowell and vicinity. The next meeting of the general committee, composed of every one who is interested in the movement, will be held in the chamber of commerce headquarters on Monday at 8 p. m. At this meeting captains will make their first reports on the money raised by the various teams. Last night at Tyngsboro, the workers of that district held a meeting at the home of Dr. F. D. Lambert. A group of scouts has been organized in this section under the direction of Carlos W. Dunning. About 30 boys have already asked to join. At 7:15 tonight the Chelmsford Centra troops headed by Read I. Ripley, will attend a lecture by W. B. Brown, New England scout executive. Mr. Ripley is awaiting a successor, as he is soon to leave Lowell.

ANOTHER RAID IN WORTHEN STREET

About 200 gallons of moonshine and 50 cases of beer were found and confiscated last night by members of the liquor squad who discovered the contraband buried near a house in Worthen street. In addition to the wine and beer the police discovered 50 cases of empty beer bottles, a capping machine and much other paraphernalia used in the manufacture and distribution of "shine" and beer. The raiding officers include Sergt. Winn, and Officers Moore, Cooney, Aldrich, Killoy, Shapiro and Hunter.

PRINCETON MONUMENT DEDICATED BY HARDING

PRINCETON, N. J., June 9.—The Princeton Battle monument, commemorating the battle of Princeton, dedicated by Pres. Harding today, is from the hand of F. W. MacMonnies, of New York, who created the much discussed Clive statue in front of the New York city hall. He has been working on it since 1903, the period of the war excepted. It is located on Nassau street, in front of the old Princeton Inn, and was erected by the Princeton Battle Monument committee, which raised $300,000 for the purpose. The memorial is a large relief with General Washington as the main figure, thus combining the ideas of the heroic, of fame and of victory. It represents Washington at the battle of Princeton, watching his men as they retreat. General Mercer, who was killed in the battle, lies dying at his feet. The lower part of the monument consists of several minor figures portraying several forms of heroism under difficult circumstances of the battle. Dr. P. S. Grant of New York, posed for "General Mercer"; Dr. Allen Marquand for the soldier who is rushing forward, and Charles Dana Gibson, the illustrator, for the figure who is supporting the fallen general.

BODY FOUND ON TRACKS POSITIVELY IDENTIFIED

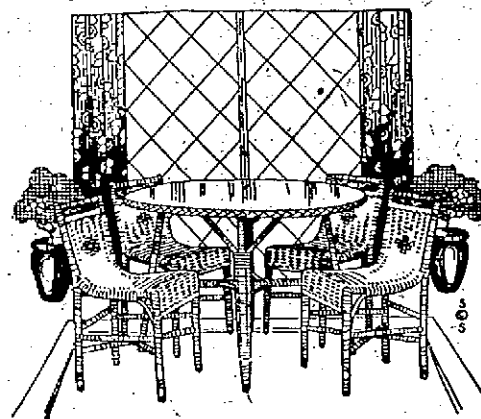

DANIELSON, Conn., June 9.—The body found on the N.Y. N.H. & H.R.R. tracks two miles below here, early Thursday morning, was positively identified last night as that of Charles Jenks of Providence, R.I. The body was found beside a pile of railroad ties which had been wired to the track in an evident attempt at train wrecking. Coroner Arthur G. Bull said his finding would probably be prepared in three weeks and was understood to have indicated it will be that of suicide. It was said that Mr. Jenks had been in a hospital for the insane some had suffered from heart trouble. He disappeared last Monday afternoon.

Westford street and Broadway will be resurfaced with amiesite and the work will be started in the very near future. This decision was reached at a meeting of the public service board held late yesterday afternoon in the house of which Chairman Murphy and Engineer George Bowers of the board gave an outline of their trip through the state of Connecticut Wednesday, which was made for the purpose of inspecting roads built with amiesite. In the course of the meeting the board voted to recommend to the mayor the purchase of 13,100 sq. yards of this asphaltic preparation at $2.54 per ton, the material to be laid by the city employees under the supervision of a foreman of the company that handles the material. The city will receive a guarantee of three years, while the company will also give a maintenance guarantee for eight years at a cost of 8 cents a square yard.

Mr. Bowers stated that miles and miles of road built with amiesite were inspected in Connecticut, and in his opinion this asphaltic composition is well worth the money. He said it makes a hard surface, which will wear like iron. Some of the roads that the two members of the board inspected, he said, were built eight years ago and today they are as good as new. He praised the composition very highly. Mr. Murphy was also loud in his praise for this street material, which, he said, is the best he ever saw.

Central Bridge Again
In the course of the meeting the Central bridge was discussed at length with Professor Moore and John M. O'Donoghue, counsel for the construction company that erected the bridge. The attention of the two men was called to a break in the roadbed of the bridge, which occurred Wednesday night, when a piece of the road about a yard square, between the two tracks at the Centralville end of the bridge, fell into the river. Mr. O'Donoghue said the repair should be looked after by the city and the work charged up to the construction company.

Prof. Moore outlined the proposition of the Traylor-Dewey Construction Co. of Allentown, Pa., to guarantee the surface of the bridge for $5,000, but he said the price was excessive. He said he has made arrangements with a concern to bring a gunnite equipment here and by the first of next week he will be ready to submit a detailed proposal so that work could be started in the latter part of the week. Chairman Murphy informed Prof. Moore that another plan had been discussed by him and Mr. Bowers, but this plan was not made public as after the meeting a private conference on the matter was held with Mr. Moore.

High School Commission
In the early part of the meeting the members of the high school commission appeared before the board relative to the laying of sidewalks in Anne, Kirk and French streets. Dr. Lambert acted as spokesman for the commission and said the commission was going to know just what the city wanted to do relative to sidewalks in the vicinity of the new high school. He said at present there is a dirt surface on the Anne street sidewalk, while a small portion of the granite sidewalk remains in front of the old church site in Kirk street. He was informed by the board that a sidewalk will be laid in the centre of the road in Anne street and that the board will look into the matter of the other sidewalks. When asked if there was much money left in the high school appropriation, Dr. Lambert replied he did not know, and to a question from Chairman Murphy as to whether or not there will be any money left in the appropriation, he replied, "we are not through with our work yet." Mr. Murphy was of the opinion that the approaches and sidewalks in the vicinity of the school should be built out of the high school appropriation.

Councillor Chadwick appeared before the board relative to the resurfacing of Westford street and he was assured that that thoroughfare will be looked after in the near future.

Motor Truck Bill Held Up
Monthly bills were approved, but when a bill from the Packard Motor Car Co. amounting to $11,919.70, representing the purchase of two trucks for the street department, was presented, it was turned back to Supt. Doherty with the information that the bill would not be approved until the automobiles had been delivered. It is being stated that so far only one car had been brought to Lowell. The cars were purchased by Supt. Doherty, who was told that heretofore such transactions must not be put through without the sanction of the board. Another bill amounting to $51.05 for gasoline and oil, from Edward J. Brennan, was not approved, and Supt. Doherty was instructed to look into the matter, as the board felt the gasoline and oil used by the department machines should be taken from the city's supply. The other firemen and engineers employed in the water department asked for a hearing on the matter of working hours and it was voted to hold the hearing next Thursday evening at 8.30 o'clock. A communication from Councillor Queenan asked that the fence on the old stone bridge between Lewis and Suffolk streets in Broadway, be repaired, and it was referred to the superintendent of streets. The petition of Olaf Myhr for a catch basin on the westerly side of Crescent street was referred to the superintendent. The petition of Eugene W. Hunt that Arcadia avenue be called, was granted, as was that of John H. Caddell, who asked that Norcross street be roped and oiled. At 7 o'clock the board adjourned until next Thursday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

BREAD AND MILK WEEK BIG SUCCESS

Aided by the unusually warm weather, the "bread and milk week" is meeting with great success.

According to Milk Inspector Melvin P. Master, the normal daily consumption is about 37,000 quarts. This amount, he says, has increased at least 50 per cent. since the campaign started. Milk dealers say that 55,000 quarts are being disposed of every day.

FAREWELL BANQUET TO MILL AGENT

Mark Ingham, agent of the Silesia mills in North Chelmsford, who will soon sever his connection with the mill, was tendered a farewell banquet by the overseers of the mill last evening, the festivities being held at the Richardson hotel. The evening's program included community singing, led by Raymond O'Neill, and addresses by John E. Hogan, who acted as toastmaster; Peter Pickon and Mr. Ingham. As a token of esteem the guest of honor was presented a handsome traveling case fitted up with useful articles. The committee in charge of arrangements consisted of Al-fred Berry, chairman; John Curry, Arthur Rousseau, Albert Metcalfe, James McEneaney and William T. Pickon. Mr. and Mrs. Ingham will soon sail for England, where they will spend a few months.

COAL PRICES HELD DOWN

Hoover Says Essential Thing About Prices is That Run-away Market Has Stopped

Latest Development in Connection With Agitation in Senate Over Strike

WASHINGTON, June 9.—A statement from Secretary Hoover declaring "the essential things about coal prices is that the runaway market has been stopped," was the latest development today in connection with agitation in the senate over the strike situation and the plan adopted by the secretary for holding prices at a fair level during the time of the industry.

Issued after the assertion by Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, on the senate floor, yesterday, that the public patience was being exhausted by coal operators taking advantage of agreements reached with Mr. Hoover to boost their prices to retailers, the secretary's statement said that "some of the senators have been misinformed by misleading statements from a small group of retailers, who object strenuously to any attempt to restrain prices." The fact is, Mr. Hoover contended, that prices have receded from the level reached on May 15, and the public has been protected from a repetition of 1920 conditions.

PROTEST FIRING ON HOSPITAL

Incident at Belfast on Monday Night Continues to Agitate Ulster Capital

Aid of International Red Cross Sought for the Sick and Wounded

LONDON, June 9. (By the Associated Press).—The incident in Belfast Monday night when the Mater hospital was fired upon continues to agitate the Ulster capital, according to press dispatches. The hospital authorities telegraphed the international Red Cross headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland, protesting against the occurrence, demanding the immediate protection of British troops and also asking the Red Cross to "come to the help of our sick and wounded."

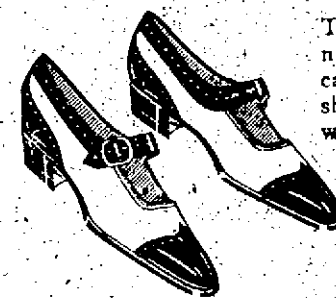

The Geneva office replied that it was ready to take all necessary steps and asked to whom the Red Cross communication should be addressed to which the hospital authorities replied the British government. The word "wounded" used in the message to Geneva, referred to sufferers from previous street fights who are being cared for in the hospital.

Garbage Made His Hogs Drunk

FITCHBURG, June 9.—Acting on the complaint of the city garbage collector that home brew mash in garbage has made his hogs drunk, and that some of them have died as a result, the board of health has announced that no garbage containing "poisonous matter" will be collected hereafter. The complaint said that some of the young pigs have been so stunted in their growth by over indulgence in the alcoholic garbage that they have been unfit for sale.

City Council Holds Meeting

found by granting the permit after receiving a favorable report from the board of health on the sanitation phase of the proposition. Although the permit was granted, the council received a petition in remonstrance, signed by 103 residents of Belvidere, most of whom live in Rogers street.

Other bright spots of the meeting were unsuccessful attempts to take from the table the mayor's nomination for a new board of assessors and failure on the part of Councilor Gallagher to force action on the mayor's order to transfer $20,000 from the overlay surplus account to an appropriation for the maintenance of the Memorial auditorium.

The mayor presented the name of Charles L. Gallagher for the position

GAINED EIGHT POUNDS IN TWO WEEKS' TIME

Boston Resident Says She Eats Better, Sleeps Better and Feels Better Than in Four Years—Dyspepsia Entirely Overcome

"I have actually gained eight pounds in two weeks' time and am now eating better, sleeping better and feeling better than I have in three or four years," said Mrs. Celesta Fell, 32 Prince street, Boston, Mass., recently, in telling of the benefits she has derived from the use of Tanlac.

"My stomach was in such a bad fix before I took Tanlac that I did not dare eat much of anything, for if I did I would have so much pain and distress from indigestion that I felt like I was going to die. I was so run down and weak from lack of nourishment that I could not do my housework."

"I was so nervous and didn't sleep still during the day nor sleep at night. I can see now if it had not been for Tanlac I would have had to give up entirely. I am now feeling strong and healthy and all the credit belongs to Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Adv.

The council was called to order by President Bagley at 8:48 o'clock.

Petitions for garage and gasoline licenses and street acceptances were referred to the board of public service.

Welch Seeks Back Salary

President Bagley read a claim from Redmond Welch for salary from Jan. 8 to May 20, 1922, as chief of police and asking for a hearing before the committee on claims.

The petition, written on the office stationery of Qua, Howard & Rogers, stated that inasmuch as Redmond Welch had been removed from the office of superintendent of police on Jan. 3 and subsequently reinstated after a hearing on May 20, compensation is asked based on section 35 of the city charter, in which it is provided that after a removed officer is reinstated by a two-thirds vote of the council, the removal order shall be invalid.

The period for which compensation is sought is 16 weeks and five days.

President Bagley read a lengthy report from the board of health on the matter of using Spaulding mark as a burial ground for Polish people.

A petition was read, bearing the signatures of 103 residents of Belvidere, protesting against the granting of the permit.

On motion of Councilor McMeniman, the council unanimously voted to accept the report of the board, and to grant the petition.

President Bagley read an opinion from City Solicitor Edward J. Tierney, which stated that when the mayor nominates an entire board at one time such as the board of assessors, the council should vote on the board as a unit, naming in each instance the present incumbent to be succeeded.

No Action on Assessors

Councilor McMeniman moved that the names of Edward Mulry, Wilfred Aehn and Clinton P. Tuttle, nominated by the mayor for the board of assessors, be taken from the table for action. He designated that Mr. Aehn succeed Daniel E. Hogan and that Mr. Mulry succeed John H. Dwyer.

Discussion immediately arose, with Councilor Gallagher expressing the opinion that such a procedure might be illegal and would be likely to lead to embarrassing entanglements.

Councilor McMeniman's motion was put to a vote and failed, 10 to 5.

Councilor Gallagher suggested that action be taken on the matter of transferring $20,000 from surplus overlay to an appropriation for auditorium maintenance, after President Bagley had read a communication from Mayor Brown urging that the money be so secured.

Councilor Gallagher stressed the point that he did not favor the transferring of $100 for salary of the director of the city's employment bureau, but felt that some action should be taken on the auditorium money. He suggested that the council might treat the appropriation as "unexpected expense" and legally take the money from the overlay account, which is supposed to be touched only in case of extraordinary or unforeseen emergencies.

President Bagley vigorously objected to any such proposition, stating that he still holds to the belief that a transfer of this kind would be illegal for the reason that it is not an "unexpected" but, rather, a "recurring" expense.

"Moreover," said President Bagley, "the city had not yet accepted the auditorium and I do not see how we are authorized to appropriate money for anything that is not city property. I am opposed to the suggestion."

Council Sustains President Bagley

Councilor Gallagher again stated that he would like to see something done to obtain the money necessary for maintaining the new building the remainder of the year and appealed from the ruling of the chair.

On a roll call vote, however, President Bagley was sustained.

The new zoning ordinance, given prominent publicity yesterday, was read by its title and referred to the committee on ordinances and the solicitor. A public hearing on the matter will be held on the evening of July 13. The city clerk was authorized to advertise a temporary loan order for $100,000.

ST. LAWRENCE PROJECT

New York Official Replies
to Editorial Appearing in
The Lowell Sun

The following communication is received from the president of the New York state waterways conference committee:

50 Madison Avenue, New York City.
June 2, 1922.

Editor, The Sun, Lowell, Mass.
Dear Sir: In discussing the proposed St. Lawrence seaway, The Sun in its editorial of May 13, takes the general position that power development upon the St. Lawrence is wholly dependent upon the plan proposed by the International joint commission.

The Sun points out that New England needs cheaper power, cheaper fuel and cheaper food, and in the contention you are evidently correct.

What The Sun neglects to show is the connection between the St. Lawrence seaway plan as proposed by the International joint commission and New England power, fuel and food needs. As far as transportation is concerned, it is apparent that New England would not be supplied with either foodstuffs or fuel by means of ocean vessels sailing between cities on the Great Lakes and European ports. Neither is it at all likely that the cheapest way of reaching New England from Buffalo is to sail the entire length of the St. Lawrence and then down the coast to Boston. The New York State Barge canal certainly offers a more logical route.

As far as transportation is concerned, it is now possible for horses to haul bulk commodities from Buffalo to Montreal as cheaply as these cargoes can be carried by ocean-going vessels, even when the re-loading charges are considered. Even though the St. Lawrence were a seaway, bulk cargoes arriving by water would reach Montreal in lake or canal craft.

New England has just grounds for complaint, however, on the score that present water facilities are not now being utilized to their full capacity. The canal nor the St. Lawrence canals are being utilized to more than 1-15 of their capacity. Nevertheless, rates by water are lower than rail rates and as traffic grows, water rates tend to fall.

The power proposition is a different one entirely. Canada has never regarded the transportation features of the proposed St. Lawrence seaway seriously. That, however, is not the case as far as power is concerned. The potential horse power that could be developed on the first three sections of the proposed seaway improvement is estimated at 2,500,000. Of this amount only 200,000 has been developed. The first three sections lie wholly within the province of Quebec. It is not necessary for Canada to negotiate a treaty with the United States in order to develop the horse power of the St. Lawrence between Montreal and Lake St. Francis. Canada, however, has had considerable experience with public developments. She has found that plants developed under governmental auspices have not been able to furnish power to the consumer at rates as low as those quoted by the plants developed under private auspices. Many Canadians, therefore, are inclined to take the view that power developments conducted under international auspices would be no more efficient than power developments conducted under national auspices.

With reference to the international section of the proposed power development, there is an entire absence of agreement among authorities. Colonel Hugh J. Cooper takes the general view that if the International commission follows its present plans, its power plant developments on the St. Lawrence will not be able to compete with steam plants. Col. Cooper may be wrong. Someone is mistaken.

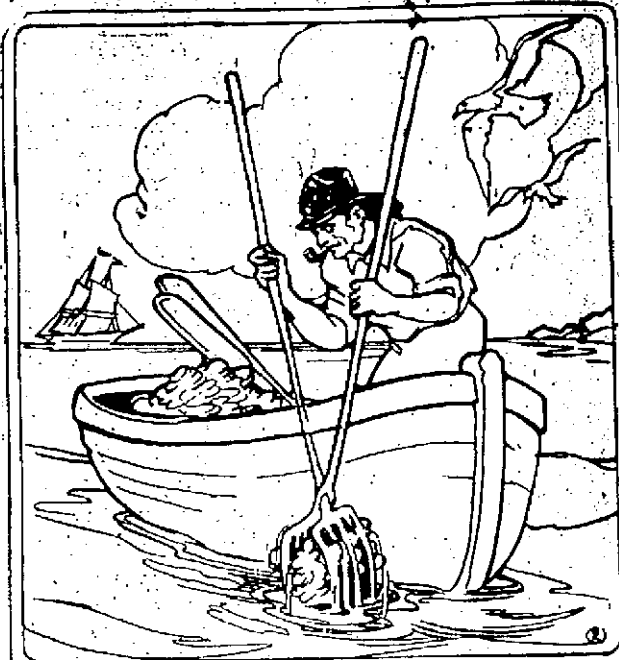

Arthur Surveyor, vice president of the Engineering Institute of Canada, Col. Cooper, and H. deB. Parsons, all engineers of note, place the cost of the St. Lawrence development at $1,300,000,000 as a minimum. The engineers of the International joint commission place the maximum cost at less than $550,000,000. Very clearly there is need for a very careful checking of figures. Fortunately perhaps, Canada's decision not to negotiate a treaty with the United States at this time affords a period of pause during which facts and figures can be checked. Now England transportation and power needs are compelling. It does not follow that those needs can be completely met only by giving complete assent to the St. Lawrence waterway plan as they now stand. The Canadian government has decided that it does not need this waterway just now, and it would undoubtedly be worth while if the American public inquired carefully into the reasons that impelled our Canadian cousins to reach that decision.

Yours sincerely,
JOHN D. DUNLOP, Chairman.

Radio Cadet Corps Is Start for National Army of Radio Fans

A DETAIL OF THE RADIO CADET CORPS. ARROW SHOWS COLONEL ERNEST E. SCHEURLE. AT RIGHT, CADET IRVING GLANTZ, 10, HOLDING WHAT IS CLAIMED TO BE THE FIRST RADIO SET.

By COL. ERNEST E. SCHEURLE, Commander, Radio Cadet Corps, NEW YORK. June 8.—Eventually everyone will be a radio fan. So why not start breaking him in early?

That's what we are doing in our Radio Cadet Corps, the first organization of its kind in the country.

At the age of 9 we begin teaching the youngsters the fundamentals of radio. By the time he is 12 or 13, he is a full-fledged fan—knowing enough about a radio set to make practical use of it.

He can rig up his outfit anywhere. He can listen in and receive not only the broadcast programs but the messages that are flashing through the air at all times.

The call of radio seems universal. The boy in the crowded city is just as keen to become an adept at it as his brother on the farm.

Organization

Our corps was organized in a congested Brooklyn district in 1919. The boys had heard so much about signaling in the war that they wanted to try their own hands at it.

Each week they would meet in a room of the public library. There they learned the code.

There was little equipment, so some of the boys started to make their own sets. Others became interested.

When the radio "crack" struck the country last fall these boys were ready. They organized new units.

There are several hundred in the corps now—and the number is growing rapidly.

I see no reason why similar groups should not be organized throughout the country.

For disciplinary reasons it is suggested that the corps be formed on a military basis—with some distinctive uniform to give the group a solidarity. It will help make them snappy.

At the recent radio show in New York our boys won many prizes for their exhibits.

We are now going on week-end hikes. No matter where we camp out, the boys are always able to keep in touch with their homes—by radio.

It is rapidly becoming the new outdoor American sport.

Engineers Seeking Secrecy In Radio Transmission

BY PAUL F. GODLEY.

America's Foremost Radio Authority. Eventually means will be found whereby radio messages will be sent in comparative secrecy.

Many steps tending toward this end have already been announced. But the chief drawback to all present methods has been the expense of equipment.

There are two methods of insuring secrecy in the transmission of radio messages.

The first—the one which is most likely to be used in the near future—consists in broadcasting a type of wave which cannot be translated by a receiver unless that instrument has been so constructed as to contain a "key."

Interlocking Method

In installations of this type, the radio wave is produced in the usual manner. The wave which is to be carried by the voice is thrown upon it. Then the whole is distorted in a way known only to the receiver.

Upon arriving at the distant station, the receiver signal is again "distorted" in a manner exactly equal and opposite to the first distortion, with the result that the telephone signal is again intelligible.

This type of secrecy has the drawback that, in addition to going di-

DEVELOPMENT OF RADIO

National Radio Chamber of Commerce Factor in Radio Development

NEW YORK, June 8.—The national radio chamber of commerce is negotiating now with the various government departments, such as the bureau of standards, department of commerce, United States Signal Corps and United States navy department, with a view to co-operating with those departments in the standardization of radio apparatus, methods of manufacture, methods of testing, etc.

The national radio chamber of commerce intends to work with these departments and assist them in their radio problems.

It is planned in the very near future, to have a central testing laboratory for radio apparatus so that the various members of the National radio chamber of commerce and any other manufacturers interested may avail themselves of the services of such a laboratory for the purpose of testing, calibrating, and making such researches as may be desired.

The national radio chamber of commerce plans to hold a convention in the near future, at which time, it is planned to have a large meeting of the established and reputable radio manufacturers of the entire United States.

It is the general consensus of opinion of the government organizations which have been interviewed with reference to the National radio chamber of commerce, that the movement is the greatest advance in the development of sound radio business, manufacturing and organization principles, that has ever been undertaken.

ANOTHER RADIO FAN TO THE FRONT

W. H. Burdison, of Summer street is a real dyed-in-the-wool radio fan, having recently installed a little crystal receiving set, with the antenna wire running from the roof of his own house to that of another adjoining building. Because of the congestion in this district, disturbances are sometimes felt, but not to any great extent for any great length of time.

In conjunction with George Wagner, a close friend, Mr. Burdison once experimented with a self-made set, and met with a certain degree of success. Today, however, he has a magnificent set, which, he says, will compare favorably with any in the city. Though not a member of the Lowell Radio club, Mr. Burdison is loud in his praise of the work of that organization.

CHINA PROVIDES NEW FIELD FOR RADIO

To China goes the honor of installing the longest commercial radio telephone circuit in the world. Radio telephone sets have been installed at Peking and Tientsin, covering a gap of ninety miles. The best have been connected with the regular telephone lines of the Chinese government.

Musical and speeches, aside from the regular commercial business, have already been broadcasted. Manufacturers here in America report many orders already being received for small crystal sets and it is only a matter of time before the youth of China will be experimenting with and operating radio apparatus.

A NEW SCHEME FOR "WIRED WIRELESS"

A new scheme for "wired wireless" is in contemplation by certain radio experts, by means of which millions of farmers now out of the regular broadcasting range will be enabled to "listen in" to market and agricultural reports with small crystal sets, which have a receiving range of 15 to 25 miles. This scheme takes into consideration the broadcasting of speech, by means of the electrical power lines which cover the country with a network of wires. A sending station may be at one end of a wire which radiates many miles into the "backwoods," and any farmer who is located less than thirty miles or so from this wire, anywhere along the route, can "listen in" with a small, low-priced crystal outfit.

German sailing ships interned at Pacific coast and from American ports are now being used for lumber carriage by way of the Panama canal.

Hanneford Is Termed Greatest Equestrian

One man there is in the newspaper business who knows every circus performer and circus performance of worth that has been given in the last quarter of a century and he is Otto

Floto, the famous sporting editor of the Denver Post and the Kansas City Post—for circuses have been as much an obsession with Floto as sports. He sees every show that is given, often traveling a thousand miles to look at some new act, or to appraise a performance that is supposed to be a bit out of the ordinary.

And of all his experiences, the one outstanding thing of the circus world, to Otto Floto, has been the performance of "Poodles" Hanneford, who is coming to Lowell with the Sells-Floto circus on Saturday, June 10.

Writing in his own paper some time ago, Floto said:

"As we turn back the clock of the days of long ago, when childhood's hour was filled with golden dreams; when we sat up all night to watch the circus come to town and experienced the thrills known only to expectant youth; as we witnessed the unloading of the caravan, memory recalls the glories and feats of James Robinson, the graceful Charles Plisk, the debonair Billy Burton, the artistic Robert Slickney, Sr., and the picturesque Willie Sells."

"We must concede they were marvelous equestrians, but they were mediocre compared with the wonderful

Poodles Hanneford of our own time and day.

"Some of them could ride as well and as gracefully as Poodles, but none of them possessed the rare artistic comedy mixed with the most grotesque burlesque and extraordinary feats of horsemanship that Poodles Hanneford of today may boast of."

"Poodles' livelihood does not depend alone on his skill as a horseman. He is funnier than Charlie Chaplin and can perform stunts Charlie could never duplicate. He can step right into Fred Stone's shoes and more than duplicate that comedian's performance."

"They say ambition harnessed the career of Caesar, but it is not going to harness or spoil Poodles Hanneford, who is an ordinary mortal and wears upon him, even though he aspires, to be recognized as the world's greatest pantomimic artist."

The parade will form at 10 o'clock at the old fair grounds on Gorham street and will march down Central to Merrimack, to Union, to Middlesex, to Gorham and back to the grounds. Chief of Police Thomas H. Atkinson has issued the permit. He has also detailed a large force of officers and plain clothes men for duty during the parade and at the circus grounds.

TEAMSTER'S LIFE SAVED

Writes Letter That Is Worth Reading Very Carefully

Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.: I was afflicted with a very severe sore on my leg for years. I am a teamster. I tried all medicines and salves, but without success. I tried doctors, but they failed to cure me. I couldn't sleep for many nights from pain. Doctors said I could not live for more than two years. Finally Peterson's Ointment was recommended to me and by its use the sore was entirely healed. Thankfully yours, William H. Hase, West Park, Ohio, March 22, 1918, care T. G. Bell, Box 193.

Peterson says: "I am proud of the above letter and have hundreds of others that tell of wonderful cures of Eczema, Itch and Skin Diseases. Peterson's ointment, at 45 cents a large box at all druggists, and there isn't a broad-minded druggist in America that won't praise it. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Jinx Kirksey Keeps on Trying

"JINX" KIRKSEY

Jinx Kirksey, who spent three college years at Stanford trying to beat Charlie Paddock to the tape in the 100-yard dash, is still trying this season to equal the champion's 9 3-5-second record.

Kirksey has trailed Paddock in all their races—but not by much. Once, a photograph shows, his foot was across the finish line ahead of Paddock's body. Just as the latter touched the string.

Each time, however, there has been just a little margin in Paddock's favor at the end of the lane. Was Kirksey "jinxed"?

Kirksey has been practicing the hundred in phenomenal form this season—a fast 2-1—despite some trouble with weak tendons in one leg.

IN RETIREMENT
Man o' War is living in retirement at present on a stud farm in Kentucky. Visitors drop in from every state in the Union to see this, the greatest specimen of racing horseflesh of the century. Many of those who come to pay tribute never were interested in racing in the least until Man o' War's triumphs attracted their attention.

On the farm he's known as "Red." His constant attendant is his special groom, a deep brunet, of course, this being in "Old Kentucky," who answers, when formally addressed, to the name of "Buck," but who's much better known as "Po'k Chops."

"Red" exercises always under the saddle except during the grazing period, as in his racing days.

THEIR FIRST COMMUNION
Tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock a large class of children will receive first communion at St. Michael's church. In preparation for the reception of this sacrament, a two-day retreat was held, closing at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Several children of the Sacred Heart parish will also make their first communion at the 8 o'clock mass tomorrow.

Commemoration Tablet to
Be Installed in Corridor of
State House

Symbolic Design of Memorial
Tablet Will Represent
Dying Mass. Soldier

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, June 8.—Within another month, a tablet commemorative of the sacrifices made by chaplains of Massachusetts regiments in the world war will have been placed in a corridor of the state house.

This became assured today, when announcement was made that the legislative committee on state house, the art commission, and the special legislative commission appointed last year have agreed upon the form of tablet, and upon its location.

The symbolic design of the memorial tablet will represent a dying Massachusetts soldier, who has been carried by two of the chaplains to the protecting structure of a shell hole or dug-out, where with serious faces they were tenderly supporting him as life ebbs away. The soldier's face is the artist's conception of the representative type of the Massachusetts service man, and the committee appointed to select it feels that the artist has caught in an excellent manner an expression of Christlike sacrifice. As one member of the committee expressed it: "The whole design makes one think of Christ being taken down from the cross."

The entire committee feels that every soldier who made the supreme sacrifice is indeed worthy of this holy analogy, and that he did indeed, like the Christ, give his life for the world. Under the plan agreed upon by the committee and the art commission, the entire corridor on the third floor, surrounding the main stairway of the state house, will ultimately be used for tablets and mural paintings, to make a Hall of Fame, commemorating the deeds of sacrifice and valor performed by Massachusetts troops in the world war.

The first panel in the corridor, directly at the left of the south entrance to the chamber of the house of representatives, has been selected by the commission as the site for the chaplain's tablet, and it is hoped that it may be in place before July 1.

In submitting its report to the legislature today, the special commission, composed of Senator Raymond H. Treacy of Marblehead and Thomas F. Donovan of Boston, Representatives Roland D. Sawyer of Ware and Alfred M. Hesse of New Bedford, Rev. Murry W. Dewar of Winchester and Michael J. O'Connor of Cambridge, concludes with these words:

No Religious Lines
"Religious history is not always pleasant reading. The jealousy and strife among the sects and denominations, even persecution and hatred, has been a too apparent fact. Regrettable as the religious past has been, it was wiped out by the spirit of the chaplains 'over there.' To quote words of Father DeValles: 'Over there we knew no racial or religious lines. We were all Americans.'"

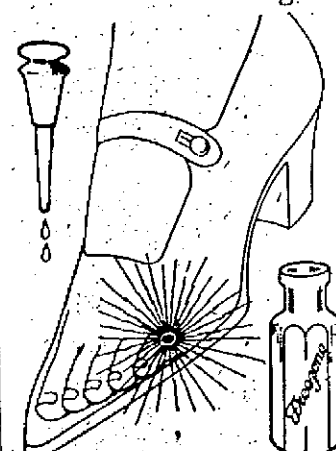

"Inspired by one aim, following one noble ideal, our chaplains forgot the petty things, and went among their men as comrades with one another and with every soldier. Only the great naked facts could stand, and chaplains were not 'Catholic' or 'Protestant' in 'No Man's Land'; they were just 'Christians' and religious helpers. Hebrew and Gentile, Catholic and Protestant, united in working side by side to minister to their men, and to take to the aid of our nation in arms the strength and fervor of religious faith. When their men were cold and hungry they kept their hearts warm and fed them on the Bread of Life; when their men were weak and tired they refreshed them from the Fountain of Strength—Where shells burst and men fell torn and bleeding they calmly ministered, heroic witnesses of the power of the faith they preached."

Chaplains Commemorated
The chaplains to be commemorated are:

Reverend Captain Walton S. Danker lived his boyhood days in Pittsfield. He later attended schools in Boston and was ordained to the ministry of the Episcopal church in 1901. In 1904 he was appointed chaplain of the 6th Massachusetts Infantry by Governor John L. Bates, and in 1909 he became chaplain of the 2nd Regiment, as chaplain of which he went to the Mexican border. On March 25, 1917, the 2nd Regiment was taken over into federal service, and on August 5 the regiment was merged into the 10th

Rickenbacker Continues His Flight

CHICAGO, June 8.—Eddie Rickenbacker reached here at 7 o'clock this morning in his round-the-country flight and left an hour and a half later for Omaha and Denver, expecting to reach the latter place late this afternoon. Tomorrow he will go to Salt Lake, planning to reach San Francisco in the afternoon. Rickenbacker said the damage caused his plane in Detroit yesterday when it was struck by lightning had been repaired. He left Niles, Mich., at 3:45 a. m., for Chicago.

THE FEAST OF
CORPUS CHRISTI

A procession, church service and banquet will mark the observance of the feast of Corpus Christi by the members of San Antonio de Padua society Sunday, June 18. This is an annual event with the members of the society, but this year they plan to make the observance the best ever.

According to present arrangements the members of the society will gather in their rooms in Summer street at 10 o'clock and after forming in line, they will march to St. Peter's church in Goryham street, where they will attend the parish mass in a body. They will be headed by a brass band. The sermon at the church will be given by the pastor, Rev. D. J. Keleher. At the close of the mass the men will return to their headquarters, where dinner will be served, followed by post-prandial exercises.

LOCAL BOY SCOUT DRIVE

Campaign to Raise Money for Boy Scout Movement Opened Today

That a good report of the money raised by the workers for the local Boy Scout movement may be submitted and tabulated for next Monday night's meeting, to be held in the chamber of commerce headquarters at 8 o'clock, those who started to solicit contributions are busily engaged, today in their visits to Lowell citizens from whom contributions are expected. Many encouraging reports regarding the cordial manner in which these workers are being received have already been submitted to headquarters, and an excellent start toward the goal of $6000, is expected at the first meeting on Monday.

At last night's meeting of the executive committee Dr. J. H. Lambert told how simple a matter it was to do the work, if one but gets before the people. "I have not been refused a single subscription," said the doctor, "and the most encouraging thing is the mental attitude of all whom I approach regarding the feeling of the need of this program of citizenship and character building here in this city. Lowell has the questionable distinction of being the largest city in the country without a council of scouts. There are plenty of boys who, during their leisure time, are doing things which may or may not have lasting, beneficial results in their lives. The aim of the scout program is to fill a boy's idle hours with things that are constructive that he will not have any time to spare doing things of doubtful import."

The Chelmsford committee will meet tonight, to consider their part in the program. Mr. Read L. Ripley has charge of the Scout troop in Chelmsford and has been doing excellent work. Calling together his supporters, he, together with Deputy Regional Scout Executive W. E. Brown, will go over with them and discuss the part they may play in making this program of service available to more boys in the Lowell district.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION

This year's celebration of the glorious Fourth, as far as the city itself is concerned, will be limited to band concerts, bell ringing and a display of fireworks on the South common in the evening. There is an appropriation of $100 available, which will be spent entirely for fireworks.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied, with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair. A well known downtown druggist says everybody who uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. It's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through the hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color, and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.—Adv.

THE POSTAL SAVINGS BANK

Reporters Are Given Demonstration of the Finger Print System

That a forged check or order would never get by at the postal savings bank in any of the national postoffices was conclusively proven to a couple of local reporters this morning, when Postmaster K. A. Delisle, in order to impress their minds with the excellence of the national postoffice banks, conducted them personally to the bank quarters in the local postoffice and, with the assistance of Henry J. Maguire, a clerk in the department, demonstrated the finger print system which has been in use since Dec. 15, 1921.

When a prospective depositor wished to deposit money with the postal savings bank, he is required to sign his deposit card, if he is able, but if he cannot do so there is no further hindrance to his deposit, or being identified by the national postoffice banks, conducted them personally to the bank quarters in the local postoffice and, with the assistance of Henry J. Maguire, a clerk in the department, demonstrated the finger print system which has been in use since Dec. 15, 1921.

The plan is of even greater service in withdrawing money than in any other way. With the finger prints newly taken on the back of the certificate of withdrawal in lieu of a signature, the depositor cannot write there can be no question of identification, and on the other hand no danger of releasing money to the wrong party, whether or not he has witnesses.

It will be seen that the system is somewhat different from that of the police, who take all ten fingers, but the method of registering the prints is far as it goes. The prints are taken by requiring the depositor to roll his finger from one side to the other on an inked pad and by a similar motion the print is transferred to the plain space at the bottom of the deposit card or withdrawal certificate as the case may be. Thus the clerks in charge are absolutely certain in giving out money.

Those of the bank staff who are experts in the finger print system are Foreman John J. Murphy, Henry J. Maguire and Miss Annabel M. Coleman.

Harding Speaks at Princeton

and obligations in the future, as patriotically as it has done in the past."

Mr. Harding spoke in part as follows:

"One who possesses even a general familiarity with the contributions of Princeton to the establishment, the fortifications and the sturdy upholding of our national institutions, must surely be pardoned a full measure of pride in his chosen to receive the distinction you today are conferring upon me. Standing here before the background of those noble traditions and eminent accomplishments in which beats the heart and lives the soul of the university, one cannot but feel that he has deserved this one ought to have served well indeed. If there be anything as to the merit of service in the past, surely this distinction must inspire its recipient to redoubled effort to prove worthy of it. "We men have always been wont to illumine the uncertain paths of the future with the beacons of experience shining from out the past. So it is good that men who have been called to the responsibilities of large affairs should come now and then to these quiet precincts to refresh their spirits, to take on for a little time the hues of your atmosphere, the cast of your thought, the inquiring quality of your judgments. In the rich and fruitful intellectual soil of our university we may trace the germination of ideas, systems, institutions, which have been greatly responsible for the advancement of human kind, and to our universities we must turn, in hope and trust, that they will give to the future men of the discipline, the unselfishness, the straight vision and clear understanding needed in coping with the complex problems which future surely holds for them.

"The colleges have sent out their sons by the thousands, to perform the most responsible and arduous service in all the wars of the republic; and uniformly it has been marked by a zeal which carried inspiration to the whole community. Yet more important, perhaps, has been their part in the direction of our interests and the constructive tasks of the state in building the commerce and industry, developing the culture and framing the public institutions of our country.

Dean West Pays Tribute

In presenting President Harding for the honorary degree of doctor of laws, Dean West said:

Whatever differing party judgments may properly be held as to policies, our people are one in honoring him (Mr. Harding's) readiness to see the best advice, his strict endeavor to find the real truth, his capable handling of complicated difficulties, his immense patience and self-effacing modesty. The sweeping away of extravagant waste and the forming of a budget system show him a master of finance. His vote as senator for the anti-strike clause in the railroad bill and his at-

PIANO RECITAL BY PUPILS OF MR. HELLER

At Edison hall of St. Anne's parish last evening the pupils of William C. Heller gave a recital in piano music that was highly enjoyed by a large audience made up of the friends of the teacher and his large class of pupils. The program was a very pretentious one, presenting many features that indicated the careful training under the skilled direction of Mr. Heller as well as hard work on the part of the pupils themselves. Raymond Martin, violinist, accompanied, by Miss Grace Martin at the piano, assisted in last evening's program. On the previous evening a recital was also given and the pupils were assisted by St. Anne's choir of men and boys. On such occasions the performance was highly creditable both to teacher and pupils.

In the first recital Mr. Heller's more advanced pupils appeared and last evening the Junior set. The main program was as follows:

Verdict for the Defendant

In the case of the Waterhouse Welding Co., of Boston, vs. James Reagan of this city, which went to trial at the eleventh session of the superior court yesterday, the jury late yesterday afternoon returned a verdict for the defendant. The case was an action of contract by which the plaintiff company sought to recover the sum of $300, claiming that it placed a welder in the defendant's establishment of machine in the city, and that the latter failed to return the said machine within the time specified in the contract.

There was no case tried today, for shortly after the opening of court this morning Justice Lawton, who is scheduled to report to the criminal session in Boston next Monday, June 13, at which time Justice Flynn will occupy the bench.

In the case of the Waterhouse Welding Co., of Boston, vs. James Reagan of this city, which went to trial at the eleventh session of the superior court yesterday, the jury late yesterday afternoon returned a verdict for the defendant. The case was an action of contract by which the plaintiff company sought to recover the sum of $300, claiming that it placed a welder in the defendant's establishment of machine in the city, and that the latter failed to return the said machine within the time specified in the contract.

There was no case tried today, for shortly after the opening of court this morning Justice Lawton, who is scheduled to report to the criminal session in Boston next Monday, June 13, at which time Justice Flynn will occupy the bench.

Utuda as president on the bonus (revenue) his quiet courage, and the great work of the conference for limiting armaments, assembled at his call, has won the gratitude of the world.

"His charter in things political is the constitution. His guide in things spiritual is the bible. First seeking to make American liberty safe, he is well known as a churchy begins at home, but does not end there. He stands in the tradition of Lincoln, a man of the people, leading the people, heeding the will of the people and the need of the world."

SAUNDERS' PUBLIC MARKET
THE STORE THAT REDUCED THE COST OF LIVING
155-161 GORHAM ST.
TEL. 6600

Something to Think About

When we opened this store our prices were much lower than were being charged anywhere else in the city. Naturally the other dealers promptly reduced prices to protect themselves—but not before the buying public realized to whom the credit was due.

This Square-Dealing Store is being complimented daily by hundreds of customers for reducing the cost of living in Lowell. Our policy is to maintain the lowest prices in the city on Quality Merchandise. Our connection with one of the largest Department Food Stores in New England enables us to do this. It's simple enough. Satisfaction guaranteed or Money Cheerfully Refunded.

IG MOVE TO END TEXTILE

PAWTUCKET, R. I., June 9.—Another attempt was made today to settle the textile strike so far as it affects the villages of Ashton, Berkeley and Lönsdahl. A communication signed by Rev. Thomas J. Fitzpatrick, Rev. A. M. Hilliker, former Gov. Lucius F. C. Garvin and Judge Francis F. Fitzsimmons, has been sent to the Goddard Brothers, who control the mills in these villages and to the local branch of the United Textile Workers of America suggesting that a settlement of the trouble on the basis of a 48-hour working week and a wage reduction of 10 per cent be considered. The strikers in these villages will meet later today to take action on the communication.

the Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA) and the New England Journal of Medicine (NEJM) are the most widely read and cited medical journals in the United States. Both journals have a long history of publishing research on the treatment of various medical conditions, including cancer. In the case of the JAMA, the journal has published numerous studies on the effectiveness of various cancer treatments, including chemotherapy, radiation therapy, and surgery. In the case of the NEJM, the journal has published many studies on the use of targeted therapies in the treatment of cancer. Both journals have also published studies on the use of immunotherapy in the treatment of cancer. The results of these studies have been used to guide the development of new cancer treatments and to inform clinical practice. The JAMA and the NEJM are both highly respected journals in the medical community, and their publications are widely cited in the literature. BOYLE AGAIN LOCAL CHAMP

Regains Lowell Lightweight Title by Defeating Young George Gardner

Acre Lad Jumped Into Lead in Second Round and Held it to the Finish

Boxing in the form that brought him triumphs over notable lightweights in past years, Phinney Boyle staged a most remarkable "come-back" last night at the Crescent rink and regained the local lightweight championship by defeating Young George Gardner, his conqueror of three weeks ago, in a terrific ten round bout before a good sized crowd of wildly enthusiastic fans.

Boyle entered the ring with his "back to the wall." A second defeat by the youthful Gorman almost had meant almost certain elimination from the local pugilistic picture, while victory would bring rehabilitation. Determined to regain his lost laurels, Boyle set out to give his opponent no quarter and from the second round until the end he set a bewildering pace. He fought as he did on the previous night when he jumped into the breach as an eleventh hour substitute a few years ago, and defeated Frankie Britt, then the New England title holder, only to be deprived of the decision.

Boyle's famous left of bygone days, so conspicuously ineffective when he was almost completely knocked out in form again, he jabbed perfectly. His crowing with the right was always well timed and invariably reached its objective. He generally kept his nifty sidestepping at times had his opponent baffled. He was the Phinney of old, and as such Gardner had no chance to get him last evening.

Young Gardner appeared to be down "too fine" and as the bout wore on the punishment he assimilated weakened him. It was his intention to enter the ring at about 135, but he took off six pounds, in the last few days and tipped the beam at 125, at the ringside.

Gardner showed up well at long range boxing, using his long left to the head advantage. But Boyle's inside right was his master, and the blows to the mid-riff slowed him up as the rounds were told. Gardner had a shade in the opening round, but then on Boyle held the advantage.

The decision to Boyle was well received and both sides manifested appreciation of the ring amid tremendous applause.

In the semi-final Benny Nelson, who substituted for Jimmy Demas, who injured his hand while training, won over his rival, Fighting George Parker in eight rounds.

Martin Phinney, Jr., added another victory to his list by scoring a two-round knockout over Tommy Lane of Lawrence. The Lowell boys completely outclassed the Lawrence fighters in most of his bouts.

Phinney broke through his guard in the second and a terrific clout to the nose followed by one to the chin brought about the abrupt ending. Tommy Moran won the decision over Johnny Herbert in the first preliminary, which went the distance, six rounds.

Old Cooper, the veteran Boston boxer, referred all the bouts, with Frank Murphy of Lowell and John McDougall of Haverhill as judges.

LOWELL DOGS WIN IN LAWRENCE

Among the prize winners at the dog show held last night in Lawrence were a number of local dogs. "Gold Dollar," owned by John Bocke took a first prize as being the best Boston terrier of his class in the show. Stephen Watson's "Old Times" won a first in the Boston terrier puppy class. Garrity's white English bull "Mickey" captured three firsts as did Fred Humphries prize pomeranian.

MANY HOMERS MADE YESTERDAY

"Pep" Young Makes First Circuit Clout in His Long Major League Career

Ruth Lands His Fourth of Ruth Lands Fourth—Others by Smith of Giants and Smith of Red Sox

NEW YORK, June 8.—The suspension and fine imposed upon Earl Smith, catcher for the Giants, apparently was a good tonic for the young firebrand, reinstated Wednesday, for he cracked out a homer and a single, aiding greatly in the Giants' victory over the Chicago Cubs, 11 to 5.

Cincinnati made it two straight from the Brooklyn, defeating them, 10 to 2. This victory marked the first record of Dutch Ruether, brilliant Brooklyn southpaw, who had previously won his last start, St. Louis, Saturday, the offerings of three Boston pitchers to the tune of 15 bingles, while Noah had the Braves at his mercy.

The Pirates hammered Ring and Singleton for 16 hits and took the final game of the series with Philadelphia by a 7 to 6 score. The hitting of Carlson, the pitcher, and Traynor, featured.

The Yankees and their master mauler, Ruth, took Chicago into camp, 7 to 2. This was the third straight Yankee win over the White Sox. Ruth greeted Robertson of no-hit fame in the first with a tremendous home run over the right field wall. It was the first homer of the season. Shawkey was effective, and held the enemy safe after the second inning, in which they scored twice.

St. Louis percentage took another relapse when the team was again defeated by the Boston Sox, 7 to 6. This was the third straight win for the Yankees, winning by a score of 6 to 1. Zachary twirled a great game, while his teammates poked out 12 hits.

Philadelphia proved very costly to the Athletics, who dropped another game in the Tigers, 7 to 6. "Pep" Young made the last home run in his major league career in the first inning. Walker, the hard-hitting Philadelphia pitcher, also smacked out a homer.

TENNIS PLAY FOR THE CHURCH CUP

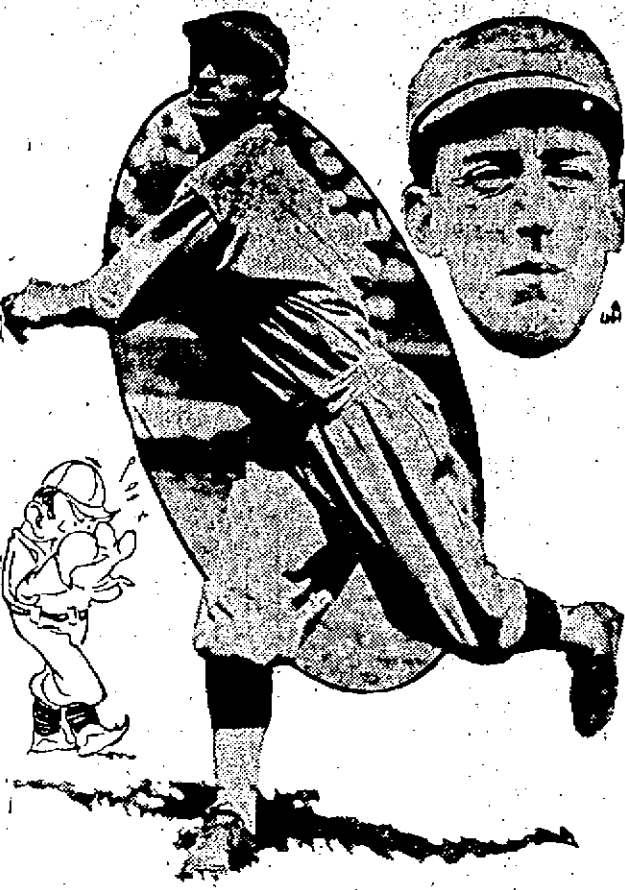

BOSTON, June 8.—The fifth annual inter-city tennis play for the Church cup took place at the courts of the Longwood Cricket club today. New York and Philadelphia were the opposing cities. Boston holding out to play tomorrow, in accordance with the conditions of the deed of gift of the trophy.

It was probably the last important competition to be held on the turf, since its conversion from a pasture 42 years ago, has been a scene of activity for virtually every American player standing and by nearly all invading foreign players. It was there in 1900 that the first Davis cup matches were held. With the Longwood club's new clubhouse completed at Chestnut Hill, early abandonment of the old courts is indicated.

The Church cup tournament, first of the season on grass, brought together in the teams of the three cities, eight of the first 10 ranking players in the country, only Kummage and W. M. Johnston being outsiders.

In today's singles play, W. T. Tilden, 2nd, (Philadelphia) met W. M. Johnston (New York); Vincent Richards (New York) met W. E. Johnston (Philadelphia); Zeno Shumlin (New York) was opposed by Carl Fischer (Philadelphia); and P. F. Hewitt (New York) met P. F. Hewitt (Philadelphia). N. H. Vossell (New York) played by Roy Coffin (Philadelphia) and W. M. Johnston (New York) met Morgan (Philadelphia).

Dave Emulates Eddie Plank

DAVE DANFORTH (EDDIE PLANK INSET)

They say Eddie Plank is Dave Danforth's model of all a baseball pitcher ought to be.

This isn't strange. About five years ago, after Dave had been tried out with the Chicago White Sox and found wanting, Eddie took him in hand. He gave much good advice to the youngster and a great deal of solid advice with him. He pitches with Eddie's old form and has many of his tricks.

How to Play Baseball

First Base as an Important Defense Cog, by Billy Evans.

By BILLY EVANS
American League Umpire and Sporting Editor of N.E.A. Service
From a position once considered very easy to play, first base has gradually come to be one of the most important posts on the field.

In the last 20 years, no position in baseball has undergone more changes in the way it should be played than first base.

Once regarded as merely a position at which to receive throws and touch a longie, the position in the modern game has now become one of the utmost importance.

At one time the big slow moving player was the type regarded as best suited to first base. The first baseman in those days was supposed to cover little or no territory. As a matter of fact, it was customary with many of the old time first basemen to always play the base the same way, regardless of conditions, by merely standing with one foot always on the bag.

It is impossible to tell the exact position a first baseman should assume at start of play. The speed of the player, and the reputation of the hitter, and the major league first basemen.

However, it is fairly correct to say that a good position to assume would be from 15 to 20 feet away from first base and about 10 feet behind a direct line drawn between first and second.

Some first basemen are equally good going to their right or left after ground balls. Others have a weakness. If so, they must favor that weakness.

In this, if a player is strong on balls hit to his right, but slow getting started on balls to his left, it is wise for him to prove himself by playing a trifle closer to first than is customary, knowing he can move fast in the direction of second.

K. OF C. TEAM BREAKS INTO WIN COLUMN BY BEATING DAYLIGHTS

Jimmy Scully Held Heavy Hitting Opponents in Check, and His Hit in Sixth Brought Home the Winning Run---"Caseys" Played Errorless Game---Big Crowd on Hand

Parker Daley's K. of C. ball-tossers, the hard luck team of this year's league in their first games, got themselves into the winning column last night by defeating the Highland Daylights, 10 to 2. Jimmy Scully last night the Highland Daylights did not look so good, falling in all but one case to hit the ball in the pitcher's. In the one occasion where they brought in a couple of runs, it was through the medium of a fast drive at short, when Crowe fell in folding the ball with his right hand, and was out of action for a moment.

For once the K. of C. had the spirit of victory. Not once during the game did they lose their optimism, even when the score was tied in the fifth inning. They entered the sixth with the winning spirit, and emerged with the honors.

Scully in Good Form
Scully's pitching, although a bit ragged at times, averages very well with other twirling performances of the year. Then again, his hard drive through short in the sixth brought home the winning run. He showed his best work in the fifth, when with two runs in and two more waiting on the bases he struck out Tommy Greenleaf, well known as the city's most dangerous pinch hitter.

For the Daylights, Dolan pitched his usual good game up to the third inning, when he weakened. He remained throughout the fourth, but was replaced by Mulino in the fifth. Mulino did not work as well as Dolan, for in his two innings on the mound the same number of hits were registered as in the four pitched by his teammates, and as the score was 2-2 when he entered the box he is credited with the loss of the game.

The Daylights were there with the errors, while the "Caseys" played a perfect game, as in their last appearance against the Centralvilles on Tuesday night. A peculiar coincidence is that they also registered but two assists, as in Tuesday's game, at the other plays being individual in character.

The heavy hitting was done by the Knights, also, as two of the three doubles made in the course of the game were slashed out by Purcell and Crowe, and the other by Tommy Breen.

Each team left a man on base in the first inning, with no score. Crowe opened for the Knights with a single through short. McGowan followed with a hot one toward right, which was intercepted by Greenleaf, who threw at on first. Daley drove the ball through short, advancing McGowan and filling two stations, but a moment later on Loftus sent the ball down to Williams and a fast double play resulted, with Daley and Loftus the victims.

After Freeman, for the Daylights, had popped up to short, Williams dropped a single in center. Bridgford sent one straight into the air, which was captured by Connors, and Greenleaf struck out.

Knights Get Two in Third
The game course prevailed in the second with each team scoring a hit and leaving two men on bases. In the third, however, Crowe drove a fly to right center and a near collision resulted when two of the fielders tried to get the ball at the same time. The ball raced merrily along, and Freddy secured two bases. McGowan, attempting to sacrifice, popped a little fly which Dolan smothered, and Daley followed with an infield out, which advanced Crowe. Loftus walked, and stole second, and Harrington landed on a beauty to deep left, sending in two runs. Purcell walked, and on a delayed steal both runners advanced. Dillon ended the inning by flying out to Bridgford.

In the last of the inning, Freeman and Williams opened with strikes out, while Scully walked, and the inning secured a basis on a hit to right. Greenleaf followed with a long fly to Loftus.

Daylights Stage Rally
In the fourth, after the Knights had gone out in order, the Daylights, with only one man on base, started the rally. Scully started a comeback Sullivan, and out to Loftus, and Scully gave indications of slipping by passing Hubert and Breen. Farrell sent up a weak one which Daley caught, and Dolan struck out.

The fifth saw the score even up. With Mulino replacing Dolan in the box, McGowan walked, and the inning was slugged with a hit to right, Greenleaf followed with a long fly to Loftus.

In the fourth, after the Knights had gone out in order, the Daylights, with only one man on base, started the rally. Scully started a comeback Sullivan, and out to Loftus, and Scully gave indications of slipping by passing Hubert and Breen. Farrell sent up a weak one which Daley caught, and Dolan struck out.

FIRPO SAILS TO SCOOP IN BIT OF COIN

Luis Angel Firpo, heavyweight champion of South America, who has been fighting in this country, and who's won all his fights too, though he hasn't met anybody of much account, has sailed for Argentina, his home, to spend a few months, and undoubtedly to do a little "scrapping" while he's there.

Presumably the main object of this trip is to scoop in a bit of easy coin. It's likely enough, also, that Firpo enjoys the prospect of a swelling around among his fellow South Americans in the role of premier state wonder of the world, which is just exactly what they think he is, regardless of what the official record has to say.

As a financial proposition there's no doubt the prospect will be a success. South Americans unquestionably will be eager to pay fancy prices just to look at him, to say nothing of seeing him fight. Even if he should take on a southern gladiator or two he's little to worry about. He really is about the best heavyweight in the world, and he may be the Rito Grande.

The chief danger is that the adulation he is being heaped upon him will indicate his head. In his own heart he certainly knows at present how little chance he stands of losing to him. If this realization of his limitations should happen to leak out of his mind, it would be a disaster. It's announced that he expects to be back in the United States before the end of the year, probably traveling the way of Havana and Mexico, and he plans to fight Havana, if he confines himself to local talents, may, by very well, London will be a riskier place for him.

C. Y. M. L. TRACK MEET HAS A. A. U. SANCTION

The C.Y.M.L. track meet, which is to be held on the South Common, on Friday, June 17, has been sanctioned by the A.A.U. of New England, and is open to all runners duly registered in the amateur ranks. This year's annual meet will be given, and already a great deal of enthusiasm has been manifested, leading to the hope that the meet will be a most successful one.

Last year's event was the first conducted by the lycium, and its success called for a repeat this year. Athletes from various club and organizations throughout the city have signified their intention of taking part in the various events. Among them will be William Salmon, now over 60 years of age, who will enter the five mile race. Mr. Salmon has been running for 45 years, and never fails to make good showing.

The Love Ritual of The "House of David" Brings New Investigations

"KING BENJAMIN" and "QUEEN MARY" PURNELL OF THE "HOUSE OF DAVID" AND HEADQUARTERS OF THE CULT NEAR DENTON HARBOR, MICH.

BY ROY GIBBONS
DENTON HARBOR, Mich., June 9.—"King Benjamin" Purnell, who hasn't shaved or had a haircut in 20 years, is going to be investigated again.

Other investigations by county and state are promised within three months.

Ingr. Rollers, a cult of some 300 followers, who live in a combination religious colony and amusement park along the shore of Lake Michigan, just outside of Denton Harbor.

These reports have been persisting for years, says Gore. "I believe the time has arrived when they should be either proved or disproved by thorough investigation."

Blames His Enemies
"My enemies are spreading false reports as they did formerly," says "King Benjamin." "I am a man of God and live according to His teachings."

Purnell and his wife—she's "Queen Mary"—here are credited by their followers with having had a vision appointing them God's messengers. They preached that the end of the world was near; several times "King Benjamin" was quoted as having fixed specific dates, but this he denies.

Now "King Benjamin" says the end is coming within 25 years.

That apparently concerns him less than the impending investigations and the inroads modernism is making on the cult—including jazz and happyism.

"Our colony has endured despite the slanders of myriad enemies," "King Benjamin" says, "but of late modernism has done much harm. Happyism, jazz music and similar curses have hit us hard."

"These manifestations of modernism have sown seeds of discontent in the hearts of some members. These no longer live in the faith, although they do let their hair and beards grow. But that is not enough."

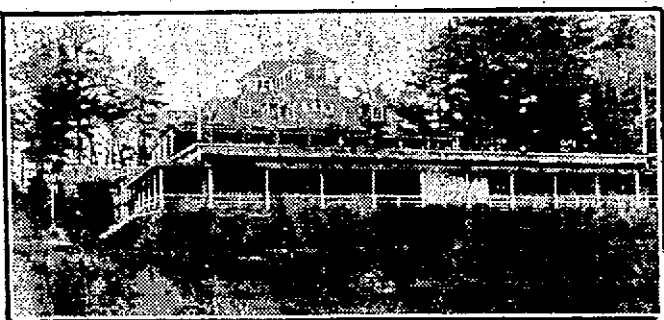

"We are leaving the end of sin and crime. Christ is coming again within the next 25 years. When He comes every living member of the House of David will be glorified. But they all must live right, eat no meat, work for each other and forget themselves."

The colony, established in 1903, is run on a communal basis; all members pool their resources and work for the common good. They raise fruit and operate an amusement park, a vegetable restaurant and therapeutic springs, all patronized by unfortunates. And they have a long-haired and bearded baseball team.

Marriage formerly was forbidden, but is fostered now. Bringing children into the world once was branded sinful, but children no longer are barred.

ZONING ORDINANCE APPROVED
In order to endorse the temporary zoning ordinance drawn by the chairman of their committee, the zoning committee of the chamber of commerce met yesterday afternoon at 4:30. The ordinance was duly approved and as the movement had the previous endorsement of the chamber through its board of directors it was in readiness for presentation to the city council.

Those present at the meeting were: Chairman, John M. O'Donoghue, Allan Dumas, Charles H. Hobson, Walter H. Emmott, Mrs. David W. Dewar, Miss Genevieve Lawrence and Benjamin Pouzner.

center, where he was a pastor when the war began.
Lieutenant Father John B. DeValles was born in New Bedford, where he spent his boyhood days and was later ordained. He went to France with the 104th Regiment as its K. of C. secretary, and was commissioned United States Chaplain, with the rank of first lieutenant, upon the death of Chaplain Danker. He was one of the 116 men decorated for valor at Appomattox woods in April, 1912, being the first Catholic chaplain to be decorated for bravery. Eight times in one day he went over the top to bring in a wounded man who was beyond where the rescue squad was allowed to go. His men lovingly called him "The Angel of the Trenches." He was gassed and wounded in the Bois Bruis fight, and broken in health, he was ordered home to recuperate. Chaplain DeValles refused to leave his boys, and when the war was over disease had fastened itself upon him too, finally to be conquered, and he came home only to die. Congress awarded him the Medal of Honor six hours before his death.

Lieutenant Father William F. David was born in Holyoke and was located at Worcester at the outbreak of the war. He at once volunteered as a K. of C. chaplain, and was assigned to Camp MeArthur in Texas. He went overseas in January, 1918, and was commissioned chaplain and first lieutenant in the 32nd Division. He was with the first American troops on German soil, and was decorated by the French government. His decoration reading in part: "He worked uninterruptedly under violent fire with total disregard of danger."

Chaplain DeValles was the last American officer killed in the war, he being instantly killed in action at five minutes before 11 on November 11, 1918.

Lieutenant Father Simon A. O'Rourke was born and reared in Fall River. He entered the naval branch of the service July 15, 1918, and was commissioned chaplain and first lieutenant. He died in the Boston Navy Yard September 20, 1918, where he contracted influenza during the time it was epidemic in our camps. Worn out by administrative night and day, he fell a sacrificing representative of that great band of heroes who, denied the glory of death of battle, gave up their lives and the painful sufferings of the disease in the camp—a necessary accompaniment of the waging of war.

REPUBLICAN REVERSES

Troubles gather thick and fast all over the country for the republican party. At first the spokesmen of the party laughed at the insinuation that in the victory of former Senator Beveridge over Senator Now, the close friend of President Harding, in Indiana, there was an indication of a coming storm for the republicans. Since then the clouds on the political horizon have become more dark and ominous and already two fierce political bolts have struck the republican battalions, one in Pennsylvania, where the machine was knocked galley west, leaving the independent Gifford Pinchot to take charge of the week; and now, to bring about discomfiture to the G.O.P., another crash comes in Iowa, where the machine in a desperate effort to avert disaster, goes down quite as hopelessly as in Pennsylvania with one Smith Brookhart, a radical of the La Follette type, left master of the situation. These successive defeats convey a warning that the leaders at Washington may well heed. Despite their unwillingness to believe that these untoward events indicate approaching doom, yet the leaders are beginning to see the meaning of such events and to prepare for the inevitable.

Nor is it surprising that such events have occurred. The republicans have returned to power with the greatest majorities in the history of the nation. They felt that they were secure for a generation against any opposition or any upheaval that might disturb them. Consequently, they dallied with the great questions of reconstruction while the people waited in idleness. When the masses became impatient waiting for legislative results, President Harding brought on the disarming counter-attack and led the way to the destruction of great military and naval armaments, leaving the nation forces that are barely sufficient to do police duty. The bonus, the tariff, the merchant marine and other measures have been held up by a species of haggling and wrangling that indicates nothing so clearly as the fact that the republican party has lost its old time business sagacity and that it simply flounders where it is expected to solve important problems and give the country quick relief. At the present time the party stands at bay, opposed by democratic critics on one side and torn by internal dissensions in its own ranks.

Meanwhile it is announced that the tariff bill is to be pushed through in a form that will advance the cost of living by giving the beneficiaries the power to establish monopolies that will enable them to fleece the people. It is announced even that clothing, which is yet high priced, will undergo a rapid increase. And this is but one of many items entering into the cost of living that will bound upward. Thus the republicans stand, a very barren old and with little or no promise of improvement.

AN OLD STANDBY

Candidates for mayor of Boston and even seekers after honors on Beacon Hill have occasionally spurned when they think of Boston's neglected harbor and port facilities. Now comes former Governor Foss in a recent address, declaring himself in favor of the expenditure of $100,000,000 on Boston harbor facilities, channels, etc. Boston's port problem today is not a lack of facilities but lack of shipping. It is a problem of rates, not of piers and channels, nor of elevators. One or two piers are busy enough at times, but others are idle almost continuously. Baltimore, Philadelphia and Montreal are all getting plenty of shipping that Boston ought to have, and it is a question of freight rates, not piers or channels, that hampers Boston in its longing for more shipping.

Never during the past stagnant years has shipping remained away from the Hub port because of inadequate shipping facilities. The problem cannot be solved by the expenditure of more millions for "facilities." Is Mr. Foss anxious to wage a campaign on such a dubious platform? What Boston needs is the ships, and the ships won't go to Boston until the problem of rates is adjusted. And when the goods go to Boston, the ships will be ready for them. Mr. Foss might tackle the freight rate problem. That should be adjusted first.

ANTI-LYNCHING BILL

SUN this nation has to bear the stigma of the lynching disgrace as common to the southern states. It is useless to expect the states to stop it and, therefore, it becomes the duty of the federal government to protect all citizens of the republic from a form of barbarism unrivaled in cruelty anywhere. It is but a short time since a negro was burned at the stake in Texas and yet we are a civilized people. It is the white people, moreover, who boast of their superiority to the negroes who are guilty of these outrages. It is high time the federal government took steps to put an end to lynching, regardless of the expense. If the mob feared punishment for its crimes, it would hesitate to take the law into its own hands or even to wreak vengeance on defenseless men without any proof of their guilt.

STRIKE BENEFITS

John J. Thomas, a member of the executive committee of the United Textile Workers of America, announced in an address at a meeting of strikers a few days ago in Pawtucket, R. I. that $140,000 has been expended by his organization in conducting the battle strike called in the Blackstone Valley just 19 weeks ago, in furnishing relief for the strikers. Of the initiation fees collected, only $6000 has been sent to international headquarters in New York.

The dispersal of strike funds has been conducted by competent leaders in Lowell and other "mill cities" with the same care and attention to the strikers' wants, we are informed, and this speaks well for the efficient management of the strikers' executive committee and relief boards, that have been working diligently to relieve all cases of want and distress since the ushering in of the walkouts. It is stated also that the American Federation of Labor, which hitherto had given the textile strike its moral support, is now giving financial aid in generous measure.

THE SIMPLER THINGS

Vice-President Coolidge thinks we are giving too much attention to big things and too little to the simpler things of life. In a recent address before an academy for boys, he urged the students to direct their attention to obedience, to honesty, to industry, to thrift and faith, claiming that it is the things that develop character and give resistance and the power to command, that enable men to win victories. Mr. Coolidge is right if he intimates that we look for the big things without considering first the seemingly unimportant steps that lead up to them. There is a great deal of that kind of foolishness in the world today. Great achievements are usually reached by gradual progress or as a result of long and careful training, not by any magical process that would lift a person from obscurity to renown.

OUR CRIMINALS

Here is a man, 90 years old, who has been a jailer since 1818. He is E. Newell Hunting, superintendent of broom-making in the state prison at Charlestown. For 74 years this man has watched convicts come and go. He has studied them, studied prisoners, watched prison reform, probably knows more about prisoners, probably prisoners than any other man living. And this is his strongest impression: "Criminals have less of the stuff that makes men than they did in the old days. Most of them are trash and gutter-snipe, practically all of them lacking pride, men which the reformation of any man depends."

FORD'S SYSTEM

The Wall Street Journal rounds up a new Ford story that is good enough to pass along. It runs like this: "A fellow dreamed that Henry was dead. The passengers were carrying the casket when suddenly it fell down open. Ford has come to life. He sat up, ran his eyes over the six passengers and instantly ordered: 'Here, put this casket on wheels and lay off five men.'"

SOVIET GHOULS ROB GRAVES

The Bolsheviks in Petrograd have perpetrated the vilest in their series of confiscations of church and other treasures in violating the tombs of the dead and robbing them of their treasures. Even the most distinguished of the former queens and emperors were not spared by these ghouls. The coffins of Catherine the Great and Peter the Great offered their rich treasures. They may next open graves in cemeteries to pick the gold filling from the teeth of the dead. It cannot be, that the people of Russia will tolerate any such desecration as that which has just been perpetrated at Petrograd.

It seems that this year's city government is putting out a great deal of money for automobiles. Moreover we were told at the outset that cheap cars would be favored but the prices do not indicate that the original scheme was followed. Of course it would be unfair to use but a single type of car. But the objection is to the number and the price.

In Haverhill the other day six small boys attending a picnic came upon a bottle of hunch and drinking part of it, one became unconscious and the others dreadfully sick. The use of the stomach pump at the hospital saved the lives of at least two of them. The inebriation of the hour is deadly poison.

Judge Morton, of the federal district court is rejecting applications for naturalization by foreigners who secured deferred classification from the draft during the war because they had taken out only their first papers. On this point nothing can be said except that it serves them right.

Now that the war is over and deflation running its course, any craft that so desires can strike without government interference. Our advice is, don't strike. Use other means to get what you want.

Now we are to have a potato tariff to enable the Maine farmers to boost the price of their output. This is great weather for the Broad and Milk Week.

SEEN AND HEARD

It takes Fort Hill park to get Tom Bruden's goat.

Could a prisoner escape by touching a match to the cop's collared collar?

Wonder if the nappers are interested in what Judge Enright said about short skirts.

"Doe" Bartlett says many a groom puts off the wedding until his father can afford it.

Much More Preferable

The man was marrying a widow. His brother said to him on the wedding morn, "I could never bear to be a widow's second husband." The bride, groom smiled optimistically. "Well, for my part," he said, "I'd rather be a widow's second husband than her first."—Stray Stories.

A Thought

Among all things in the universe, direct you worship to the greatest. And which is that? It is that being who manages to govern all the rest. As you admire the best of nature, so you are to pay a proportionate regard to the best thing in yourself, and that is akin to deity.—Marcus Aurelius.

No Need to Look

"Now," proceeded the professor, "we have considered all the immortal heroes of Shakespearean tragedy except the renowned Hamlet. And where, I ask, shall we place Hamlet? The ideal, really little man in the back row slowly rose to his feet. "Well," he said, "Hamlet can have my seat, I'm going."—Brooklyn Standard Union.

Today's Word

Today's word is bibulous. It's pronounced—bib-u-lus, with accent on the first syllable. It means—readily imbibing or absorbing fluids or moisture; inclined to drink. It comes from Latin "bibere" to drink. It's used like this—"Is the bibulous individual who patronizes the bootlegger morally much better than the bootlegger himself?"

Didn't Know Why

There is no use trying to joke with a woman. The other day Jones heard a pretty good conundrum. The lady decided to try it on his wife. "Do you know why I am like a mule?" he asked her when he went home. The wife did not stop to think. "No," she replied promptly. "I know you are, but don't know why you are."

Death Can't End It

Ten years ago an Illinois farmer lent a mule to a neighbor farmer and to get it back. The neighbor brought suit alleging that the wrong mule had been reprieved. The case has been in the courts ever since and has cost the principals twenty times the original cost of the mule. It has been tried four times and appeared and is now pending. Meanwhile two judges who have heard the case have died, the plaintiff died a week ago and the mule has been dead for years. But the law and the lawyers are still busy with the case.

She Could Swim

"This is a nice canoe, isn't it," Maury said to the tall, dark young man. "Very nice indeed, Charlie," replied the pretty girl sitting in the stern. "There's just one objection to it," said the young man. "Indeed! And what is that?" asked the girl. "O, well, you see, if you try to kiss a girl in this canoe there's great danger of upsetting it, and then both the fellow and the girl would be thrown into the river." "O, indeed!" said the girl reflectively. And she sat silent for a while. At length she remarked softly: "Charlie, I can swim."

The Old School House

In roof has leaked since '91 and let in both rain and sun, its day of usefulness is done—it's a disgrace, I know; it's been infirm for years and years and crumbling on its runneling-gears, and yet it almost brings the tears to know it has to get my granddaddy and his brother. Bill scraped the place up and the hill to lay the first brick on all the day that I was born, and still it stands and humps its back—'twas first a 'house,' and then a 'shack,' and then became a 'wreck.' There I first learned how to spell, and how to race, and fight, and yell, and how to trade, and buy and sell, and to give and hold my own. 'Twas near that window—no, 'twas this—that Stangle Gilly, known as 'Stie,' first let me steal a fuzzy kiss when we stood there alone that broken morn'g in the door was cracked in 1887, and Frank McGee, that boy who was a shuck, told me that McGee, he said, 'Aw shucks, don't think I care if he takes Maggie to the fair. I do not like her curly hair. I wouldn't have her—'pshaw!' years after that, our little girls—we call them our two treasure pearls—they both had Maggie's golden curls—went here to school one year. They went one year till early May, and then they went—they went away—we'll see them both again some day. They went to school right here. The old school house has one more night; tomorrow morning, clear and bright, the workmen will be on the site and down it will be torn. They'll sink a basement in the hill where granddaddy and his brother Bill first laid that strong old broken hill—the day that I was born—J. Edw. Tuft in Farm Life.

Time

They are amias who picture Time as old. A stooping halibut with his wrinkled hand clutching a scythe. Not so I understand. My comrade of a lifetime, who has told me this listening heart from childhood manifold strange stories of the past as through the land. We ran together, while the glad winds fanned back from his forehead locks of youthful gold. But these my mortal limbs may not much longer. Maintain the ardor of his quickening pace; I find him never younger, swifter, stronger. Singing no more of strifes and splendor, but panting for the goal of his great race. As the impetuous vision sweeps him on.

Old British Frigate Macedonian Wrecked

NEW YORK, June 9.—The old British frigate Macedonian, captured by Commodore Stephen Decatur off Madeira in 1812, was wrecked by fire at City Island today. The old vessel, one of the city's curiosities, had recently been made over into a combination bathhouse and restaurant. The damage was estimated at $40,000. The Macedonian was taken to Newport, R. I., after her capture and remained there for years before she was auctioned off for $175. Then she was towed to City Island. She became a two story hotel, known as the Macedonian hotel. Later it was called the City Island Casino—and finally the City Island baths.

To Place Wreath on Dickens' Grave

LONDON, June 9.—(By the Associated Press)—Today the 52nd anniversary of the death of Charles Dickens, Harry Adams, a little crippled lad from the slums of Foston, will place a wreath of red geraniums, Dickens' favorite flower on the great novelist's gravestone in Westminster Abbey. The wreath was sent by the pupils of the Rhineland school for crippled children in New York City.

"Red" Roberts Gives Blood to Save Sister

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 9.—"Red" Roberts, captain of the Center college football team and All-American star in 1921, gave the third pint of his blood yesterday in the third successful transfusion operation in two weeks in an effort to restore health to his sister, Mrs. Kenneth Humphreys. Physicians reported that she soon would recover.

House Kills Bill to Prohibit Betting

BATON ROUGE, La., June 9.—The Louisiana house ways and means committee by a vote of eight to seven last night, reported unfavorably the Butler-Shattuck bill which would prohibit betting in all forms on horse racing at licensed tracks within the state. The bill passed the senate last week.

Carpentier to Fight Beckett Again

LONDON, June 9.—Georges Carpentier, according to Sporting Life today, has verbally agreed to a return match with Joe Beckett, the English heavyweight, whom Carpentier knocked out in a fight in London two years ago, and will sign a contract soon. If the arrangements go through the newspaper says the fight will be staged in London in October.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN CHOIR HOLDS ANNUAL SPRING CONCERT

Although the opening of the bathhouse on the Pawtucket boulevard Thursday marked the official opening of the swimming season, it meant nothing of the kind to the boys of the city, who have been indulging in their favorite summer pastime, next to baseball, for at least two weeks. Baseball fans and others who have occasion to pass over the Thorndike street bridge early in the evening can testify to this, for the city swimming pool, the packing company plant is filled every evening, and probably throughout the day, by youngsters disporting themselves in the canal water. My attention was attracted to the spot nearly two weeks ago, when I saw a crowd gathered about the bridge walk, peering over the railing and, although it was easy to guess the cause of the excitement, as it would be considered by the uninitiated who saw a crowd gazing into a canal, I crossed the street and swam in a number of boys swimming about in the dirty water, diving from the bridge piers and descending to take another dive. There must be some fascination about canals which the grownup has forgotten, for it is a fact that boys would rather use the sewerage works than that of the over-flowing river.

If planning a house, here is something that will help you: The Copper and Brass Research association estimates that the "building dollar" is spent like this: Masonry, 25 cents; carpentry, 25 cents; painting, 10 cents; plumbing, 10 cents; roofing, 5 cents; sheet metal, 5 cents; hardware, 5 cents. The figures, of course, vary for different types of dwellings. They have the universal value, though, of reminding builders not to forget to "figure on" the incalculables. In the ordinary wooden house with only the foundation and chimney of stone and brick, the percentage for masonry would not be so great.

Talking of the cause of fires, do you know that ordinary flour, the kind that is used to bake bread, is highly explosive? Government chemists, after seven years' study, tell some interesting things about it. Since 1830, at least 35 flour mills have been wrecked by explosion of flour dust. Outbursts of flour dust have been recorded since 1878. Five separate flour mills were blown up in Minneapolis with a loss of 18 lives. In 1917 a similar explosion in a grain elevator destroyed enough grain to feed 200,000 people for a year. David J. Price, chief investigator in charge of the State's investigation of flour explosions, says that dust in general is a high explosive. Combustible dust is an unavoidable by-product of about 21,000 manufacturing plants in our country. Terrible explosions lurk in the dust of cotton, cork, sawdust, cottonseed, rubber, sawdust, cotton, sugar, starch and spices. Many factories have been burned to the ground by fires started by spontaneous combustion in dust accumulated deeply on rafters. This is one of the dangers which every city has and which should be guarded against. Just at present it is receiving the attention of Chief Saunders of the fire department.

I notice that one boy at least has been in court for riding a bicycle on sidewalks and it seems about time something of this sort were done to the nuisance. The other night, on the South common, I learned that Officer John W. Mahan had sent five boys, aged from 16 to 18, to the station on this complaint, as women have been complaining of the danger constantly increasing by the rough-riding of young miscreants. If one of these bike racers is approached and censured for his misdeeds he is absolutely nothing and abusive, and seems proud of the fact that he is acting as an overlord over his domain—the South common—where so much of this sidewalk riding has been tolerated of late. The large crowds which assemble on the common every evening have been menaced by these wild riders, who show no regard for the life and safety of others. If Officer Mahan is given a free rein in handling the matter, as he doubt he will be, this nuisance will soon be a thing of the past.

Although practically every other detail relative to the visit paid the Lowell Ad-club by the Providence Town Officers nearly three weeks ago has been particularly well discussed and amplified, the splendid cards designed for the occasion bearing a drawing of an old-time town pier and surrounded by splendidly arranged lettering have not as yet been properly accredited to their designer, the general public who

Berton Braley's Daily Poem THE MESSAGE

The school-days are pretty near ended
And back in each healthy kid's mind
The thought of his studies is blended
With thoughts of a different kind;
He's dreaming of summer vacation
When lessons won't wrinkle his brow,
And thinking, with great jubilation,
"The swimmin' hole's warm enough now!"

He's visioning gay days of freedom
When books won't conflict with his fun,
When he needn't see 'em or read 'em,
But get out and play in the sun;
When, naked and brown by the river,
He'll loudly and proudly avow
(In spite of his muscles that shiver)
"The swimmin' hole's warm enough now!"

Though over his lessons he drowns,
He'll be wide awake with a bang
When summer's blithe advent arouses
The vigor and zest of "the gang."
The boy hears the luring winds humming;
They whisper a message, somehow,
His season of liberty's coming,

Farm gardens are a new item in the vegetable list and had an estimated value of $405,000,000 in 1922. The value of the vegetable crop in relation to prominent single crops and to groups of crops has some striking ratios for 1921, a year when the values of the large crops were low the department pointed out. The total value of the vegetable crop for 1921 was 35 per cent. of the value of the great corn crop; it was almost as large as the value of the high and foreign crops; it was nearly one half the value of the value of the dairy products; it was considerably larger than the value of all poultry products; 46 per cent. larger than the value of the cotton crop; and 50 per cent. larger than the value of the winter and spring wheat crops.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Postmaster General Work recently gave a "close-up" impression of President Harding to a group of western visitors who had called at the postoffice department to commend improvements in postal conditions on the Pacific coast. Colleagues of the postmaster general were of the opinion that Dr. Work's description of the president was so unique it should be made public and consequently it was given out today as follows:

"The outstanding characteristic of President Harding is his presence. This can hardly be called a character trait for it is the sum of many; although in fact that a man has. The president's presence is seen to best advantage when he is receiving the long lines of casual, curious and transient visitors to the White House. This is a part of the daily occurrence and follows the adjournment of cabinet meetings. Many hundreds of visitors to Washington are massed without, waiting for the cabinet officers to leave, when they have been assured they may shake hands with the president.

"The president's art of handshaking has been frequently commented upon. There is no art about it because it is real. It is an instinct. He meets them by the hundreds day after day, forty per minute if there is no band playing, more if there is music."

"The president likes children and old people, and he is fond of dogs, and they in turn like him, each in their own fashion. The dog 'Laddie Boy,' true to the Alameda instinct for one master only, selected the president as his special friend. He followed him at times and was so reassured, having forgotten that it was the president who held their hand, while old ladies meet him 'Abe. Thank God for you, Mr. President, or 'May God bless you, or 'Our country is safe with you. Often an old lady, on that uncertain border line separating the grand-mother from the angel, the grandchild and the girl, is embarrassed, and degrades him too at times. They have done their work, matured their children and are willing, Mayhap some are rejoicing them and others may be a distress, but in either event they are their 'children' whom they must soon leave to the vicissitudes of the world. To them, the president seems a guardian and his office a protectorate to those in the little family world so many of us live in.

"To the people the clasp of the president's hand means much. They come purposely to see him. Each one passes on feeling that he had been waiting for them to come. After the greetings are over, in a cloudless room beyond, having departed reluctantly, looking backward, the emotions in the many hearts are beyond knowing, but those critical, suspicious or resentful are all absent and the one feeling is common to all that they are leaving a presence that will welcome ever smiles and farewell goes outside."

Washington Forest Fire in Pictures

For tragic grandeur nothing approaches a huge forest fire. Here's the fire that swept western Washington, taken at a distance of a mile and a half from the flames, near Snoqualmie Falls, Wash.

Three lives were taken by the forest fire which reduced Cedar Falls, Wash., to ashes. So swift was the attack that the residents who escaped saved nothing by the clothes they wore.

Listens to Addresses in 27 Languages

ROME, June 8.—(By the Associated Press)—Pope Pius appeared today in the courtyard of San Damaso in the vatican, before an assemblage of 2000 persons including all the students of the college of propaganda and many missionaries celebrating the third centenary of the foundation of the congregation of propaganda. The pontiff, who appeared to be in the best of health, ascended to a platform on which was placed the throne. He was accompanied by the court and escorted by the Swiss guards and listened for more than two hours to addresses in 27 languages by the students.

NEW YORK, June 8.—A new high price for cotton for the new crop months of the season was recorded today when the market showed a further strengthening owing to further rains in the south and reports of an increased inquiry for cotton goods. The advance extended to 21 1/2¢ for October of 73 cents above yesterday's closing quotations and about 12¢ per bale above the low price of last Tuesday.

SPRINGFIELD, Vt., June 8.—In all Vermont there are only six rural schoolhouses considered satisfactory in equipment. Mrs. Dorothy Canfield Fisher of Arlington, a member of the state board of education, reported to the State Federation of Women's clubs today. Describing the results of a survey of rural schools by the state board, Mrs. Fisher, who is widely known as a novelist, said that none of the 1100 rural schoolhouses could be considered to meet a complete standard of efficiency.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 8.—The temperature at the United States weather bureau here at noon today was 85, the highest of the season. No prostrations were reported.

SALEM, June 8.—Judge Elias P. Bishop of the superior court today referred to a master the petition of the Etchogue-Plymouth mills of Lawrence for an injunction against the United Textile Workers of America and Ben Legers and other members of the One Big Union of Lawrence to restrain them from alleged conspiracy to interfere with the employees and business of the mills by group picketing, intimidation and threats of personal violence.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Republican leaders from several states gathered here today at the call of John T. Adams, chairman of the republican national committee, to consider ways and means of carrying on the campaign preparatory to the November elections.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Commuter towns of the Fox River valley armed today to combat millions of 17-year locusts that have come down upon the valley in a huge swarms, moving east, toward Chicago suburbs.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 8.—(By the Associated Press).—The Turkish town of Samson, on the Black sea, was bombed yesterday by a Greek fleet. The bombardment caused some damage, the extent of which, however, has not yet been learned.

MOVE TO PREVENT MANY STRIKES AND LOCKOUTS

CINCINNATI, June 8.—(By the Associated Press).—Creation of a national board of labor union officials, vesting it with all responsibility for strikes in the building trades industry, was suggested today by John H. Donlin, president of the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor, at the department's annual meeting here.

"The whole nation," said Mr. Donlin, "in his annual report, is tired of strikes and lockouts, and disgusted with such institutions that make lockouts and strikes a condition of the way to minimize them, is to minimize such authority as can order a strike or lockout. Those responsible for strikes in cities are always in the minority."

A nation-wide campaign for home building was suggested.

LOWELL MAN LEASES HOTEL IN DOVER, N. H.

(Special to The Sun)

DOVER, N. H., June 8.—Mr. Eneas A. O'Malley, who for the past four years has been assistant manager of the New American hotel, Lowell, Mass., has just finished a business deal with Thomas R. Dlab, the proprietor of the American house of this city.

Mr. O'Malley has taken out a 15-year sub-lease, which is conditional on account of circumstances which may arise when Mr. Dlab's lease runs out in 10 years.

The American house is one of the best in the city and will be conducted on the American plan with a first class dining-room restaurant.

Both Mr. and Mrs. O'Malley are natives of Lowell.

SOVIET GOVERNMENT REPLIES TO PROTESTS

LONDON, June 8.—(By the Associated Press).—Leonid Krassin, the Bolshevik commissar of foreign trade and commerce, has transmitted to the archbishop of Canterbury, the reply of the soviet government to the protests of the Christian churches of Great Britain against the attack of the Russian church in the person of the Most Rev. Dr. Tikhon, patriarch of all Russia. The reply, signed by M. Smolansoff, administration manager of the council of commissars, denies any attack on the church. It says legal proceedings were taken against Patriarch Tikhon and other ecclesiastics and individuals for having resisted the soviet's measures to save the lives of tens of millions of human beings.

The Archbishop of Canterbury has replied to M. Krassin, backing up the original protest, which he says was based on first hand information.

PONZI TRUSTEES SUE ALLEN

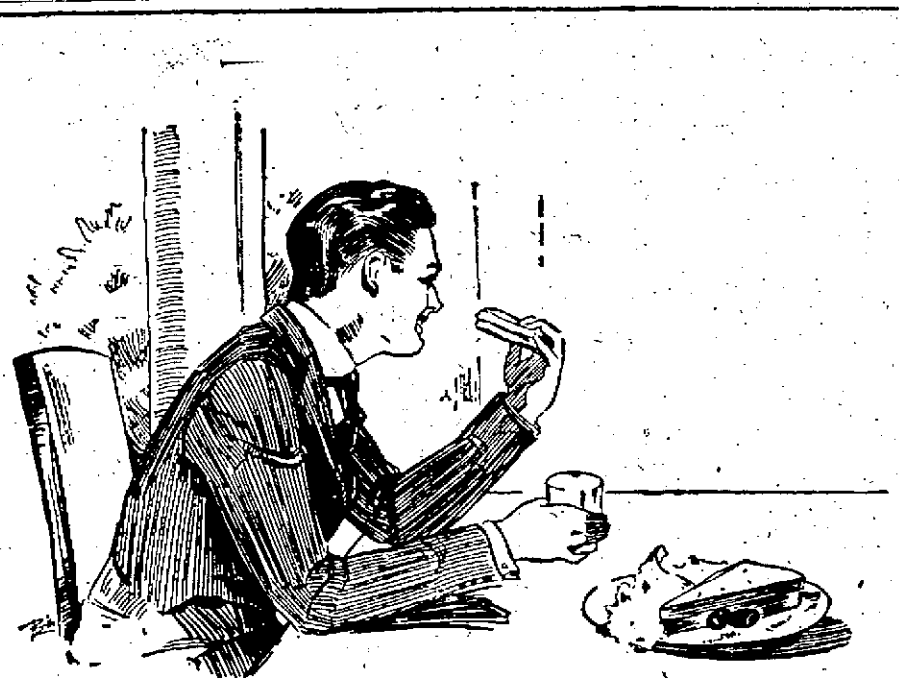

BOSTON, June 8.—The trustees in bankruptcy of Charles Ponzi brought four suits in the superior court against Bank Commissioner Joseph C. Allen today to recover more than $1,500,000 received by the Hanover Trust Co., from Ponzi.

One of the suits involves the sum of $1,500,000 which it is claimed Ponzi deposited about two weeks before his business crashed and for which he received a certificate of deposit.

NOT SEEKING RE-ELECTION

Allen Not Candidate for Attorney General—May Run for Governor

BOSTON, June 8.—Attorney General J. Weston Allen announced today that he would not be a candidate for re-election and that he would make public within a few days his decision on the question of becoming a candidate for the republican nomination for governor. He said he had been assured by many friends that there was a widespread desire that he seek that office. "If I am convinced that they are correct in this assurance, I shall be a candidate," he said.

OWNER OF INDIANS DEAD

James C. Dunn, President of Cleveland Am. League Team, Died Today

CHICAGO, June 9.—(By the Associated Press) James C. Dunn, president and chief owner of the Cleveland American League baseball club, died here at 1:10 o'clock this morning.
Mr. Dunn's death came after a long illness which first became acute last February. He is survived only by his widow.

WON CITY'S FIRST PENNANT

CLEVELAND, June 9.—One of the most chagrined men in the city after losing control of the Cleveland team in 1916 was to purchase the release of Tris Speaker from the Boston Americans for $50,000, a record price at that time, announcing at the same time that he was going to give Cleveland a pennant winning team.
He fulfilled this promise in 1920.

TELEGRAPHERS NOT TO BE CUT

Will Not Be Included in Third Wage Reduction Order of R. R. Labor Board

New Cuts to Affect 350,000 Clerks, Signal Men, Stationary Firemen and Oilers

CHICAGO, June 9.—Railway telegraphers probably will not be included in the third wage reduction order of the railroad labor board, according to rumors today of the contemplated new slash from railroad payrolls.
The telegraphers number approximately 31,000. So many local conditions on various lines have to be considered that deliberation of an order affecting the telegraphers would necessarily consume weeks, it was said.
New wage cuts, to follow the $100-000,000 already taken off the paychecks of 500,000 maintenance of way employees and 400,000 shopmen will affect 350,000 railroad clerks, signal men, stationary firemen, oilers and marine department employees, according to reports.
Chief among the groups are 22,000 clerks; 22,000 men in the signal departments and 50,000 freight handlers and truckers.
Although board members made no direct statement regarding the next cut, rumors were persistent in predicting a smaller reduction for the clerical forces than those affecting the shopmen. The reason for this was said to lie in the fact that the clerks did not receive increases as important as those of the shopmen, and maintenance of way as other groups of employees when the wage scale was going up.
With the telegraphers remaining at their keys, it was predicted in some quarters that the likelihood of a strike would be lessened. Even in the event of a strike of shopmen and maintenance of way employees some railroad experts contended that the roads could remain in operation for a considerable time if the telegraphers and trainmen did not join a walkout.

WAR VETERANS ELIGIBLE

Result of Examination for Superintendent of Ashes and Waste Collection

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, June 9.—Announcement was made today by the state department of civil service that the examination for the position of superintendent of ashes and waste collection in the city of Lowell.
The examination as ordered by the department was held April 13, and was taken by 25 men, among whom were Mr. Sutton Wilson, the present incumbent, and Mr. Harrington, 15th ward.
The department announced that 12 of these men were successful in passing and that if the work is to be continued, it will insist upon the appointment of some one from the eligible list, as required by the civil service law.
Those eligible for appointment, all of whom are World war veterans, are as follows: In order of their ranking, Major H. Harrington, 15th ward, 1st rank; Patrick H. Queenan, 37 Merrill street; Garrett G. Royal, 33
Phillips street; Cornelius E. Desmond, Jr., 155 Stackpole street; Eli B. Hart,

Hayes Declares Haverhill
Music Supervisor "Was a Victim of Circumstances"

Roberts Says Girl Student Bought Liquor at Downes' Home

BOSTON, June 9.—Herbert W.
Downes, supervisor of music in the public schools of Haverhill and a church organist in this city, was brought before a federal commissioner here today, as a result of a raid on his home at Haverhill, last night, when a quantity of whiskey was seized. Commissioner Hayes announced that no warrant would be issued in the case, and that prosecution would be dropped because it was agreed by the prohibition enforcement officials and others that Mr.
Downes "was a victim of circumstances."

Prohibition Supervisor James P.
Roberts, in a statement to newspapermen after the conference at which the charges were dropped, said the raid and seizure at the Downes home were made as the result of reports that young women students at Bradford academy, had been buying whiskey there.
Mr. Roberts said he caused Miss Catherine Durfee, a graduate of Bradford, the oldest and one of the most fashionable girls' schools in the country, to go to the Downes home, a day or two ago, bringing a flask with her. Miss Durfee reported to him, he said, that the flask was filled by Mrs. Downes, who accepted payment of two dollars for the half pint of whiskey which Miss Durfee brought to Supervisor Roberts' office.
Mr. Roberts added that the whiskey was of good quality and "apparently from the same source of supply as the liquor which we found at the Downes residence yesterday."

The prohibition supervisor said he went to the Downes home, which is directly opposite Bradford academy, last night, and found two bottles of liquor on the third floor, covered by clothing. Mr. Downes said he knew nothing of the liquor.
When asked whether she had any liquor in the house, Mr. Roberts statement added, "Mrs. Downes said that they had a lodger who had some liquor, and the lodger, a Mr. Grover, when questioned, said he had, but that it was all in his room."

KID WEDGE IN MOVIES

TUCSON, Ariz., June 9.—Fred "Kid" Wedge, lumberjack, former prize fighter, and more recently a student at Harvard, plans to leave Tucson to enter the movies in a picture of his own life story, he said today. Wedge said he intended to employ his profits to return to Harvard, which he was compelled to leave on account of waning finances.

DANCING TODAY WITH OLD MERCURY

The following hourly readings were taken today from the thermometer on Uncle Dudley's clock in Merrimack square:
5 a. m. 75
6 a. m. 77
7 a. m. 80
8 a. m. 83
9 a. m. 85
10 a. m. 88
11 a. m. 89
12 noon 90
1 p. m. 91
2 p. m. 91

A breeze from the west took the edge from today's heat by practically clearing humidity from the atmosphere. The day was more bearable than yesterday, although the temperature mounted steadily from the early morning hours.
Last night was distressingly hot, particularly in congested districts, but men of the fire department wet-down a number of streets and brought a measure of relief.
The sun rose again today like a ball of fire and although showers had been predicted, the sky was practically cloudless. At noon the temperature in Merrimack square was just 90 degrees, representing a rise of 15 degrees since 6 o'clock.
At 2 o'clock it was one degree higher.
The heat was felt a great deal today in most of the public schools and while no sessions were shortened, the daily work was made as light as possible.

HARDING SPEAKS AT PRINCETON

Praises University's Part in World War and in All Previous Wars of U. S.

Also Lauds Achievements of Her Sons in the Paths of Peace

PRINCETON, N. J., June 9.—Praise for Princeton's part in the World war and in all previous wars of the United States, as well as for her achievements through her sons in the paths of peace, was voiced by President Harding today in an address in connection with his receiving an honorary degree from the university.
"I can think of no more appropriate message to be addressed to the Princeton community," he declared,
"than an expression of earnest hope that it may live up to its opportunities."

$2500 OFFERED FOR SLAYERS

Search for Murderers of Policeman Farrington of Milton Continues

Autopsy Reveals Bullets Which Pierced Officer's Head Fired From Behind

MILTON, June 9.—With a reward of $2500 offered by the selectmen, search for the slayers of Patrolman Emory H. Farrington, whose body was found early yesterday near the Blue Hill reservation, was continued today.
The theory that Farrington was shot down by automobile thieves whom he had detected in the act of stripping a stolen car was almost generally held and officers said they had the description of a small closed car seen traveling rapidly from the scene of the crime at approximately the time of the murder.
The fact that the autopsy revealed that two bullets which pierced Farrington's head were fired from a .38-caliber revolver and from behind, together with the fact that the patrol-man's own revolver was still in its holster, caused the police to believe that he was shot by an unseen assailant.

INDICTED FOR ATTEMPT TO BRIBE DRY OFFICER

BANGOR, Me., June 9.—Michael Driscoll of this city was indicted by the grand jury in the United States district court today on a charge of attempting to bribe Robert P. Jack, federal prohibition officer, in that he offered the officer $1000 in return for information to be given as to when liquor raids were to be made.
Dr. A. C. Hagerthy, many times mayor of Bangor, was also included in the indictments, the charge against him being unlawful possession of 10 cases of intoxicating liquor.
The jury reported at the bills, of which 23 were made public.

HEAD CRUSHED, THROAT SLASHED

Body of Matron of Girls' Home at Jackson, Mich., Found Near Her Home

Axe and Razor Used by Assailant—Clothing Torn Off
—Long Struggle Indicated

JACKSON, Mich., June 8.—The body of Miss Alice Malott, 40, assistant matron of the Crittendon Home for Girls here, was found with the head crushed and throat slashed near the home this morning. An axe and razor had been used by her assailant and indications were that a long struggle took place.
No clue to the slayer has been uncovered, but bloodhounds are being used in the pursuit.
The clothing had been torn from the body, the woman having been gagged with a handkerchief.

REUNION OF AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The third annual reunion of the American field service, the volunteer organization of American ambulance and camion drivers which distinguished itself in the world war, begins today in Plymouth, Mass., and will continue until Sunday.
Representative A. Platt, Andrew of Massachusetts, who as inspector general of the service, organized and directed the 2400 Americans until the United States entered the war, has gone to attend the reunion. The field service veterans now maintain an organization and send each year about 30 American students to French universities for graduate study.

BIG INCREASE IN SALE OF MILK

At the present time, the amount of milk being sold to school children under the system inaugurated just a week or so ago, is practically double the amount originally planned.
Prior to beginning the system, a survey was shown that 2000 children would take advantage of the milk if provided, but now 4000 children are being delivered daily to the elementary schools.
Mrs. Gardner Pearson of the school committee, whose interest in the idea was instrumental in getting it started, is perfectly satisfied that the experiment was justified and says that it is working out even better than she anticipated it would.
The milk is being sold in sanitary half-pint bottles at 3 cents each to the pupil.

HEAT CLOSES SCHOOLS

MALDEN, June 9.—Mayor John
V. Kimball today ordered the schools

BELFAST, June 9.—(By the Associated Press)—It was learned today that the republican forces upon evacuating Pettigo took with them W. A. Murphy, formerly a captain in the Enniskillen fusiliers and now head constable of the Ulster specials. Thomas Enery, George Hall and Robert Irome, constables of the same force, also were taken. None

MILL MAN AND GIRL KIDNAPPED

Seized by Masked Men at Anderson, S. C., and Drop-

Abductors Dressed in Regalia Resembling That of Ku Klux Klan

ANDERSON, S. C., June 9.—Robert W. Sullivan, secretary and treasurer of the Orr cotton mills, and Miss Ruby Floyd, were kidnapped from an automobile in front of the young woman's home here last night by masked men who "gave them a lecture" as they described it, and dropped them in the woods some three miles out of town.
Sullivan, who is an official of the South Carolina Cotton Manufacturers' association, was warned not to be seen in Miss Floyd's company again, he told the police, but he defied reports that he had been beaten. He and Miss Floyd informed the police that the men were dressed in regalia, resembling that of the Ku Klux Klan and Miss Floyd asserted that she was positive one of the men was a negro. The couple said they thought they would be unable to identify any of their abductors.

"ADAM AND EVE" PLEAD GUILTY OF CHARGES

HOULTON, Me., June 9.—A plea of guilty to five charges of violation of the state game laws was made today in the municipal court by Carl A. Sutter and his wife of Boston, whose six weeks' retreat into the virgin forests of Aroostook county as the "modern Adam and Eve" was interrupted by their arrest yesterday in Township 5, range 3, near Howe Brook.
The fines and costs imposed totalled $354.15. They were given until 2 o'clock this afternoon to pay or enter an appeal to the supreme court from the sentences imposed.
It was understood that Mrs. Sutter pleaded guilty to all five counts through a misunderstanding, and that it was on this account that an appeal was being considered. They were charged with camping and kindling fires without the services of a registered guide, killing a deer and having parts of it in their possession, hunting without a license, fishing without a license and killing a partridge.

PEASANT EMBROIDERIES

Peasant embroideries are all characterized by the use of brilliant colors—chiefly red and blue, helped out with touches of orange, purple, green and yellow. Odd looking fruit, tulips, bellflowers and bizarre birds are the favorite patterns. Sometimes the designs are embroidered, but more often they are applied to a garment in some strongly contrasting color.

PRES. HARDING APPROVES

WASHINGTON, June 8.—President Harding, in a special message to the senate yesterday, stated that the policy of the navy and interior departments in dealing with the naval oil reserves at Teapot Dome, including private leases, has his full approval. The president transmitted a voluminous report made to him by Secretary Fall regarding disposition of the naval reserves. Mr. Harding said the report was not to be construed as a defense of the administration policy, but to give information to the senate in connection with the investigation recently ordered by the senate. The president added that it was only fair to state that the policy of the navy and interior departments dealing with the naval reserves were "submitted to me prior to the adoption thereof and the policy decided upon and the subsequent acts have at all times had my entire approval." The president's message and Secretary Fall's report were referred to the public lands committee, which today received a truckload of papers containing all correspondence for years back with respect to private leasing on the three reserves. Secretary Fall, in a letter to the president accompanying the report, said that he was handing the president the document "in the sincere belief that the contracts entered into and the policy as formulated and as finally carried out up to date, will redound to the credit of your administration."

tration, both in the immediate present and the distant future." The president wrote that he was sending the report to the senate with the hope that it might be of assistance to the house land committee in making its investigation under the direction under the senate resolution. He added that the report was comprehensive and "gives details of the handling of all naval petroleum matters up to the present date."

WALSH SAYS PUBLIC SICK OF COAL GOUGING

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The coal strike was brought into senate debate yesterday by Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, who declared that "there is a limit to the patience of our people" and that "extortion is going on with apparent governmental approval." "Whether operators or miners are responsible for the prevailing condition," said Senator Walsh, "The general public will begin to care less and less and will come to the inevitable conclusion that the coal industry is so organized that it is no longer being conducted from motives of service but motives of greed and profit."

"The public is going to demand," he said, "that motives of service be superior to motives of profit. But the chief trouble today in the bituminous situation is that the motives of the operators are not merely motives of future profit but motives of extortion and immoderate gain. The public is tired of operators associating themselves to insure profits and laborers associating themselves to insure good wages. What the public will demand if this condition continues is a new system in the conduct of this business."

"My, this cellar
smells clean"
—said Bert

"Last Monday evening Bert went into the cellar to get the garden tools.

"What's happened down here?"
he said. "It has never smelled so clean before."

"I had used Sylpho-Nathol that morning for the first time. Our cellar wasn't different from hundreds of others and I kept it clean
as could be. But it had had a damp, unpleasant, just-noticeable odor we simply could not get rid of until
we used Sylpho-Nathol.

"I had put off using a disinfectant. So many of them leave such an unpleasant smell; and are messy and hard to mix. Sylpho-Nathol has none of these objections.

"I ordered a bottle from the grocer. It was the easiest thing to prepare—a teaspoonful in a quart
of warm water made a clean-smelling, pearly-gray solution. I sprinkled it all around the cellar.
The results were wonderful.

"Since then I have used Sylpho-
Nathol every day all over the house.
A tablespoonful to a pail makes mop water that destroys the germs
that breed in floor cracks and crannies. Sprinkled over the garbage it keeps away disease-carrying flies. It rids sink drains and pipes of annoying, persistent smells. And it is indispensable for the sanitary cleansing of bathroom fixtures and as a flush for the closet bowl.

"Sylpho-Nathol has many other household uses. It's splendid for wiping off shelves and sprinkling
in all sorts of hard-to-get-at places."

Sylpho-Nathol is pleasant and easy to use. Its faint, friendly odor doesn't linger. Though 4½ times stronger than carbolic acid,
it is as safe to have in the house as
a cake of scouring soap.

Your grocer, or druggist, has Sylpho-Nathol in four handy sizes,
15c, 35c, 65c, $1.25. If he hasn't it,
he can get it easily. Just ask for it by the name—"Sylpho-Nathol."

Marie "Peggy" Beal, Slayer
of "Perfect Lover," Declares Male Polygamous

KANSAS CITY, June 8.—"I have killed a man and the whole world
seems to be asking the eternal 'why.'"
Marie "Peggy" Beal, her black bob-bed hair, forming a dark outline for her small head and sharply defined face, prefaced the first complete account of her reasons for slaying P.
Warren Anderson, Kansas City and Philadelphia department store welfare director, her "perfect lover" in the "third floor back" the couple occupied in an obscure hotel here, in the dawn of Saturday morning.

"My own story, my past life and loves, my most intimate affairs have become public property," she declared.
"I am something of a public holiday,
the women who kills."

"A jury is going to try me and find
me guilty."

"I am willing they should, for my heart has died and what becomes of
my body is but small moment now."

"But if all I am going through now saves but one girl from such a fate
as mine, I shall not have lived in vain.
I have not turned man hater, one man's sin has not turned me against all men."

"But in the one man I know so well,
my 'perfect love,' I believe I have found the trait of all men, even since Adam."

"Warren, the man I believed perfect, was no different than all men, I believe he was more daring—that is all."

"For it is in all men to deceive. A woman can love but one man; a man
cannot love but one woman."

"Warren told me he had loved 50,
he wrote their names for me, and told
me of their intimate personalities, their hair, their eyes, their manner-
isms."

"I love them all, Peg," he said.
"It was then I realized for the first time, the true nature of man."

"Since then, as I lay here on my cot, I have wondered at the wisdom of modern civilization. When the world was young, man recognized the spirit of polygamy within man."

"I do not believe it is I who failed.
I do not believe it is the woman's fault in the thousands upon thousands of unhappy heart affairs which fill
volumes of newspaper space today."

"Rather it is the inborn spirit of man."

"Some are cowards of their conscience. They are the 'good men' of every community. Others are 'not found out.' Still others are like Warren."

"I tried by every wile of woman to hold his 'perfect love.' I wanted him

Blue Serge Suit

WITH EXTRA PANTS OF SAME MATERIAL TAILORED TO YOUR MEASURE FOR

$26.50

The reason why the average motorist carries a spare tire is for emergency. A blow-out, a puncture or stone bruise is liable to happen any moment. So it is with a pair of trousers, they stand most of the wear, and an extra pair doubles the life of the suit.

Lymansville Blue Serge of Rhode Island

I buy several pieces for spot cash. I don't claim these goods are $40 value—because I don't know by what standard $40 value might be measured in clothing. I do say they are 14-oz. in weight, twisted worsted both ways, absolutely wool, and no tailor advertises this make serge under $30 for a suit of clothes.

I don't care how big you are, if you can get through my door without blocking traffic, there will be no extra charge. I am going to turn these goods into cash in the next ten days. Every man should own a Blue Serge Suit and you can't find a better value than this 14-oz. material at this price of suit and extra pants of same material, made to your measure, while they last, for $26.50.

DARING BANDIT

MEXICO CITY, June 9.—A bandit who for more than three years has led a roving band of marauders through the Tampico oil fields, was killed the other day by one of his own countrymen who refused to believe that Monte Michaels, six shooter
in hand, was on a friendly mission
when he attempted forced entrance to the headquarters of a petroleum camp. Monte, a hard-hitting and straight shooting American, came to Tampico several years ago, ostensibly to work in the oil fields. He tried of drilling and pumping and started out to gather some of the plentiful gold by means of the familiar stick-up system. He prospered and he gathered followers.

Two years ago a price was set on him.

HALF FARE FOR CHILDREN
DURING SUMMER

BOSTON, June 9.—Representatives T. J. Driscoll of Boston and Francis of Charlestown won a notable victory in the house yesterday, when he succeeded in overturning the recommendation of the house rules committee and secured the adoption of an order requesting the Boston Elevated trustees to allow children under 14 to ride for half fare during the months of July and August.

Both Driscoll and Francis argued that the children in the congested sections of Boston should be allowed an opportunity of getting to the beaches and bathing spots during the period of vacation from school. The children are now allowed to ride for half fare, they argued, during the school terms, and many of them find it difficult to pay the 10-cent fare necessary for them to get away from the congested parts of the city to recreation spots during the hot weather.

Representative Hull of Leominster in charge of the adverse report of the rules committee, argued that the order is unnecessary and that the trustees cannot put the half fare into effect if they desire. The house at first accepted the report of the rules committee. Later in the session Driscoll moved reconsideration, in which he was supported by Francis, and the order was adopted.

RECREATION HUT FOR DISABLED VETERANS

Plans for a drive to construct a recreation hut for invalided veterans at the Groton hospital were discussed at a special meeting of the auxiliary of Walker-Rogers post, 662, Veterans of Foreign Wars, which was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jennie Garity, 82 Westford street. The principal speaker was Thomas Cady, chairman of the welfare committee at the hospital, who outlined the needs of such a building at the hospital. He informed his listeners that a few days ago the Lowell National choral gave a concert at the hospital, and at that time it was necessary to move bed patients out of one of the rooms in order to give the concert. He said the project of erecting a recreation hut has met with the approval of the Rotary club, the Boys' club and other organizations and also that Mayor Brown is strongly in favor of such an improvement. The matter will again be discussed at a later date. During the meeting refreshments were served and a musical entertainment was given.

THE BOY SCOUT
STRATEGY BOARD

The Boy Scout strategy board, under the direction of C. D. A. Grassie, met last night for the purpose of outlining the work of the organization as applied to the boys of Lowell and vicinity. The next meeting of the general committee, composed of every one who is interested in the movement, will be held in the chamber of commerce headquarters on Monday at 8 p. m. At this meeting captains will make their first reports on the money raised by the various teams.

Last night at Tyngsboro, the workers of that district held a meeting at the home of Dr. P. D. Lambert. A group of scouts has been organized in this section under the direction of George W. Dunning. About 30 boys have already asked to join. At 7.15 tonight, the Chelmsford Centre troops headed by Read I. Ripley, will attend a lecture by W. E. Brown, New England scout executive. Mr. Ripley is awaiting a successor, as he is soon to leave Lowell.

ANOTHER RAID IN WORTHEN STREET

About 200 gallons of moonshine and 50 cases of beer were found and confiscated last night by members of the liquor squad who discovered the contraband buried near a house in Worthen street. In addition to the "shine" and beer the police discovered 50 cases of empty beer bottles, a capping machine and much other paraphernalia used in the manufacture and distribution of "shine" and beer. The raiding officers include Sergt. Wine and Officers Moore, Conney, Aldrich, Killoy, Rhapire and Hunter.

PRINCETON MONUMENT
DEDICATED BY HARDING

PRINCETON, N. J., June 9.—The Princeton Battle monument, commemorating the battle of Princeton, dedicated by Pres. Harding today, is from the hand of F. W. MacMonnies, of New York, who created the much discussed Clivo Virtue statue in front of the New York city hall. He has been working on it since 1903, the period of the war excepted. It is located on Nassau street, in front of the old Princeton Inn, and was erected by the Princeton Battle Monument committee, which raised $300,000 for the purpose.

The memorial is a large relief with General Washington as the main figure, thus combining the ideas of the hero, of fame and of victory. It represents Washington at the Battle of Princeton, 1777, watching his men as they retreat. General Mercer, who was killed in the battle, lies dying at his feet. The lower part of the monument consists of several minor figures portraying several circumstances of the battle. Dr. P. S. Grant, of New York, posed for General Mercer; Dr. Allen Marquand for the soldier who is rushing forward, and Charles Dana Gibson, the illustrator, for the figure who is supporting the fallen general.

BODY FOUND ON TRACKS
POSITIVELY IDENTIFIED

DANIELSON, Conn., June 9.—The body found on the N.Y. N.H. & H.R.R. tracks, two miles below here, early Thursday morning, was positively identified last night as that of Charles Jenks of Providence, R.I. The body was found beside a pile of railroad ties which had been wired to the track in an evident attempt at train wrecking.

Coroner Arthur G. Bill said his finding would probably be prepared in three weeks and was understood to have indicated it will be that of suicide. It was said that Mr. Jenks had been in a hospital for the insane some five years ago and that recently he had suffered from heart trouble. He disappeared last Monday afternoon.

Service Board Recommends Purchase of Asphaltic Composition Used in Conn.

Break in Central Bridge Discussed—Bills Examined—
Other Business

Westford street and Broadway will be resurfaced with amiesite and the work will be started in the very near future. This decision was reached at a meeting of the public service board held late yesterday afternoon in the course of which Chairman Murphy and Engineer George Bowers of the board gave an outline of their trip through the state of Connecticut Wednesday, which was made for the purpose of inspecting roads built with amiesite. In the course of the meeting the board voted to recommend to the mayor the purchase of 13,100 square yards of this asphaltic preparation at $2.94 per ton, the material to be laid by the city employees under the supervision of a foreman of the company that handles the material. The city will receive a guarantee of three years, while the company will also give a maintenance guarantee for eight years at a cost of 8 cents a square yard.

Mr. Bowers stated that miles and miles of road built with amiesite were inspected in Connecticut and in his opinion this asphaltic composition is well worth the money. He said it makes a hard surface, which will wear like iron. Some of the roads that the two members of the board inspected, he said, were built eight years ago and today they are as good as new. He praised the composition very highly. Mr. Murphy was also loud in his praise for this street material, which, he said, is the best he ever saw.

Central Bridge Again

In the course of the meeting the Central bridge was discussed at length with Professor Moore and John M. O'Donoghue, counsel for the construction company that erected the bridge. The attention of the two men was called to a break in the roadbed of the bridge, which occurred Wednesday night, when a piece of the road about a yard square between the two tracks at the Centralville end of the bridge, fell into the river. Mr. O'Donoghue said the repairs should be looked after by the city and the work charged up to the construction company.

Prof. Moore outlined the proposition of the Traylor-Dewey Construction Co. of Allentown, Pa., to guarantee the surface of the bridge, $5,000, but he said the price was excessive. He said he has made arrangements with a concern to bring a guarantee equipment here and by the first of next week he will be ready to submit a detailed proposal so that work could be started in the latter part of the week. Chairman Murphy informed Prof. Moore that another plan had been discussed by him and Mr. Bowers, but this plan was not made public as after the meeting a private conference on the matter was held with Mr. Moore.

High School Commission

In the early part of the meeting the members of the high school commission appeared before the board relative to the laying of sidewalks in Anne, Kirk and French streets. Dr. Lambert acted as spokesman for the commission and said the commission wanted to know just what the city was going to do relative to sidewalks in the vicinity of the new high school. He said at present there is a dirt surface on the Anne street sidewalk, while a small portion of the granite walk remains in front of the old church site in Kirk street. He was informed by the board that a sidewalk will be laid in the center of the road in Anne street and that the board will look into the matter of the other sidewalks. When asked if there was much money left in the high school appropriation, Dr. Lambert replied he did not know, and to

The officers, firemen and engineers employed in the water department asked for a hearing on the matter of working hours and it was voted to hold the hearing next Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock. A communication from Councilor Queenan asked that the fence on the old stone bridge between Lewis and Suffolk streets in Broadway, be repaired, and it was referred to the superintendent of streets. The petition of Olaf Myhr for a catch basin on the westerly side of Crescent street was referred to the superintendent. The petition of Eugene W. Hunt that Arcadia avenue be called, was granted, as was that of John B. Caddell, who asked that Norcross street be rolled and oiled. At 7 o'clock the board adjourned until next Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

FAREWELL BANQUET TO MILL AGENT

Mark Ingham, agent of the Shesha mills in North Chelmsford, who will soon sever his connection with the mill, was tendered a farewell banquet by the overseers of the mill last evening, the festivities being held at the Richardson hotel. The evening's program included community singing, led by Raymond O'Neill, and addresses by John E. Hogan, who acted as toastmaster; Peter Picken and Mr. Ingham. As a token of esteem the guest of honor was presented a handsome traveling case fitted up with useful articles. The committee in charge of arrangements consisted of Alfred Berry, chairman; John Curry, Arthur Rousseau, Albert Metcalfe, James McEnaney and William T. Picken. Mr. and Mrs. Ingham will soon sail for England, where they will spend a few months.

COAL PRICES HELD DOWN

Hoover Says Essential Thing About Prices is That Run-away Market Has Stopped

Latest Development in Connection With Agitation in Senate Over Strike

WASHINGTON, June 8.—A statement from Secretary Hoover declaring "the essential things about coal prices is that the runaway market has been stopped," was the latest development today in connection with agitation in the senate over the strike situation and the plan adopted by the secretary for holding prices at a fair level during the lull of the industry. Issued after the assertion by Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, on the senate floor, yesterday, that the public patience was being exhausted by coal operators taking advantage of agreements reached with Mr. Hoover to boost their prices to retailers, the secretary's statement said that "some of the senators have been misinformed by misleading statements from a small group of retailers, who object strenuously to any attempt to restrain prices." The fact is, Mr. Hoover contended, that prices have receded from the level reached on May 15, and the public has been protected from a repetition of 1920 conditions.

PROTEST FIRING ON HOSPITAL

Aid of International Red Cross Sought for the Sick and Wounded

LONDON, June 8. (By the Associated Press).—The incident in Belfast Monday night when the Mater hospital was fired upon continues to agitate the Ulster capital, according to press despatches. The hospital authorities telegraphed the International Red Cross headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland, protesting against the occurrence, demanding the immediate protection of British troops and also asking the Red Cross to "come to the help of our sick and wounded." The Geneva office replied that it was ready to take all necessary steps and asked to whom the Red Cross communication should be addressed to which the hospital authorities replied the British government. The word "wounded" used in the message to Geneva referred to sufferers from previous street fights who are being cared for in the hospital.

Garbage Made His Hogs Drunk

FITCHBURG, June 9.—Acting on the complaint of the city garbage collector that home brew mash in garbage has made his hogs drunk, and that some of them have died as a result, the board of health has announced that no garbage containing "poisonous matter" will be collected hereafter. The complaint said that some of the young pigs have been so stunted in their growth by over indulgence in the alcoholic garbage that they have been unfit for sale.

City Council Holds Meeting

ground by granting the permit after receiving a favorable report from the board of health on the sanitation phase of the proposition. Although the permit was granted, the council received a petition in remonstrance, signed by 103 residents of Belvidere, most of whom live in Rogers street.

Other bright spots of the meeting were unsuccessful attempts to take from the table the mayor's nominations for a new board of assessors and failure on the part of Councilor Gallagher to force action on the mayor's order to transfer $20,000 from the overlay surplus account to an appropriation for the maintenance of the Memorial auditorium.

The mayor presented the name of Charles L. Gallagher for the position

GAINED EIGHT POUNDS IN TWO WEEKS' TIME

Boston Resident Says She Eats Better, Sleeps Better and Feels Better Than in Four Years—Dyspepsia Entirely Overcome

"I have actually gained eight pounds in two weeks' time and am now eating better, sleeping better and feeling better than I have in three or four years," said Mrs. Celeste Pell, 32 Prince street, Boston, Mass., recently, in telling of the benefits she has derived from the use of Tanlac.

"My stomach was in such a bad fix before I took Tanlac that I did not dare eat much of anything, for if I did I would have so much pain and distress from indigestion that I felt like I was going to die. I was so run down and weak from lack of nourishment that I could not do my housework."

"I was so nervous I couldn't keep still during the day nor sleep at night. I can see now if it had not been for Tanlac I would have had to give up entirely. I am now feeling strong and healthy and all the credit belongs to Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Adv.

of inspector of wires, but it was tabled at once.

The council was called to order by President Bagley at 8:48 o'clock.

Petitions for garage and gasoline licenses and street acceptances were referred to the board of public service.

Welch Seeks Back Salary

President Bagley read a claim from Redmond Welch for salary from Jan. 8 to May 20, 1922, as chief of police and asking for a hearing before the committee on claims.

The petition, written on the office stationery of Qua, Howard & Rogers, stated that inasmuch as Redmond Welch had been removed from the office of superintendent of police on Jan. 3 and subsequently reinstated after a hearing on May 20, compensation is asked based on section 36 of the city charter, in which it is provided that after a removed officer is reinstated by a two-thirds vote of the council, the removal order shall be invalid.

The petition bears the signature of Redmond Welch.

The period for which compensation is sought is 16 weeks and five days.

President Bagley read a lengthy report from the board of police on the matter of using Spaulding park as a burial ground for Polish people.

A petition was read, bearing the signatures of 103 residents of Belvidere, protesting against the granting of the permit.

On motion of Councilor McMeniman, the council unanimously voted to accept the report of the board and to grant the petition.

President Bagley read an opinion from City Solicitor Edward J. Tierney, which stated that when the mayor nominates an entire board at one time such as the board of assessors, the council should vote on the board as a unit, naming in each instance the present incumbent to be succeeded.

No Action on Assessors

Councilor McMeniman moved that the names of Edward Mulry, Wilfred Ashin and Clinton P. Tuttle, nominated by the mayor for the board of assessors, be taken for action.

He designated that Mr. Ashin succeed Albert Blazon, that Mr. Tuttle succeed Daniel E. Hogan and that Mr. Mulry succeed John H. Dwyer.

Discussion immediately arose, with Councilor Gallagher expressing the opinion that such a procedure might be illegal and would be likely to lead to embarrassing entanglements.

Councilor McMeniman's motion was put to a vote and failed, 10 to 5. Messrs. Adams, McMeniman, McLaughlin, Quinlan and Sullivan voting in favor.

Councilor Gallagher suggested that action be taken on the matter of transferring $20,000 from surplus overlay to an appropriation for auditorium maintenance, after President Bagley had read a communication from Mayor Brown urging that the money be so secured.

Councilor Gallagher stressed the point that he did not favor the transferring of $1400 for salary of the director of the city's employment bureau, but felt that some action should be taken on the auditorium money.

He suggested that the council might treat the appropriation as "unexpected expense" and legally take the money from the overlay account, which is supposed to be touched only in case of extraordinary or unforeseen emergencies.

President Bagley vigorously objected to any such proposition, stating that he still holds to the belief that a transfer of this kind would be illegal for the reason that it is not an "unexpected" but, rather, a "recurring" expense.

Moreover," said President Bagley "the city has not yet accepted the auditorium and I do not see how we are authorized to appropriate money for anything that is not city property. I am opposed to the suggestion."

Council Sustains President Bagley

Councilor Gallagher again stated that he would like to see something done to obtain the money necessary for maintaining the new building the remainder of the year and appealed from the ruling of the chair.

On a roll call vote, however, President Bagley was sustained.

The new zoning ordinance, given prominent publicity yesterday, was read by its title and referred to the committee on the year and the solicitor. A public hearing on the matter will be held on the evening of July 13.

The city clerk was authorized to advertise a temporary loan order for $100,000.

ST. LAWRENCE PROJECT

New York Official Replies
to Editorial Appearing in
The Lowell Sun

The following communication is received from the president of the New York state waterways conference committee:

30 Madison Avenue, New York City.
June 3, 1922.

Editor, The Sun, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: In discussing the proposed St. Lawrence seaway, The Sun in its editorial of May 23, takes the general position that power development upon the St. Lawrence is wholly dependent upon the plan proposed by the International joint commission.

The Sun points out that New England needs cheaper power, cheaper fuel and cheaper food, and in this contention you are evidently correct. What The Sun neglects to show is the connection between the St. Lawrence seaway plan as proposed by the International joint commission and New England power, fuel and food needs. As far as transportation is concerned, it is apparent that New England would not be supplied with either foodstuffs or fuel by means of ocean vessels sailing between cities on the Great Lakes and European ports. Neither is it at all likely that the cheapest way of reaching New England from Buffalo is to sail the entire length of the St. Lawrence and then down the coast to Boston. The New York State Barge canal certainly offers a more logical route.

As far as transportation is concerned, it is now possible for barges to haul bulk commodities from Buffalo to Montreal as cheaply as these cargoes can be carried by ocean-going vessels, even when the re-loading charges are considered. Even though the St. Lawrence were a seaway, bulk cargoes arriving by water would reach Montreal in lake or canal craft.

New England has just grounds for complaint, however, on the score that present water facilities have not now being utilized. Neither the barge canal nor the St. Lawrence canals are being utilized to more than 1-18 of their capacity. Nevertheless, rates by water are lower than rail rates and as traffic grows, water rates tend to fall.

The power proposition is a different one entirely. Canada has never regarded the transportation features of the proposed St. Lawrence seaway seriously. That, however, is not the case as far as power is concerned. The potential horse power that could be developed on the first three sections of the proposed seaway improvement is estimated at 2,500,000. Of this amount only 260,000 has been developed. The first three sections lie wholly within the province of Quebec. It is not necessary for Canada to negotiate a treaty with the United States in order to develop the horse power of the St. Lawrence between Montreal and Lake St. Francis. Canada, however, has had considerable experience with public developments. She has found that plants developed under governmental auspices have not been able to furnish power to the consumer at rates as low as those quoted by the plants developed under private auspices. Many Canadians, therefore, are inclined to take the view that power developments conducted under international auspices would be no more efficient than power developments conducted under national auspices.

With reference to the international section of the proposed power development, there is an entire absence of agreement among authorities. Colonel Hugh L. Cooper takes the general view that if the International commission follows its present plan, its power plant developments on the St. Lawrence will not be able to compete with steam plants. Col. Cooper may be wrong. Someone is mistaken.

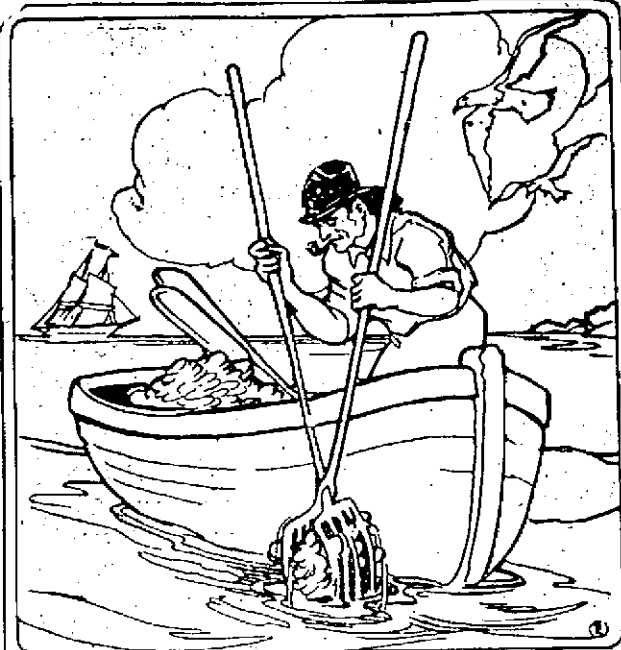

Arthur Surveyor, vice president of the Engineering Institute of Canada, Col. Cooper, and H. deB. Parsons, all engineers of note, place the cost of the St. Lawrence development at $1,300,000,000 as a minimum. The engineers of the International joint commission place the maximum cost at less than $550,000,000. Very clearly there is need for a very careful checking of figures. Fortunately perhaps, Canada's decision not to negotiate a treaty with the United States at this time affords a period of pause during which facts and figures can be checked. New England transportation and power needs are compelling. It does not follow that those needs can be completely met only by giving complete assent to the St. Lawrence waterway plans as they now stand. The Canadian government has decided that it does not need this waterway just now and it would undoubtedly be worth while if the American public inquired carefully into the reasons that impelled our Canadian cousins to reach that decision.

Yours sincerely,
JOHN D. DUNLOP, Chairman.

Radio

Radio Cadet Corps Is Start for National Army of Radio Fans

A DETAIL OF THE RADIO CADET CORPS. ARROW SHOWS COLONEL ERNEST E. SCHEUBEL. AT RIGHT, CADET IRVING GLANTZ. 19, HOLDING WHAT IS CLAIMED TO BE THE FIRST RADIO SET.

By COL. ERNEST E. SCHEUBEL
Commander, Radio Cadet Corps
NEW YORK, June 9.—Eventually everyone will be a radio fan.
So why not start breaking him in early?

That's what we are doing in our Radio Cadet Corps, the first organization of its kind in the country.
At the age of 8 we begin teaching the youngsters the fundamentals of wireless. By the time he is 12 or 13, he is a full-fledged fan—knowing enough about a radio set to make practical use of it.
He can pick up his outfit anywhere. He can "listen in" and receive not only the broadcast programs but the code messages that are flashing through the air at all times.

The call of radio seems universal. The boy in the crowded city is just as keen to become an adept at it as is his brother on the farm.

Organization

Our corps was organized in a congested Brooklyn district in 1919. The boys had heard so much about signaling in the war that they wanted to try their own hands at it.
Each week they would meet in a room of the public library. There they learned the code.

There was little equipment, so some of the boys started to make their own sets. Others became interested. When the radio craze struck the country last fall, these boys were ready. They organized new units.

There are several hundred in the corps now—and the number is growing rapidly.

I see no reason why similar groups should not be organized throughout the country.

For disciplinary reasons it is suggested that the corps be formed on a military basis, with some distinctive uniform to give the group a solidarity. It will help make them snappy.

At the recent radio show in New York our boys won many prizes for their exhibits.

We are now going on "week-end hikes. No matter where we camp out, the boys are always able to keep in touch with their homes—by radio.

It is rapidly becoming the new outdoor American sport.

By PAUL F. GODLEY
America's Foremost Radio Authority
Eventually means will be found whereby radio messages will be sent in comparative secrecy.

Many steps tending toward this end have already been announced. But the chief drawback to all present methods has been the expense of equipment. There are two methods of insuring secrecy in the transmission of radio messages.

The first—the one which is most likely to be used in the near future—consists in broadcasting a type of wave which cannot be translated by the receiver unless that instrument has been so constructed as to contain a "key."

In installations of this type, the radio wave is produced in the usual manner. The voice which is to be carried by the wave is thrown upon it. Then the wave is distorted in a way known only to the receiver.

Upon arriving at the distant station, the receiver's signal is again "distorted" in a manner exactly equal and opposite to the first distortion, with the result that the telephone signal is intelligible.

This type of secrecy has the drawback that, in addition to going di-

A second method of sending radio messages in secrecy and one, upon which a great deal of effort has been spent, is that of directing the radio wave along a given path so that the transmitted energy travels along that path alone. The message is capable of reception only by stations which are in that path.

Tried Out

This would reduce to a great extent the possibility of radio telephones conversations being intercepted by those for whom they were not intended. Transmitting systems of this type were used by our expeditionary forces on the western front with considerable success. It should be but a few years before the high-powered stations which plan to provide inter-continental radio telephone service will be utilizing systems of this sort.

A combination of these two systems would insure practically complete secrecy in radio communication.

Some such combination undoubtedly will be perfected by radio engineers as simple methods and easier ways of performing the complicated functions of a radio transmitter and receiver are discovered.

THE FARMER'S ISOLATION

"The radio will destroy the isolation of the farm. It will bring to rural dwellers more of the advantages of the city. It will furnish a flood of sunshine to the benighted farmer and his family. The emancipation of their souls from the sordid round of drudgery has been realized in the radio."

The above is the tone of newspaper articles one sees in connection with the remarkable development of the wireless telephone. But you remember, do you not, that the same claims were made for the rural mail delivery, telephone, the automobile and good roads. This matter of isolation is relative, and the degree depends on the viewpoint. Lots of people who live in the country are not isolated because they are in close proximity to the greatest thing in the universe—life. They have the head and hand to grow. They enjoy the symphony orchestra, the birds and the painting of the sunset more than they would enjoy a jazz orchestra or a modern movie thriller, though they have even these as often as they like. So, maybe lots of the sympathy that is wasted on the poor isolated farmer who doesn't have the privilege of hanging to a strap on a crowded street car, or of being rushed into an early grave through fright from automobiles at the crowded crossings, is not fully appreciated by the ones for whom it is meant. Maybe they consider it better to be "isolated" from the cities to the source of all existence—the soil—Farm Life.

DEVELOPMENT OF RADIO

National Radio Chamber of Commerce Factor in Radio Development

NEW YORK, June 9.—The national radio chamber of commerce is negotiating now with the various government departments, such as the bureau of commerce, department of commerce, United States Signal Corps and United States navy department, with a view to co-operating with these departments in the standardization of radio apparatus, methods of manufacture, methods of testing, etc.

The national radio chamber of commerce and any other manufacturers interested, may avail themselves of the services of such a laboratory for the purpose of testing, calibrating, and making such researches as may be desired.

The national radio chamber of commerce plans to hold a convention in the future, at which time, it is planned to have a large meeting of the established and reputable radio manufacturers of the entire United States.

It is the general consensus of opinion of the government organizations which have been interviewed with reference to the National radio chamber of commerce, that the movement is the greatest advance in the development of sound radio business, manufacturing and organization principles, that has ever been undertaken.

W. H. Burdison, of Summer street is a real dyed-in-the-wool radio fan, having recently installed a little crystal receiving set, with the antenna wire running from the roof of his own house to that of another adjoining building. Because of the congestion in this district, disturbances are sometimes felt, but not to any great extent or for any great length of time.

In conjunction with George Wagner, a close friend, Mr. Burdison once experienced with a self-made set, and met with a certain degree of success. Today, however, he has a manufactured set which, he says, will compare favorably with any in the city. Though not a member of the Lowell Radio club, Mr. Burdison is loud in his praise of the work of that organization.

CHINA PROVIDES NEW FIELD FOR RADIO

To China goes the honor of installing the longest commercial radio telephone circuit in the world. Radio telephone sets have been installed at Peking and Tientsin, covering a gap of ninety miles. These have been connected with the regular telephone lines of the Chinese government.

Musical and speeches, aside from the regular commercial business, have already been broadcast. Manufacturers of radios in America report many orders already being received for small crystal sets and it is only a matter of time before the youth of China will be experimenting with and operating radio apparatus.

A NEW SCHEME FOR "WIRED WIRELESS"

A new scheme for "wired wireless" is in contemplation by certain radio experts, by means of which millions of farmers now out of the regular broadcasting range will be enabled to "listen in" to market and agricultural reports with small crystal sets, which have a receiving range of 15 to 25 miles. This scheme takes into consideration the broadcasting of speech by means of the broadcast power lines which cover the country with a network of wires. A sending station may be at one end of a wire which penetrates many miles into the "backwoods" and any farmer who is located less than thirty miles or so from this wire, anywhere along the route, can "listen in" with ease on a low-priced crystal outfit.

One man there is in the newspaper business who knows every circus performer and circus performance of worth that has been given in the last quarter of a century and he is Otto

Floto, the famous sporting editor of the Denver Post and the Kansas City Post—for circuses have been as much an obsession with Floto as sports. He sees every show that is given, often traveling a thousand miles to look at some new act, or to appraise a performance that is supposed to be a bit out of the ordinary.

And of all his experiences, the one outstanding thing of the circus world, to Otto Floto, has been the performance of "Poodles" Hanneford, who is coming to Lowell with the Sells-Floto circus on Saturday, June 10.

Writing in his own paper some time ago, Floto said: "As we turn back the clock of the days of long ago, when childhood's hour was filled with golden dreams; when we sat up all night to watch the circus come to town and experienced the thrills known only to expectant youth; as we witnessed the unloading of the caravan, memory recalls the glories and feats of James Robinson, the graceful Charles Fitch, the dynamic Billy Dupin, the artist Robert Hickey, Sr., and the picturesque Willie Selin."

"We must concede they were marvelous equestrians, but they were mediocre compared with the wonderful

Poodles Hanneford of our own time and day.

Some of them could ride as well and as gracefully as Poodles, but none of them possessed the rare artistic comedy mixed with the most grotesque buffoonery and extraordinary feats of horsemanship that Poodles Hanneford of today may boast of.

"Poodles' livelihood does not depend alone on his skill as a horseman. He is funnier than Charlie Chaplin and can perform stunts Charlie could never duplicate. He can stop right into Fred Stone's shoes and more than duplicate that comedian's performance."

"They say ambition harassed the career of Caesar, but it is not going to harass or spoil Poodles Hanneford, who is an ordinary mortal and wears the honors which are heaped upon him, even though he aspires to be recognized as the world's greatest pantomimic artist."

This parade will form at 10 o'clock at the old fair grounds on Gorham street and will march down Central to Merrimack, to Dutton, to Middlesex, to Gorham and back to the grounds.

Chief of Police Thomas R. Atkinson has limited the permit. He has also detailed a large force of officers and plain clothes men for duty during the parade and at the circus grounds.

TEAMSTER'S LIFE SAVED

Writes Letter That Is Worth Reading Very Carefully
Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.: I was afflicted with a very severe sore on my leg for years. I am a teamster. I tried all medicines and salves, but without success. I tried doctors, but they failed to cure me. I couldn't sleep for many nights from pain. Doctors said I could not live for more than two years. Finally Peterson's Ointment was recommended to me and by its use the sore was entirely healed. Thankfully yours, William Hanne, West Park, Ohio, March 22, 1919, care P. O. Box 120, Box 120.
Peterson says: "I am proud of the above letter and have hundreds of others that tell of wonderful cures of Eczema, Ulcers and Skin Diseases." THE NUT BROTHERS (Ches and Wal)

WANT MORE WAGES
A dozen laborers employed by the Ward Construction company in the erection of a new mill for the Talbot Mills company in North Billerica went on strike yesterday noon after being refused an increase in wages. The men were receiving 30 cents an hour and they filed a demand for 40 cents an hour.

WASH. PARK IMPROVEMENTS
The Washington park committee of the Lowell Highlands Improvement association will meet this evening in the Metro Dime de Lourdes parish hall in East Pine street for the purpose of discussing improvements at the park.

AUTO DEALERS ASSOCIATION
Last night at the chamber of commerce rooms the Auto Dealers' association held its regular monthly meeting. President George White was in the chair, and a list of routine business was transacted. L. V. Sanders, secretary of the Used Cars Association in Boston, addressed the members at the conclusion of the business meeting, and his remarks on auto statistics and other topics of interest to those present were most enlightening.

Jinx Kirksey Keeps on Trying

"JINX" KIRKSEY

Jinx Kirksey, who spent three college years at Stanford trying to beat Charlie Paddock to the top in the 100-yard dash, is still trying this season to equal the champion's 9.3-second record.

Kirksey has been practicing the hundred in phenomenal form this season—a fast 9.4—despite some trouble with weak tendons in one leg.

IN RETIREMENT

Man of War is living in retirement at present on a stud farm in Kentucky.

Visitors drop in from every state in the Union to see this, the greatest specimen of racing horseflesh of the century. Many of those who come to pay tribute never were interested in racing in the least until Man of War's triumph attracted their attention.

On the farm he's known as "Red." His constant attendant is his special groom, a deep brunet, of course, this being in "Old Kentucky," who answers, when formally addressed, to the name of "Buck," but who's much better known as "Po'k Chops."

"Red" exercises always under the saddle except during the grazing period, as in his racing days.

Paddock's body, just as the latter touched the string.

Each time, however, there has been just a little margin in Paddock's favor at the end of the lane. Was Kirksey "jinxed?"

Kirksey has been practicing the hundred in phenomenal form this season—a fast 9.4—despite some trouble with weak tendons in one leg.

THEIR FIRST COMMUNION

Tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock a large class of children will receive first communion at St. Michael's church. In preparation for the reception of this sacrament, a two-day retreat was held, closing at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Several children of the Sacred Heart parish will also make their first communion at the 8 o'clock mass tomorrow.

Commemoration Tablet to
Be Installed in Corridor of
State House

Symbolic Design of Memorial
Tablet Will Represent
Dying Mass. Soldier

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, June 8.—Within another month, a tablet commemorative of the sacrifices made by chaplains of Massachusetts regiments in the world war will have been placed in a corridor of the state house.

This, however, assured today, when announcement was made that the legislative committee on state house, the art commission, and the special legislative commission appointed last year have agreed upon the form of tablet, and upon its location.

The symbolic design of the memorial tablet will represent a dying Massachusetts soldier, who has been carried by two of the chaplains to the protecting structure of a shell hole or dug-out, where with serious faces they were tenderly supporting him as life ebbs away. The soldier's face is the artist's conception of the representative type of the Massachusetts service man, and the committee appointed to select it feels that the artist has caught in an excellent manner an expression of Christlike sacrifice. As one member of the committee expressed it: "The whole design makes one think of Christ being taken down from the cross."

The entire committee feels that every soldier who made the supreme sacrifice is indeed worthy of this holy analogy, and that he did indeed, like the Christ, give his life for the world. Under the plan agreed upon by the committee and the art commission, the entire corridor on the third floor, surrounding the main stairway of the state house, will ultimately be used for tablets and mural paintings, to make a Hall of Fame, commemorating the deeds of sacrifice and valor performed by Massachusetts troops in the world war.

The first panel in the corridor, directly at the left of the south entrance to the chamber of the house of representatives, has been selected by the commission as the site for the chaplain's tablet, and it is hoped that it may be in place before July 1.

In submitting its report to the legislature today, the special commission, composed of Senator Raymond H. Trevelyan of Marblehead and Thomas F. Donovan of Boston, Representatives Roland D. Sawyer of Ware and Alfred M. Bessette of New Bedford, Rev. Murry W. Dewart of Winchester, and Fr. Michael J. O'Connor of Cambridge, concludes with these words:

No Religious Lines

"Religious history is not always pleasant reading. The jealousy and strife among the sects and denominations, even persecution and hatred, have been a too apparent fact. Regrettable as the religious past has been, it was wiped out by the spirit of the chaplains 'over there.' To quote words of Father DeValle: 'Over there we knew no racial or religious lines. We were all Americans.'"

"Inspired by one aim, following one noble ideal, our chaplains forgot the petty things, and went among their men as comrades with one another and with every soldier. Only the great naked facts could stand, and chaplains were not 'Catholic' or 'Protestant' in 'No Man's Land'; they were just 'Christians' and religious helpers. Hebrew and Gentile, Catholic and Protestant, united in working side by side to minister to their men, and to take to the aid of our nation in arms the strength and fervor of religious faith. When their men were cold and hungry they kept their hearts warm and fed them on the Bread of Life; when their men were weak and tired they refreshed them from the Fountain of Strength. Where shells burst and men fell torn and bleeding they calmly ministered, heroic witnesses of the power of the faith they preached."

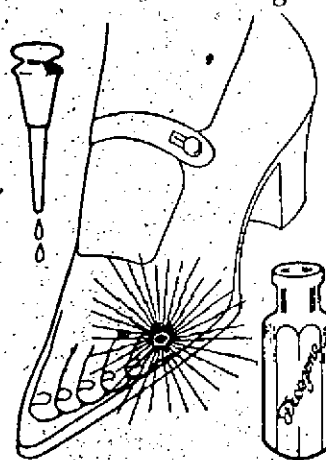

Chaplains Commemorated

The chaplains to be commemorated are:

Reverend Captain Walton S. Danker lived his boyhood days in Pittsfield. He later attended schools in Boston and was ordained to the ministry of the Episcopal church in 1901. In 1901 he was appointed chaplain of the 8th Massachusetts Infantry by Governor John L. Bates, and in 1909 he became chaplain of the 2nd Regiment, as chaplain of which he went to the Mexican border. On March 25, 1917, the 2nd Regiment was taken over into federal service, and on August 5 the regiment was merged into the 104th Regiment of the 16th Division. Chaplain Danker was one of the 116 men given the war cross by France for heroism in the Appomattox woods in April of 1918. He fell in action, mortally wounded by a piece of shell, June 18, 1918, and was the first American chaplain to be killed in action. He was buried where he fell, but his body has since been returned to Worcester.

YACHT RACES FOR

RAYSIDE, N. J., June 8.—Granted a light breeze today in the second race of the series for the International model yacht cup, E. A. Bull, Brooklyn amateur, expects his Polkadot to duplicate its triumph in the first contest yesterday over Endeavor, William J. Daniels' British challenger.

Yesterday's run, over a leeward and windward course, began tediously and ended in a thrilling dash by the Deering Polkadot in a beat-home before the wind, three-quarters of a mile ahead of the Endeavor, but with

Rickenbacker Continues His Flight

CHICAGO, June 9.—Eddie Rickenbacker reached here at 7 o'clock this morning in his round-the-country flight and left an hour and a half later for Omaha and Denver, expecting to reach the latter place late this afternoon. Tomorrow he will go to Salt Lake, planning to reach San Francisco in the afternoon. Rickenbacker said the damage caused his plane in Detroit yesterday when it was struck by lightning had been repaired. He left Niles, Mich., at 3.45 a. m., for Chicago.

THE FEAST OF
CORPUS CHRISTI

A procession, church services and banquet will mark the observance of the feast of Corpus Christi by the members of San Antonio de Padua society Sunday, June 18. This is an annual event with the members of the society, but this year they plan to make the observance the best ever.

According to present arrangements the members of the society will gather in their rooms in Summer street at 10 o'clock and after forming in line, they will march to St. Peter's church in Gorham street, where they will attend the parish mass in a body. They will be headed by a brass band. The sermon at the church will be given by the pastor, Rev. D. J. Keleher. At the close of the mass the men will return to their headquarters, where dinner will be served, followed by post-prandial exercises.

LOCAL BOY SCOUT DRIVE

Campaign to Raise Money for Boy Scout Movement Opened Today

That a good report of the money raised by the workers for the local Boy Scout movement may be submitted and tabulated for next Monday night's meeting, to be held in the chamber of commerce headquarters at 8 o'clock, those who started to solicit contributions are busily engaged today in their visits to Lowell citizens from whom contributions are expected. Many encouraging reports regarding the cordial manner in which these workers are being received have already been submitted to headquarters, and an excellent start toward the goal, $6000, is expected at the first meeting on Monday.

At last night's meeting of the executive committee Dr. J. H. Lambert told how simple a matter it was to do the work, if one but gets before the people. "I have not been refused a single subscription," said the doctor, "and the most encouraging thing is the mental attitude of all whom I approach regarding the feeling of the need of this program of citizenship and character building here in this city. Lowell has the questionable distinction of being the largest city in the country without a council of scouts. There are plenty of boys who, during their leisure time, are doing things which may or may not be lasting, beneficial results in their lives. The aim of the scout program is to so fill a boy's idle hours with things that are constructive that he will not have any time to spare doing things of doubtful merit."

The Chelmsford committee will meet tonight, to consider their part in the program. Mr. Read I. Ripley has charge of the Scout troop in Chelmsford, and has been doing excellent work. Calling together his supporters, he, together with Deputy Regional Scout Executive W. E. Brown, will go over with them to discuss the part they may play in making this program of service available to more boys in the Lowell district.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION
This year's celebration of the glorious Fourth of July in the city itself is concerned, will be limited to band concerts, bell ringing and a display of fireworks on the South common in the evening. There is an appropriation of $100 available which will be spent entirely for fireworks.

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or straggled appearance, this simple mixture was applied, with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe. Improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair. A well known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. It's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through the hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color, and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

THE POSTAL SAVINGS BANK

Reporters Are Given Demonstration of the Finger Print System

That a forged check or order would never get by at the postal savings bank in any of the national postoffice banks was conclusively proven to a couple of reporters this morning when Postmaster X. A. Delisle, in order to impress their minds with the excellence of the national postoffice banks, conducted them personally to the bank quarters in the local postoffice and, with the assistance of Henry J. Maguire, chief of the department, demonstrated the finger print system which has been in use since Dec. 15, 1921.

When a prospective depositor wished to deposit money with the postal savings bank, he is required to sign his deposit card, if he is able, but if he cannot do so, there is no further need of making a cross or being identified. All depositors are required to impress the prints of their right and left index fingers on the bottom of the card, forming a more positive, and identical check in the department, demonstrated the finger print system which has been in use since Dec. 15, 1921.

The plan is of even greater service in withdrawing money than in any other way. With the finger prints newly taken on the back of the certificate of withdrawal in lieu of a signature if the depositor cannot write, there can be no question of identification, and, on the other hand, no danger of releasing money to the wrong party, whether or not he has witnesses.

It will be seen that the system is somewhat different from that of the police, who take all ten fingers, but the method of registering is the same as far as it goes. The print is taken by requiring the depositor to roll his finger from one side to the other on an inked pad, and by a similar motion the print is transferred to the plain space at the bottom of the deposit card or withdrawal certificate as the case may be. Thus the clerks in charge are absolutely certain in giving out money.

Those of the bank staff who are experts in the finger print system are Foreman John J. Murphy, Henry J. Maguire and Miss Annabel M. Coleman.

Continued

and obligations in the future, as patriotically as it has done in the past."

Mr. Harding spoke in part as follows:

"One who possesses even a general familiarity with the contributions of Princeton to the establishment of the foundations and the sturdy upholding of our national institutions, must surely be pardoned a full measure of pride in being chosen to receive the distinction you today are conferring upon me. Standing here before the background of these illustrious traditions and eminent accomplishments in which beats the heart and lives the soul of the university, one cannot but feel that to have deserved this one ought to have served well indeed. If there be magnifying as to the merit of service in the past, surely this distinction must inspire its recipient to redoubled effort to prove worthy of it."

"Wise men have always been wont to illumine the uncertain paths of the future with the beacons of experience shining from out the past. So it is good that men who have been called to the responsibilities of large affairs should come now and then to these academic precincts to refresh their spirits, to take on for a little time the hues of your atmosphere, the cast of your thought, the inspiring quality of your mind, and the calm deliberation of your judgments. In the rich and fruitful intellectual soil of our universities we may trace the germination of ideas, systems, institutions, which have been greatly responsible for the advancement of human kind, and to our universities we must turn, in hope and trust, that they will give to the future men of the discipline, the unselfishness, the straight vision and clear understanding needed in coping with the complex problems which future surely holds for them."

"The colleges have sent out their sons by the thousands, to perform the most responsible and arduous service in all the wars of the republic; and uniformly it has been marked by a zeal which has inspired the nation, and the whole community. Yet more important, perhaps, has been their part in the direction of civic interests and activities; in the constructive tasks of the state in building the commerce and industry, developing the culture and framing the public institutions of our country."

Dean West Pays Tribute

In presenting President Harding for the honorary degree of doctor of laws, Dean West said:

Whatever differing party judgments may properly be held as to policies, our people are one in honoring his (Mr. Harding's) readiness to seek the best advice, his strict endeavor to find the real truth, his capable handling of complicated difficulties, his immediate patience and self-effacing modesty. The sweeping away of extravagant waste and the forming of a budget system show him a master of finance. His vote as senator for the anti-strike clause in the railroad bill and his at-

PIANO RECITAL BY PUPILS OF MR. HELLER

At Edison hall of St. Anne's parish last evening, the pupils of William C. Heller gave a recital in piano music that was highly enjoyed by a large audience, made up of the friends of the teacher and his large class of pupils. The program was a very pretentious one, presenting many features that indicated the careful training under the skilled direction of Mr. Heller as well as hard work on the part of the pupils themselves. Raymond Martin, violinist, accompanied by Miss Grace Martin at the piano, assisted in last evening's program. On the previous evening a recital was also given and the pupils were assisted by St. Anne's choir of men and boys. On both occasions the performance was highly creditable both to teacher and pupils.

In the first recital Mr. Heller's more advanced pupils appeared and last evening the junior set. The main program was as follows:

VERDICT FOR THE DEFENDANT

In the case of the Waterhouse Welding Co. of Boston, vs. James Reagan of this city, which went to trial at the civil session of the superior court yesterday, the jury late yesterday afternoon returned a verdict for the defendant. The case was an action of contract by which the plaintiff company sought to recover the sum of $200, claiming that it placed a welding machine in the establishment of the defendant and that the latter failed to return the said machine within the time specified in the contract.

There was no case tried today for shortly after the opening of court this morning Justice Lawton, who is scheduled to report to the criminal session in Boston next Monday, adjourned court until Monday, June 19, at which time Justice Flynn will occupy the bench.

Attitude as president on the bonus reveal his quiet courage, and the great work of the conference for limiting armaments, assembled at his call, has won the gratitude of the world.

"His charter in things political is the constitution. His guide in things spiritual is the bible. First seeking to make American liberty sure, he is well aware that charity begins at home, but does not end there. He stands in the tradition of Lincoln, a man of the people, leading the people, heading the will of the people and the need of the world."

THE STORE THAT REDUCED THE COST OF LIVING
155-161 GORHAM ST.
TEL. 6600

Something to Think About

When we opened this store our prices were much lower than were being charged anywhere else in the city. Naturally the other dealers promptly reduced prices to protect themselves—but not before the buying public realized to whom the credit was due.

This Square-Dealing Store is being complimented daily by hundreds of customers for reducing the cost of living in Lowell. Our policy is to maintain the lowest prices in the city on Quality Merchandise. Our connection with one of the largest Department Food Stores in New England enables us to do this. It's simple enough. Satisfaction guaranteed or Money Cheerfully Refunded.

POPE PIUS ECONOMIZES

Drawing the Purse Strings of Vatican Much Closer Than His Predecessor

ROME, June 8. (By the Associated Press.)—Pope Pius is showing his power of organization and economy even in trivial matters, drawing the purse strings of the Vatican much closer than his predecessor.

Benedict XV habitually passed with only little examination, the estimates for upkeep, furniture, and repairs. Pius has fixed $600,000, equal to about $12 monthly, for ordinary small repairs, and has appointed a committee of cardinals to examine every detail and decide whether it is absolutely necessary.

The pope is attempting to ascertain whether it would not be cheaper to abolish the Vatican stables, replacing the old equipages with a couple of automobiles.

ANIMALS ESCAPE HEAT PROSTRATION

Despite the fact that the weather has been unusually warm and the humidity great on one or two days, not a single heat prostration of animals has been reported to the humane society agent. This is considered a bit out of the ordinary, but is explained by the fact that animals, especially horses, are being less utilized for laboring duties than in the past, and the fact that animal owners in general have heeded the advice given by the society regarding some of animals during extremely hot spells. Relative to horses the advice is to sponge them off frequently, regulate their feed according to the amount of work, see that they are kept in the shade; do not crowd them with too much work, give them plenty of rest between long and hard hauls. As to dogs, keep long-haired ones closely clipped, keep them off the hot sidewalks, bathe frequently, keep on a tight diet, keep shaded during hotter portions of the day.

Following the above advice is almost a sure preventative for heat prostration, according to Dr. William S. Eaton, veterinary, who does most of the work for the humane society.

One point which Dr. Eaton made, which will bring relief to many people, is one dealing with the actions of dogs during hot weather. A month or two back there was a great deal of agitation over mad dogs. The doctor points out that dogs, overcome with the heat, especially young dogs, are apt to froth at the mouth and take fits. This does not mean that they are mad, and a good dunking with cold water will generally bring them around.

One of the reasons for heat prostrations in dogs is too much freedom in running about as they please. Dogs that run on hot sidewalks and hot surfaces are subject to prostration much more quickly than those which are chained during the warmer hours of the day and allowed to roam a bit in fields and cool places toward evening. The veterinary pointed out that the heat near the sidewalk was four or five degrees greater than at a height reached by humans, which, on an average is four feet farther away from the pavements. As dogs have no foreign covering for their feet, the heat is more easily absorbed by them.

LOWELL OFFICERS ORDERED TO DUTY

Several Lowell officers of the 94th Division have been ordered to active duty tomorrow to attend a conference of the division at the state house, Boston. The 94th division is a unit of the 11th Corps of Reserves, commanded by Major General Edwards. Among the officers called are First Lieut. Joseph M. Reilly; Second Lieut. James Hogan and Second Lieut. John J. Wallace, all of the 378th Infantry. It is understood that camp plans will be discussed.

PUBLIC SERVICE BOARD HEARINGS

The board of public service will hold hearings on the following petitions on Thursday night, June 16, at 7:30 o'clock.

Thomas A. Judge, that a sidewalk of edge stones and cinders be laid in front of 101 Mt. Holyoke street.

Thomas F. Garvey, that edge stones be laid in Highland avenue, 20 feet north from Lot 48.

Arthur L. Eno, that a bridge be built across Beaver brook to connect Beaver and Martin streets.

Rev. C. J. Galligan, that edge stones be laid on the north side of D street, between Stevens and Chauncy streets.

John F. Flynn, that Ross avenue be accepted from Walker to Waughton street.

Horne Coal Co. and L. T. Mackay, that a concrete sidewalk be laid from 23 Wedge street to Parker street.

William B. Ready, that a cinder sidewalk be laid in both sides of Bertha street, from Walker to Waughton.

Ed. Pleasant Golf club, that Staples street be laid out and accepted.

George L. Campbell, that Belrose avenue be accepted from Waverly ave. to Knapp avenue and that Wellington avenue be accepted from Rogers street to Fort Hill park.

Timothy M. Tully, that Ellis court be accepted from Mammoth road to Watertown street.

George McElroy, that Mt. Pleasant street be accepted.

James T. Shea, that a sewer be laid in Ursula street northerly from Varnum ave. 400 ft.

Joseph Oelward, that a sewer in Dalton street be extended to drain No. 18.

Alice E. H. Prindle, that a sewer in Parker street be extended to Pitty st.

Wm. M. Bailey, that a sewer in Columbia street be extended.

THE WORLD A SMALL PLACE AFTER ALL

It has often been said that the world is a small place after all, and in substantiation of this claim, Mrs. Johan de la Parra of 1245 Middlesex street, cites a case of interest locally.

In the radiob department of The Sun, on Saturday, June 3, there appeared an article and accompanying photograph of a youthful radio prodigy in far-off Los Angeles.

It so happens that the youth, Bobbie Garcia, is the nephew of Mrs. de la Parra.

When she first saw the photo, the local woman recognized the father of the boy, who also appeared with his son and wife under the caption of the "Garcia Radio Family."

and was delighted at the prominence and fame attained by her brother's son who, at the age of eight, is the world's youngest licensed operator.

Mr. Garcia, the father, was at one time manager of the Charlie Chaplin studio in Los Angeles, and is himself an electrical "wizard" of national repute.

Delorme Murder Trial Postponed

MONTREAL, June 9.—Trial of Rev. Adelard Delorme for the murder of his half brother, Raoul, today was adjourned until Tuesday by Justice Monet in the Court of King's Bench. The delay was asked by the prosecution, because alienists employed by the crown have not been able to complete their examination of the accused.

No Change in Manchester Strike Situation

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 9.—Conditions in the textile struggle which has already extended through 16 weeks, were reported quiet and but slightly changed in strike centers throughout New Hampshire today.

In this city, stipulations of the injunction granted yesterday prohibiting picketing of mills and molestation of employees were being strictly observed by strike sympathizers. A slightly increased number of workers was reported. Mill officials in Newmarket, Somersworth, Nashua and Dover said that the situation was unchanged with the exception of a steady increase in the number reporting for employment. Exeter and Suncook operators said no definite date for reopening their mills had been set.

KINGSTON INN SHOOTING MOVE TO END TEXTILE STRIKE IN R. I. TOWNS

CHARGE OF MURDER AGAINST HERMAN ALHEIT TO BE CHANGED TO MANSLAUGHTER

PLYMOUTH, June 9.—An agreement between counsel by which the charge of murder will be changed to manslaughter in the case of Herman Alheit of New York, alias Richard D. Bowland, and James W. Wickham, for shooting Edward G. Cardinal at the Kingston Inn, last December, was officially announced today. It was said that under the agreement the defendants would be allowed to enter pleas of guilty to manslaughter charges when the superior court convenes next Monday. By direction of Judge Nelson P. Brown, Clerk of the Court, Hobart has rescinded an order calling for the assembling of 350 takersmen for the trial.

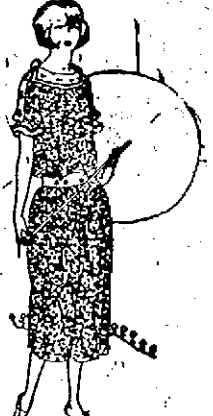

PAWTUCKET, R. I., June 9.—Another attempt was made today to settle the textile strike so far as it affects the villages of Ashton, Berkeley and Lonsdale. A communication, signed by Rev. Thomas J. Fitzpatrick, Rev. A. M. Hilliker, former Gov. Lucius F. C. Garvin and Judge Frank E. Fitzsimmons, has been sent to the Goddard Brothers, who control the mills in these villages, and to the local branch of the United Textile Workers of America suggesting that a settlement of the trouble on the basis of a 48-hour working week and a wage reduction of 10 per cent be considered.

The strikers in these villages will meet later today to take action on the communication.

BOYLE AGAIN LOCAL CHAMP

Acre Lad Jumped Into Lead in Second Round and Held it to the Finish

Boxing in the form that brought him triumphs over notable lightweights in past years, Philney Boyle staged a most remarkable "come-back" last night at the Crescent rink and regained the local lightweight championship by defeating Young George Gardner, his opponent of three weeks ago, in a terrific ten round bout before a good sized crowd of wildly enthusiastic fans.

Boyle entered the ring with his "back to the wall" strategy. A second defeat by the youthful Upper Merion street lad meant certain elimination from the local pugilistic picture, and Boyle was determined to regain his lost laurels. He set out to give his opponent no quarter and from the second round until the end he held the crowd in a bewitching space. He fought as he did on the memorable night when he jumped into the breach as an eleventh hour substitute a few years ago, and defeated Frankie Britt, then the New England title holder, only to be deprived of the decision.

Boyle's famous left of by-gone days, so conspicuously inactive three weeks ago, owing to an injury, was in form again. He jabbed rapidly, and with the right was always well timed and invariably reached its objective. His generosity and his ability to step back at times had his opponent in a bad way. He was the Philney of old, and as such Gardner had no chance to beat him last evening.

Young Gardner, who had been down "two times" and on the hour wore on the punishment he assimilated weakened him. It was his intention to enter the ring at about 12, but he took off six pounds in the last few days and tipped the beam at 12 1/2 at the ringside. Boyle came in at 13 1/2.

Gardner showed up well at long range boxing, using his long left to the head advantageously. But on the inside Boyle was his master, and the blows to the mid-riff slowed him up as the rounds were told. Gardner had a shade in the opening round, but from then on Boyle held the advantage.

The decision to Boyle was well received and both victor and vanquished left the ring amid tremendous applause.

In the semi-final Benny Nelson, who substituted for Jimmy Dennis, who injured his hand while training, won over his rival, Fighting George Parker in eight rounds.

Martin Flaherty, Jr., added another victory to his list by scoring a two-round knockout over Johnny Herbert in the first preliminary, which went the distance, six rounds.

Kid Goodman, the veteran Boston boxer, referred to as "the old man" with Frank Murphy of Lowell and John McDougall of Haverhill the judges.

LOWELL DOGS WIN IN LAWRENCE

Among the prize winners at the dog show held last night in Lawrence were a number of local dogs. "Gold Dollar," owned by John Davis took a first prize as being the best over four months of age in the show. Stephen Watson's "Old Timer" won a first in the Boston terrier puppy class. Edward Harrity's white English bull "Mickey" captured three firsts as did Fred Humphries prize pomeranian.

BILLERICA DEFEATS TYNGSBORO

The baseball game between the Billerica and Tyngsboro teams of the New England League played in North Billerica last evening resulted in a victory for the Billerica players, the score being 13 to 2.

MANY HOMERS MADE YESTERDAY

Ruth Lands His Fourth of Ruth Lands Fourth—Others by Smith of Giants and Smith of Red Sox

NEW YORK, June 9.—The suspension and fine imposed upon Earl Smith, catcher for the Giants, apparently was a good omen for the young Brooklyn reliever, who cracked out a homer and a single, adding greatly to the Giants' victory over the Chicago Cubs 11 to 5.

Cincinnati made it two straight from the Brooklyn, defeating them, 7 to 2. This victory marked the first record of Dutch Ruether, brilliant Brooklyn southpaw, who had previously won his last eight starts. St. Louis battered the offerings of three Boston pitchers to the tune of six hits, while Duke had the Braves at his mercy.

The Pirates hammered Ring and Singleton for 15 hits and the final game of the series with Philadelphia by a 7 to 5 score. The hitting of Carlson, the pitcher, and Traynor, featured.

The Yankees and their master mauler, Ruth, took Chicago into camp, 7 to 2. This was the third straight Yankee win over the White Sox. The first of Robertson of no-hit fame in the first with a tremendous homer over the right field wall. It was the Bronx's fourth of the season. Shawkey bled the fourth of the season. The Yankees were effective, and held the enemy safe after the second inning, in which they scored twice.

St. Louis' percentage took another record, when the team was again defeated by the Boston Red Sox, 7 to 5. Eimer Smith's homer in the second with the bases full, was the striking feat in this encounter.

Washington made it three straight over the alpine Indians, winning by a score of 5 to 1. Zander, the left-hander, while his teammates piled out 12 hits.

Melby proved very costly to the Athletics, who dropped another game to the Tigers, 7 to 6. "Pep" Young made the first home run of his major league career in the first inning. While the hard-hitting Philadelphia fly-chaser, also unknocked out a homer.

TENNIS PLAY FOR THE CHURCH CUP

BOSTON, June 9.—The fifth annual inter-city tennis play for the Church cup began on the old courts of the city today. The teams of New York and Philadelphia were the opposing cities, Boston holding out to meet the winner tomorrow, in accordance with the conditions of the deal of gift of the trophy.

It was probably the last important competition to be held on the turf which, since its conversion from a pasture 45 years ago, has been a scene of activity for virtually every American player of standing and by nearly all leading tennis players. It was there in 1897 that the first Davis cup matches were held. With the Longwood club's new clubhouse completed at Chestnut Hill, early abandonment of the old courts is indicated.

The Church cup tournament, first of the season on grass, brought together in the tennis of the city, eight of the first 16 ranking players in the country, only Kummage and W. M. Johnston being missing.

The first round of play, W. T. Tilden, 2nd, (Philadelphia) met W. T. M. Washburn (New York); Vincent Richards (New York) met W. T. Johnston (Philadelphia); and George Stimpson (New York) was opposed by Carl Flischer (Philadelphia); E. T. Hunter, (New York) met Dr. F. V. Vanehl, (Philadelphia); and Vanehl, (New York) played by Roy Coffin (Philadelphia) and W. M. Hall (New York) met Andrew Morgan (Philadelphia).

Three doubles matches also were to be played late in the day.

How to Play Baseball

First Base as an Important Defense Cog, by Billy Evans

By BILLY EVANS
American League umpire and Sporting Editor of N.E.A. Service

From a position once considered very easy to play, first base has gradually come to be one of the most important cogs on defense.

However, it is fairly correct to say that a good position to assume would be from 15 to 20 feet away from first base, about 10 feet behind a direct line drawn between first and second.

Some first basemen are equally good going to their right or left after ground balls. Others have a weakness. If so, they must favor that weakness.

Thus, if a player is strong on balls hit to his right, but slow getting on to balls to his left, it is wise for him to protect himself by playing gracefully to them, in acknowledgment of their feet, as ever he did for their cheers.

That is one thing that Ruth must do—smile through adversity.

He must prove to the fans that he is as good a loser as a winner. He is trying a very best, after a rather bad start.

Ruth must smile his way into the affection of the fans until he starts hitting again. When he begins to hit, then once more he will have no reason to do otherwise than smile.

That smile, and Ruth has a corker, is going to make the fans who love him feel rather cheap. It is going to make many of them switch from jeers to cheers.

Any show of ill feeling on Ruth's part will cause the enemy fan to keep on "razzing."

The smile is Ruth's best weapon until his big bat starts hitting out home runs again.

GIANTS RELEASE CAUSEY

MOBILE, Ala., June 9.—Sponsor Abbot, manager of the Memphis Southern association team, announced today he had obtained Pitcher "Red" Causey from the New York Giants and that he expected him to report at Mobile. When Causey reports, Pitcher Webb of the Memphis club, will be turned over to the Giants.

Billy Evans says

When the Babe isn't hitting home runs he manages to do other things that cause comment.

Babe is a colorful guy if ever there was one.

Just at present he isn't doing much in the home-run line. Instead of hearing the multitude's cheers echo in his ears he is being slipped wreaths of sympathy.

The jeers don't sound as good to Babe as the cheers did.

Recently it will be recalled, not liking the ruling of an umpire, Ruth made that individual a subject for the porter by scattering dust in profusion over his suit of blue.

It was for as bawling the dignity of the arbitrator that Babe got the gate.

And it will be recalled further that some fans caught to add to the Babe's gloom by saying a lot of unkind things about him hitting and nothing. Babe didn't mind the remarks about his hitting, but he reviled the cruel words as to his work behind the foulposts.

Leaping into the stands, he gave chase to a tormentor who it is said threw a shoe making his escape.

Getting serious, Babe Ruth is passing through the crisis of his career as a ball player.

Ruth who has known nothing but the sweets of the game is being subjected to considerable of the bitter.

Undoubtedly there are in New York loyal supporters of the Giants who bear ill will to Ruth despite his many record-breaking feats. They are Giant fans. It gives them as much pleasure to see Ruth strike out as a home Yankee supporter gets out of a home run.

Ruth's failure to start hitting home runs after his suspension was lifted gave his enemies a chance to gloat. Ruth, who had known only the sweets of the game, is now getting more than his share of jeers.

He made a mistake in going into

Dave Emulates Eddie Plank

DAVE DANFORTH (EDDIE PLANK INSET)

They say Eddie Plank is Dave Danforth's model of all a baseball pitcher ought to be.

This isn't strange. About five years ago, after Dave had been tried out with the Chicago White Sox and found wanting, Eddie took him in hand to give much good advice to the youngster and a great deal of it still sticks with him. He pitches with Eddie's old form and has many of his tricks.

"Plank told me," Dave says, "that a pitcher's biggest asset is control, and I've practiced it faithfully. Another of his tips was to keep the batter nervous. That's why I'm glad of all these stories that I use a shiner. If the batter comes to the plate full of the idea that about 10 feet behind a direct line drawn between first and second, there's a fooler he's worried and makes an easy mark. Eddie also emphasized cutting the corner and keeping the ball away from the batter's waist."

AMERICAN LEGION TRACK MEET

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—Athletes of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps held the center of the stars today in the first half of the American Legion track and field meet. The program included a full list of events for the services men—100, 220 and 440 yard dashes; 120 and 220 yard hurdles; one mile run; medley relay race, and the usual field events. A large number of men from military camps and naval stations throughout the east, were entered.

Memorial exercises for Frederick W. Galbraith, former national commander of the American Legion, presented the opening of the meet today.

Each team left a man on base in the first inning, with no score. Crowe opened for the Knights with a single through center. McGowan followed with a hot one toward right, which was intercepted by Greenblade, who threw Crowe out at second, leaving McGowan on first. Daley drove the bases through short, advancing McGowan and hitting Loftus sent the ball down to Williams and a fast double play resulted, with Daley and Loftus the victims.

After Freeman, for the Daylights, had popped up to short, Williams dropped a single in center. Bridgeford sent one straight into the air, which was captured by Connor, and Greenblade struck out.

Knights Get Two in Third

KOLEHMAINEN'S MARK NOT A NEW RECORD

HELSINKI, Finland, June 9.—(By the Associated Press.) The mark set here yesterday by Hannes Kolehmainen, Finnish-American runner, will not stand as a world record, remeasurement of the track showing it to be 478 metres short of the 25 kilometers required.

The record for the distance of 1 hour, 26 minutes, 20.8 seconds, was established by Kolehmainen in 1920. His run over the short track yesterday was completed in 1 hour, 22 minutes, 43 seconds.

K. OF C. TEAM BREAKS INTO WIN COLUMN BY BEATING DAYLIGHTS

Jimmy Scully Held Heavy Hitting Opponents in Check, and His Hit in Sixth Brought Home the Winning Run—"Caseys" Played Errorless Game—Big Crowd on Hand

Parker Daley's K. of C. ball-tossers, the hard luck team of this year's league in their first games, got themselves into the winning column last night by defeating the Highland Daylights, 3 to 1. Jimmy Scully last night the Daylights did not look so good, falling in all but one case to hit the ball in the pincches. In one occasion where they brought in a couple of runs, it was through the medium of a fast drive at short, when Crowe fell in holding the ball with his right hand, and was out of action for a moment.

For once the K. of C. had the spirit of victory. Not once during the game did they lose their optimism, and when they brought in the sixth with the winning spirit, and emerged with the honors.

Scully in Good Form

Scully's pitching, although a bit ragged at times, averages very well with other twirling performances of the year. Then again, his hard drive through short in the sixth brought home the winning run. He showed his best work in the fifth, when, with two runs in and two more waiting on the bases he struck out Tommy Brown, long known as the city's most dangerous pinch hitter.

For the Daylights, Dolan pitched his usual good game up to the third inning, when he weakened. He remained throughout the fourth, but was replaced by Mulno in the fifth. Mulno did not work as well as Dolan, for in his two innings on the mound the same number of hits were registered as in the four pitched by his teammates, and the score was 2-3 when he entered the box he is credited with the loss of the game.

The Daylights were there with the errors, too, while the "Caseys" played an errorless game, as in these days of the game against the Highlanders, a peculiar coincidence is that they also registered but two errors, as in Tuesday's game, all the other plays being individual in character. The heavy hitting was done by the Knights, also, as two of the three doubles made in the course of the game were slashed out by Purcell and Crowe, and the other by Tommy Brown.

Each team left a man on base in the first inning, with no score. Crowe opened for the Knights with a single through center. McGowan followed with a hot one toward right, which was intercepted by Greenblade, who threw Crowe out at second, leaving McGowan on first. Daley drove the bases through short, advancing McGowan and hitting Loftus sent the ball down to Williams and a fast double play resulted, with Daley and Loftus the victims.

After Freeman, for the Daylights, had popped up to short, Williams dropped a single in center. Bridgeford sent one straight into the air, which was captured by Connor, and Greenblade struck out.

Knights Get Two in Third

The game course prevailed in the second with each team securing a hit and leaving two men on bases in the third, however, Crowe drove a fly to right center and a near collision resulted when two of the holders tried to get the ball at the same time. The ball raced merrily along, and Purcell secured two bases. McGowan, attempting to sacrifice, popped a little fly which Dolan smothered, and Daley followed with an angled out, which advanced Crowe. Loftus walked and stole second, and Harrington landed on a beauty to deep left, sending in the runs. Purcell walked and on a delayed steal both runners advanced. Dolan ended the inning by firing out to Bridgeford.

In the last of the inning, Freeman and Williams opened with strike outs, but Bridgeford, the team's heavy hitter, secured a base on a hit to right, which was followed with a long fly to Loftus.

Daylights Stage Rally

In the fourth, after the Knights had gone out in order, the Daylights, with one out started a comeback. Sullivan tied out to Loftus, and Sculley followed by passing Hubert and Brown. Purcell sent up a weak one which Daley caught, and Dolan struck out.

The fifth saw the score even up, with Mulno replacing Dolan in the box. McGowan was out via the infield route. Daley singled to right and Sculley followed by singling in the same direction, Daley taking third on the throw to hold him at second. While Harrington was at bat, Daley attempted to steal home, and would have been successful but for Greenblade, who tipped Catcher Sullivan just in time to call for a pitchout. Harrington succumbed. Mulno, Greenblade and Freeman were out on a liner to Crowe. Williams walked and Bridgeford followed to steal home, and would have been successful with another base on balls, crowding the bats. Scully put everything he had on the ball and struck out Sullivan, followed by Loftus, and Sculley drew a breath of relief. They soon lost their confidence in a shutout, for Hubert drove a wicked run to Crowe's right in holding the ball with his bare right hand. Fred took a bad fall, and in his momentary daze two runs crossed, Brown struck out, bringing the Daylights to a close for the time being.

Scully Wins Own Game

The sixth inning started it was evident that any attempt to delay the game by either team would cause the game to reach an unsatisfactory end, with play called on account of darkness. Luckily, neither team was so disposed, which is to their distinct credit.

Purcell opened with a two-bagger to left, Dolan followed with a single just lack of third on which Purcell was unable to advance. Connor sent both runners along by sacrifice to the pitcher, and Scully drove a bullet-like grounder at the shortstop, which was muffed by Purcell's glove, clearing the winning run. Crowe went out on a fly captured by the catcher, and McGowan sent a high one to center field, which Bridgeford captured after a long run.

Purcell started for the Daylights with a strike out, but Mulno signalled his first appearance at bat by a single to center. He was retired at second when Freeman hit to short, although Buckle, who had been out at second when Freeman hit to short, lifted a high one behind second, which was captured by Crowe. As it was getting too dark for further activities, Umpire O'Dea called time. During the game the umpires changed positions, Wally Lyons started behind the bat

C. Y. M. L. TRACK MEET HAS A. A. U. SANCTION

The C.Y.M.L. track meet, which is to be held on the South common on Saturday, June 17, has the sanction of the A.A.U. of New England, and is open to all runners duly registered in the amateur ranks. The announcement to this effect has been made by Fred F. Flynn, general chairman of the meet, and certainly known at present to be events for boys of the public and parochial schools. Many valuable awards will be given, and already a large number of athletes have manifested, leading to the hope that the meet will be even more successful than last year's event was the first conducted by the bycom, and its success called for a repetition this year. Athletes from various clubs and organizations throughout the city have signified their intention of taking part in the various events. Among them were William Salmon, now over 60 years of age, who will enter the five mile race. Mr. Salmon has been running for 15 years, and never fails to make a good showing.

If a man becomes what he eats, the skinny must live on spaghetti.

FIRPO SAILS TO SCOOP IN BIT OF COIN

Louis Angel Firpo, heavyweight champion of South America, who has been fighting in this country, and who's won all his fights too, though he hasn't met anybody of much account, has sailed for Argentina, his home, to spend a few months and undoubtedly to do a little scrapping while he's there.

Presumably the main object of this trip is to scoop in a bit of easy coin. It's likely enough also that Firpo enjoys the prospect of swilling around among the polo players, Americans and Europeans, of a premier class wonder of the world, which is just exactly what they think he is, regardless of what the official record has to say.

As a financial proposition there's no doubt the expedition will be a success. South American pugilists are just to look at him, to say nothing of seeing him fight. Even if he should take on a southern gladiator or two he'll be open to all runners' eyes, and he'll be the best heavyweight in the western hemisphere south of Panama, or it may be the Rio Grande.

The chief danger is that the adulation he is sure to have heaped upon him will irritate his head. In his opinion he's a champion, and he's got to show his little chance he stands against Jack Dempsey, say. It will be a sorry day for him if this sort of adulation should happen to leak out of his mind.

It's announced that he expects to be back in the United States before the end of the year, probably traveling by way of Havana and London, in both of which places it's understood he plans to fight. If he has the confidence of all runners' eyes, he may be all very well. London will be a riskier place for him.

C. Y. M. L. TRACK MEET HAS A. A. U. SANCTION

The C.Y.M.L. track meet, which is to be held on the South common on Saturday, June 17, has the sanction of the A.A.U. of New England, and is open to all runners duly registered in the amateur ranks. The announcement to this effect has been made by Fred F. Flynn, general chairman of the meet, and certainly known at present to be events for boys of the public and parochial schools. Many valuable awards will be given, and already a large number of athletes have manifested, leading to the hope that the meet will be even more successful than last year's event was the first conducted by the bycom, and its success called for a repetition this year. Athletes from various clubs and organizations throughout the city have signified their intention of taking part in the various events. Among them were William Salmon, now over 60 years of age, who will enter the five mile race. Mr. Salmon has been running for 15 years, and never fails to make a good showing.

If a man becomes what he eats, the skinny must live on spaghetti.

BY ROY GIBBONS

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., June 9.—"King Benjamin" Purnell, who hasn't shayed or had a haircut in 20 years, is going to be investigated again.

Detectives have been snooping around the House of David, temple of the Flying Believers, a cult of some 900 followers, who live in a combination religious colony and amusement park along the shore of Lake Michigan, just outside of Benton Harbor.

Other investigations by county and state, are promised within three months.

by Charles W. Gora, prosecuting attorney of Davison county.

Gora has been spurred to action by repeated reports of peculiar love rites in the House of David, and by rumors of mysterious disappearances of cult members on High Island, a desolate outpost of the organization in upper Michigan.

"These reports have been persisting for years," says Gora. "I believe the time has arrived when they should be either proved or disproved by thorough investigation."

Hinches His Enemies

"My enemies are spreading false reports as they did formerly," says "King Benjamin." "I am a man of God and live according to His teachings."

Purnell and his wife—she's "Queen Mary"—here—are credited by their followers with having had a vision appointing them God's messengers. They preached that the end of the world was near; several times "King Benjamin" was quoted as having fixed specific dates, but this he denies.

Now "King Benjamin" says the end is coming within 25 years.

That apparently concerns him less than the impending investigations and the inroads modernism is making on the cult—including jazz and flapperism.

"Our colony has endured despite the slanders of myriad enemies," "King Benjamin" says, "but of late modernism has done much harm. Flapperism, jazz music and similar curses have hit us hard."

"These manifestations of modernism have sown seeds of discontent in the hearts of some members. These no longer live in the faith, although they do let their hair and beards grow. But that is not enough."

"We are nearing the end of sin and crime. Christ is coming again within the next 25 years. When He comes every living member of the House of David will be glorified. But they all must live right, eat no meat, work for each other and forget themselves."

The colony, established in 1903, is run on a communal basis; all members pool their resources and work for the common good. They raise fruit and operate an amusement park, a vegetarian restaurant and therapeutic springs, all patronized by unbelievers. And they have a long-haired and bearded baseball team.

Marriage formerly was forbidden, but is fostered now. Bringing children into the world once was branded sinful, but children no longer are barred.

ZONING ORDINANCE APPROVED

In order to endorse the temporary zoning ordinance drawn by the chairman of their committee, the zoning committee of the chamber of commerce met yesterday afternoon at 4.30. The ordinance was duly approved and as the movement had the previous endorsement of the chamber through its board of directors it was in readiness for presentation to the city council. Those present at the meeting were: Chairman, John M. O'Donoghue, Allen Dumas, Charles H. Hobson, Walter H. Emmott, Mrs. David W. Dewar, Miss Genevieve Lawrence and Benjamin Pounzner.

center, where he was a pastor when the war began.

Lieutenant Father John B. DeValles was born in New Bedford, where he spent his boyhood days and was later ordained. He went to France with the 10th Regiment as its chaplain. He was decorated for valor at Appenion woods in April, 1918, being the first Catholic chaplain to be decorated for bravery. Eight times in one day he went over the top to bring in a wounded man who was beyond where the rescue squad was allowed to go. "His men lovingly called him 'The Angel of the Trenches.'" He was gassed and wounded at the Bois Bruis fight, and broken in health, he was ordered home to recuperate. Chaplain DeValles refused to leave his boys and when the war was over disease had fastened itself upon him too firmly to be conquered, and he came home only to die. Congress awarded him the Medal of Honor six hours before his death.

Lieutenant Father William F. Devitt was born in Holyoke and was liated at Worcester at the outbreak of the war. He at once volunteered as a U. S. chaplain, and was assigned to Camp McArthur in Texas. He went overseas in January, 1918, and was commissioned chaplain and first lieutenant in the 32nd Division. He was with the first American troops on German soil, and was decorated by the French government. His decoration reading in part: "He worked unflinchingly under violent fire with total disregard of danger."

Lieutenant Father Simon A.

O'Rourke was born and reared in Fall River. He entered the naval branch of the service July 15, 1918, and was commissioned chaplain and first lieutenant. He died in the Boston Navy Yard September 30, 1918, where he contracted typhus during the time it was epidemic in our camps. Worn out by administrative night and day, he fell a sacrificial representative of that great band of heroes who, denied the glory of death of battle, gave up their lives amid the painful sufferings of the disease in the camp—a necessary accompaniment of the waging of war.

REPUBLICAN REVERSES

Trouble gather thick and fast all over the country for the republican party. At first the spokesmen of the party laughed at the insinuation that in the victory of former Senator Beveridge over Senator Harding, in close friend of President Harding, in Indiana, there was an indication of a coming storm for the republicans. Since then the clouds on the political horizon have become more dark and ominous and already two fierce political bolts have struck the republican hallmarks, one in Pennsylvania, where the machine was knocked galley west leaving the independent Clifford Pinchot to take charge of the wreck; and now, to bring utter discomfiture to the G.O.P., another crash comes in Iowa, where the machine in a desperate effort to avert disaster, goes down quite as hopelessly as in Pennsylvania with one Smith Brookhart, a radical of the La Follette type, left master of the situation. These successive defeats convey a warning that the leadership at Washington may well heed. Despite their unwillingness to believe that these downward events indicate anything toward the republican party, yet the leaders are beginning to see the meaning of such events and to prepare for the inevitable.

Nor is it surprising that such events have occurred. The republicans were returned to power with the greatest majorities in the history of the nation. They felt that they were secure for a generation against any opposition or any upheaval that might disturb them. Consequently, they dallied with the great questions of reconstruction while the people waited in idleness. When the masses became impatient waiting for legislative results, President Harding brought on the disarmament conference and led the way in the destruction of great military and naval armaments, leaving the nation forces that are barely sufficient to do police duty. The bonus, the tariff, the merchant marine and other measures have been held up by a species of haggling and wrangling that indicates nothing so clearly as the fact that the republican party has lost its old time business sagacity and that it simply founders where it is expected to solve important problems and give the country quick relief. At the present time the party stands at bay, opposed by democratic critics on one side and torn by internal dissension in its own ranks.

Meanwhile it is announced that the tariff bill is to be pushed through in a form that will advance the cost of living by giving the beneficiaries the power to establish monopolies that will enable them to fleece the people. It is announced even that clothing, which is yet high priced, will undergo a rapid increase. And this is but one of many items entering into the cost of living that will bound upward. Thus the record stands, a very barren one and with little or no promise of improvement.

AN OLD STANDBY

Candidates for mayor of Boston and even seekers after honors on Beacon Hill have occasionally assumed when they think of Boston's neglected harbor and port facilities. Now comes former Governor Foss in a recent address, declaring himself in favor of the expenditure of $100,000,000 on Boston harbor facilities, channels, etc.

Boston's port problem today is not a lack of facilities but lack of shipping. It is a problem of rates, not of piers and channels, nor of elevators. One or two piers are busy enough at times, but others are idle almost continuously. Baltimore, Philadelphia and Montreal are all getting plenty of shipping that Boston ought to have, and it is a question of freight rates, not piers or channels, that hampers Boston in its longing for more shipping.

Never during the past stagnant years has shipping remained away from the Hub port because of inadequate shipping facilities. The problem cannot be solved by the expenditure of more millions for "facilities." Is Mr. Foss anxious to wage a campaign on such a dubious platform? What Boston needs is the ships, and the ships won't go to Boston until the problem of rates is adjusted. And when the goods go to Boston, the ships will be ready for them. Mr. Foss might tackle the freight rate problem. That should be adjusted first.

ANTI-LYNCHING BILL

Still this nation has to hear the stigma of the lynching disgrace so common in the southern states. It is useless to expect the states to stop it and, therefore, it becomes the duty of the federal government to protect all citizens of the republic from a form of barbarism unrivaled in cruelty anywhere. It is but a short time since a negro was burned at the stake in Texas and yet we are a civilized people. It is the white people, moreover, who boast of their superiority to the negroes who are guilty of these outrages. It is high time the federal government took steps to put an end to lynching, regardless of the expense. If the mob feared punishment for its crimes, it would hesitate to take the law into its own hands or even to wreak vengeance on defenseless men without any proof of their guilt.

The Dyer anti-lynching bill is before congress but is held up to the senate on the question of constitutionality. It may be necessary to have another amendment to cover this reform.

STRIKE BENEFITS

John J. Thomas, a member of the executive committee of the United Textile Workers of America, announced in an address at a meeting of strikers a few days ago in Pawtucket, R. I., that $140,000 had been expended by his organization in conducting the textile strike called in the Blackstone

Valley just 19 weeks ago, in furnishing relief for the strikers. Of the initiation fees collected, only $6000 has been sent to international headquarters in New York.

The disbursal of strike funds has been conducted by competent leaders in Lowell and other "mill cities" with the same care and attention to the strikers' wants, we are informed, and this speaks well for the efficient management of the strikers' executive committees and relief boards, that have been working diligently to relieve all cases of want and distress since the uprising in the mill towns. It is stated also that the American Federation of Labor, which hitherto had given the textile strike its moral support, is now giving financial aid in generous measure.

THE SIMPLER THINGS

Vice-President Coolidge thinks we are giving too much attention to big things and too little to the simpler things of life. In a recent address before an academy for boys, he urged the students to direct their attention to obedience, to honesty, to industry, thrift and faith, claiming that it is the things that develop character and give constancy and the power to command, that enable men to win victories. Mr. Coolidge is right if he intimates that we look for the big things without considering that the seemingly unimportant steps that lead up to them. There is a great deal of that kind of foolishness in the world today. Great achievements are usually reached by gradual progress or as a result of long and careful training, not by any magical process that would lift a person from obscurity to renown.

Here is a man, 90 years old, who has been a jailer since 1818. He is E. Newell Hunting, superintendent of broom-making in the state prison at Charlestown.

For 74 years this man has watched convicts come and go. He has studied them, studied prisons, watched prison reform, probably knows more about prisons, probably prisoners than any other man living.

And this is his strongest impression: "Criminals have less of the stuff that makes men than they did in the old days. Most of them now are trash and gutter-snipe, practically all of them lacking pride, upon which the reformation of any man depends."

Hunting is convinced that the country is going to the dogs, basing his belief on the modern type of criminal and knowing little of the world outside the prison walls.

FORD'S SYSTEM

The Wall Street Journal rounds up a new Ford story that is good enough to pass along. It runs like this:

A fellow dreamed that Henry was dead. The publisher was carrying the cable when suddenly it said: "Ford has come to life. He sat up, ran his eyes over the six publishers and instantly ordered: 'Here, put this cable on wheels and lay off five men.'

To appreciate this joke about Ford's speeding up production, keep in mind that he has orders for nearly 200,000 cars, trucks and tractors for June delivery.

The June production schedule calls for 100 cars a day or nearly 11 a minute, which seems about the last word in speed.

If Ford should ever get to the White House and apply his system to the government departments, what a stir he would make!

SOVIET GHOLLS IN ROB GRAVES

The Bolsheviks in Petrograd have perpetrated the effect by their series of confessions of church and other treasures and robbing them of their treasures. Even the most distinguished of the former queens and emperors were not spared by these ghouls. The coffins of Catherine the Great and Peter the Great offered them rich treasures. They may next open graves in cemeteries to pick the gold filling from the teeth of the dead. It cannot be that the people of Russia will tolerate any such desecration as that which has just been perpetrated at Petrograd.

It seems that this year's city government is putting out a great deal of money for automobiles. Moreover we were told at the outset that cheap cars would be favored but the prices do not indicate that the original scheme was followed. Of course it would be unfair to use but a single type of car. But the objection is to the number and the price.

In Haverhill the other day six small boys attending a picnic came upon a bottle of hooch and drinking part of it. One became unconscious and the others dead. The use of the stomach pump at the hospital saved the lives of at least two of them. The monotony of the hour is deadly poison.

Judge Morton, of the federal district court, is rejecting applications for naturalization by foreigners who secured deferred classification from the draft during the war because they had taken out only their first papers. On this point nothing can be said except that it serves their right.

Now that the war is over and deflation ruining its course, any craft that so desires can strike without government interference. Our advice is, don't strike. Use other means to get what you want.

Now we are to have a potato tariff to enable the Maine farmers to boost the price of their output.

This is great weather for the bread and milk week.

It takes Fort Hill park to get Tom Braden's goat.

Could a prisoner escape by touching a match to the cop's celluloid collar?

Wonder if the flappers are interested in what Judge Enright said about short skirts.

Much More Preferable

The man was marrying a widow. His brother said to him on the wedding morn, "I could never bear to be a widow's second husband." The bride, groom smiled optimistically. "Well, for my part," he said, "I'd rather be a widow's second husband than her first."—Stray Stories.

A Thought

Among all things in the universe, direct you worship to the greatest. And which is that? It is that being who manages to govern all the rest. As you admire the best in nature, so you are to pay a proportionate regard to the best thing in yourself, and that is akin to duty.—Marcus Aurelius.

No Need to Look

"Now," proceeded the professor, "we have considered all the immortal heroes of Shakespearean tragedy except the renowned Hamlet. And where, I ask, shall we place Hamlet?" The melancholy little man in the back row slowly rose to his feet. "Well," he said, "Hamlet can have my seat. I'm going."—Brooklyn Standard Union.

Today's Word

Today's word is bibulous. It's pronounced—bib-u-lus, with accent on the first syllable. It means—readily imbibing or absorbing fluids or moisture; inclined to drink. It comes from up Latin "bibere," to drink. It's as easy as the bibulous individual like this with the bibulous individual who patronizes the bootlegger morally much better than the bootlegger himself.

Didn't Know Why

There is no use trying to joke with a woman. The other day Jones heard a pretty good conundrum and decided to try it on his wife. "Do you know why I am here today?" he asked her when he went home. "The wife did not stop to think. 'No,' she replied promptly. 'I know you are, but I don't know why you are.'"

Death Can't Find It

Ten years ago an Illinois farmer lent a mule to a neighbor farmer and afterward had to replace it. The neighbor said that the wrong mule had been replaced. The case has been in the courts ever since and has cost the principles twenty times the original cost of the mule. It has been tried four times and appealed and is now pending. Meanwhile two judges who have heard the case have died, the plaintiff died a week ago and the mule has been dead for years. But the law and the lawyers are still busy with the case.

She Could Swim

"This is a nice canoe, isn't it, Mary?" said the tall, dark young man. "Very nice indeed, Charlie," replied the pretty girl sitting in the stern. "There's just one objection to it," said the young man. "Indeed! And what is that?" asked the girl. "O, well, you see, if you try to kiss a girl in this canoe there's great danger of upsetting it, and then both the fellow and the girl would be thrown into the river." "O, wonderful!" said the girl rolically. "And she sat silent for a while. At length she remarked softly: 'Charlie, I can swim.'"

The Old School House

Its roof has leaked since '81 and leaks in both the rain and sun. Its day of usefulness is done—its life a tragedy. Now it has been in for years and years and crumbling on its running gears, and yet it almost brings the tears to know it has to go! My grandfather and his brother Hill scraped off the place upon the hill to lay the first old oaken sill the day that I was born, and still it stands and humps its back and waves first a "house," and then a "shack," and then became a "wreck." Alack, it is no frayed and worn "Twas there I first learned how to spell, and how to read, and light and yell, and how to trade, and buy and sell, and how to love and hate and fear, and how to steal a fuzzy kiss when we stood there alone! That broken panel in the door was cracked in 1884 by Frank McGee when he was sore and kicked at Hal McGraw, he said, "Aw, McGraw, don't stand here if it takes thirty cents to fix it. I do not like her curly hair. I wouldn't have her 'pshaw' years after that, our little girls—we call them our treasure pearls—they both had Maggie's golden curls—went here to school all early years. They went once year till early May, and then they went—both again some day. They went to school right here. The old school house has one more night; tomorrow morning, clear and bright, the workmen will be on the site and down it will be torn. They'll shove a basement in the hill where it stands and his brother Hill said that that strong old oaken sill—the day that I was born—J. Edw. Tufts in Farm Life.

Time They are amiss who picture Time as old. A stooping baldpate with his wrinkled hand Clutched on a scepter. Not so I understand. My comrade of a lifetime, who has told This listening heart from childhood Strange stories of the past as through the land We ran together, while the glad winds came Back from his forehead locks of youthful gold. But these my mortal limbs may not much longer Maintain the armor of his quickening pace; I am but never younger, swifter, stronger, Singing no more of strifes and splendor, But panting for the goal of his great race. As the importunate vision sweeps him on.

Old British Frigate Macedonian Wrecked

NEW YORK, June 9.—The old British frigate Macedonian, captured by Commodore Stephen Decatur off Madeira in 1812, was wrecked by fire at City Island today. The old vessel, one of the city's curiosities, had recently been made over into a combination bathhouse and restaurant. The damage was estimated at $40,000. The Macedonian was taken to Newport, R. I., after her capture and remained there for years before she was auctioned off for $175. Then she was towed to City Island. She became a two story hotel, known as the Macedonian hotel. Later it was called the City Island Casino—and finally the City Island baths.

To Place Wreath on Dickens' Grave

LONDON, June 9.—(By the Associated Press)—Today the 52nd anniversary of the death of Charles Dickens, Harry Adams, a little crippled lad from the slums of Enston, will place a wreath of red geraniums, Dickens' favorite flower on the great novelist's gravestone in Westminster Abbey. The wreath was sent by the pupils of the Rhineland school for crippled children in New York City.

"Red" Roberts Gives Blood to Save Sister

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 9.—"Red" Roberts, captain of the Center college football team and All-American star in 1921, gave the third pint of his blood yesterday in the third successful transfusion operation in two weeks in an effort to restore health to his sister, Mrs. Kenneth Humphreys. Physicians reported that she soon would recover.

House Kills Bill to Prohibit Betting

BATON ROUGE, La., June 9.—The Louisiana house ways and means committee by a vote of eight to seven last night, reported unfavorably the Butler-Shattuck bill which would prohibit betting in all forms on horse racing at licensed tracks within the state. The bill passed the senate last week.

Carpentier to Fight Beckett Again

LONDON, June 9.—Georges Carpentier, according to Sporting Life today, has verbally agreed to a return match with Joe Beckett, the English heavyweight, whom Carpentier knocked out in a fight in London two years ago, and will sign a contract soon. If the arrangements go through the newspaper says the fight will be staged in London in October.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Although the opening of the bathhouse on the Pawtucket boulevard Thursday marked the official opening of the swimming season, it meant nothing of the kind to the boys of the city, who have been indulging in their favorite summer pastime, next to baseball, for at least two weeks. Baseball fans and others who have occasion to pass over the Thorndike street bridge early in the evening can testify to this, for the old swimming hole next to the packing company wharf, at every evening, and probably throughout the day, by youngsters disporting themselves in the canal water. My attention was attracted to the spot nearly two weeks ago, when I saw a crowd gathered along the bridge work, peering over the railing and although it was easy to guess the cause of the excitement, as it would be considered by the uninitiated who saw a crowd gazing into a canal. I crossed the street and found a large number of boys swimming about in the dirty water, and descending to take another dive. There must be some fascination about canals which the grownup has forgotten, for it is a fact that boys would rather use these stagnant waterways than that of the over-flowing river.

If planning a house, here is something that will help you: The Copper and Brass Research association estimates that the "building dollar" is spent like this: Masonry 36 cents, carpentry 23, heating about 8, painting about 7, electrical work 6, plumbing 6, roof and hardware 4, sheet metal roofing 4, work about 4 cents. The figures, of course, vary for different types of dwellings. They have the universal value, though, of reminding builders not to forget to "figure on" the hidden danger of the ordinary wooden house built with only the foundation and chimney of stone and brick, the percentage for masonry would not be so great.

Talking of the cause of fires, do you know that ordinary flour, the kind that is used to bake bread, is highly explosive? Government chemists, after years' study, tell some interesting things about it. Since 1860, at least 35 flour mills have been wrecked by explosions of four dust. Old-timers will recall the record explosion of 1878, when five separate elevators in the general mill at Minneapolis with a loss of $180,000. In 1914 a similar explosion in a grain elevator destroyed enough grain to feed 200,000 people for a year. David J. Price, engineer in charge of Uncle Sam's investigation of dust explosions, says that flour is a highly explosive, combustible dust is an unavoidable by-product of about 21,000 manufacturing plants in our country. Terrible explosions lurk in the dust of coal, cork, aluminum, cottonseed, rubber, sawdust, sugar, starch and molasses. Many factories have been burned to the ground by fires started by spontaneous combustion in dust accumulated deeply on rafters. This is one of the dangers which every city has to guard against. Just at present it is receiving the attention of Chief Saunders of the fire department.

I notice that one boy at least has been in court for riding a bicycle on sidewalks and it seems about time that something of this sort were done to the nuisance. The other night, about the South common, I learned that Officer John W. Mahan had sent five boys, aged from 16 to 18, to the station on this complaint. As women have been complaining of the danger constantly undergone by the rough-riding or young miscreants if one of them bikes care is approached and censured his misdeeds he is absolutely insulting and abusive, and seems proud of the fact that he is acting as an overlord over his domain—the South common—where so much of this sidewalk riding has been tolerated or ignored for a number of years. Since the suspension of twilight baseball the common every evening have been menaced by these wild riders, who show no regard for the life and safety of others. If Officer Mahan is given a free rein in handling the matter, as no doubt he will be, this nuisance will soon be a thing of the past.

Although practically every other detail relative to the visit paid the Lowell Ad club by the Providence Town Criers nearly three weeks ago has been particularly discussed and applauded the splendid card designed for the occasion bearing a drawing of a old-time town erier and surrounded by artistically arranged lettering have not as yet been properly accredited to their designer, the general public who

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

THE MESSAGE

The school-days are pretty near ended
And back in each healthy kid's mind
The thought of his studies is bleaded
With thoughts of a different kind;
He's dreaming of summer vacation—
When lessons won't wrinkle his brow,
And thinking, with great jubilation,
"The swimmin' hole's warm enough now!"

He's visioning gay days of freedom
When books won't conflict with his fun,
When he needn't see 'em or read 'em,
But get out and play in the sun;
When, naked and brown, by the river
He'll loudly and proudly avow
(In spite of his muscles that shiver)
"The swimmin' hole's warm enough now!"

Though over his lessons he drowns,
He'll be wide awake with a bang
When summer's blithe advent arouses
The vigor and zest of "the gang."
The boy hears the luring winds humming;
They whisper a message, somehow,
His season of liberty's coming,
"The swimmin' hole's warm enough now!"

SWIG HELD FOR ATTACK ON TWO GIRLS

TAUNTON, June 9.—Edward J. Swig, 24 years old, married, and living at 41 Orchard street, was arrested yesterday afternoon on two warrants charging him with criminal assault upon two girls, one 13 years of age and the other 15 years old, whom he is said by the police to have induced to ride with him in his auto into the outskirts of the city. He was bailed in the sum of $100 by W. J. Dana, a prominent Taunton business man.

Swig, who is a son of Simon Swig of Boston, former president of the Tremont Trust company, denies the charges and declares that he has been "framed."

Upon complaint of Mrs. Maria A. Magano, mother of Alice Magano, no address given, he is charged with assault and battery upon the 12-year-old child. Upon a second warrant sworn by Police Chief James P. Crowley, he is charged with assault upon Julia Crotty, 15 years old, no address given by the police.

On the charge of assault and battery, the bail was placed at $100 and on two other counts, the bail was fixed at $500 each, making a total of $1100.

The police say that Swig, while riding in his automobile in the mid-afternoon, accosted the two girls on the street and invited them to take a ride with him, incidentally commenting on the heat of the day and the enjoyment of an automobile ride. The elder girl evinced a willingness to go but the 12-year-old girl is said by the police to have held back and to have shown a disinclination to accept the riding invitation.

The elder girl and Swig are said to have helped the smaller girl into the auto. The party drove into the northern outskirts of the city and stopped in the rear of Mayflower Hill cemetery, where the police assert both assaults were made in the machine.

Upon her return home for supper, the younger girl complained to her mother and the mother, Mrs. Magano, hurried to the police station with a complaint. Upon investigation of the charges the police filed three complaints against Swig.

The police then telephoned to the office of Swig, which is in the concern of the C. R. Dean & Co., wholesale and retail cigar dealers on Woir street, and asked him to call at the police station. He answered the telephone message and when apprised of the nature of the police business declared his innocence and arranged for bail.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Vegetables grown in the United States in 1921 had an estimated value of $1,104,000,000, according to the department of agriculture. This was 15.7 per cent of the total value of all crops. The products of market gardens, which may or may not have been productive enough to be farms within the census definition, are not included in these estimates.

The total value of truck vegetables produced for sale after called the commercial crop, was estimated by the department at $227,000,000.

The potato crop had a farm value of $355,000,000, and the sweet potato, $37,000,000. Together, these two crops comprised 43 per cent of the value of all vegetables in 1921. The tomato crop of 1921 had a farm value of $50,000,000; the cantaloupe crop was worth $17,000,000; the cucumber, watermelon and cabbage crops each had a value of about $15,000,000.

Farm gardens are a new item in the vegetable list and had an estimated value of $405,000,000 in 1921.

The value of the vegetable crop in relation to prominent single crops and to groups of crops has some striking ratios for 1921, a year when the value of the large crops were low. The department pointed out. The total value of the vegetable crop for 1921 was 55 per cent of the value of the great corn crop; it was almost as large as the value of the hay and forage crops; it was nearly one half as large as the value of the dairy products; it was considerably larger than the value of all poultry products; 46 per cent, larger than the value of the cotton crop; and 50 per cent, larger than the value of the winter and spring wheat crops.

RICKENBACKER'S PLANE STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

DETROIT, June 9.—Captain Eadle Rickenbacker got away for Chicago on the second lap of his transcontinental air flight at 4:21 o'clock, Eastern Standard time, yesterday afternoon, after minor repairs had been made to his plane, damaged earlier in the day when struck by lightning.

The start from Detroit was delayed approximately three hours by the accident which resulted in injury to two men who were at work on the plane. One of the victims, Norman McClellan of Roseville, was so seriously affected that he was taken to Mount Clemens hospital, where he was taken for treatment, said he would be permanently paralyzed, if his injuries do not prove fatal.

The other man was only slightly injured, it was said.

The lightning hit a pole near the hangar where the plane was being "tuned up" then jumped to the engine of the craft.

TWO LATITUDES—AND A LUXURY

65° N. Latitude. Two men and a dog team. Midnight sun. Frozen waters. Halt for the night. A few handfuls of snow are thrown in the tea kettle. Spirit lamp is lighted, kettle boils and tea is made.

"Great stuff, Fred," says one. "Tastes like mope." "Yes," the other replies. "It's LIPTON'S—the kind we always use down home."

40° N. Latitude. A cheerful drawing room. Bright lights and smiling faces. Butler tumbles in the tea-wagon. Tea is poured. Pretty girl whispers: "Heard from your son in Alaska?"

Another says, "The tea is delicious. May I have another cup?"

It's LIPTON'S—the kind she always serves. Throughout the civilized world, LIPTON'S is the favorite.

"CLOSE UP" IMPRESSION OF PRES. HARDING

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Postmaster General Work recently gave a "close-up" impression of President Harding to a group of western visitors who had called at the postoffice department to commend improvements of postal conditions on the Pacific coast. Colleagues of the postmaster general were of the opinion that Dr. Work's description of the president was so unique it should be made public and consequently it was given out today as follows:

"The outstanding characteristic of President Harding is his presence. This can hardly be called a characteristic for it is the sum of many; all in fact that a man has. The president's presence is seen to best advantage when he is receiving the long lines of casual, curious and transient visitors to the White House. This is almost of daily occurrence and always follows the adjournments of cabinet meetings. Many hundreds of visitors to Washington are missed without, waiting for the cabinet officers to leave, when they have been assured they may shake hands with the president.

"The president's art of handshaking has been frequently commented upon. There is no art about it because it is real. It is an instinct. He meets them by the hundreds day after day, forty per minute if there is no band playing, more if there is music.

"The president likes children and old people, and he is fond of dogs, and they in turn like him, each in their own fashion. The dog 'Laddie Boy,' true to the Alameda instinct for one master only, selected the president as his special friend. Children look up at him and pass on reassured, having forgotten that it was the president who held their hand, while old ladies meet him with a smile and say, 'Thank God for you, Mr. President, or 'May God bless you, or 'Our country is safe with you.'

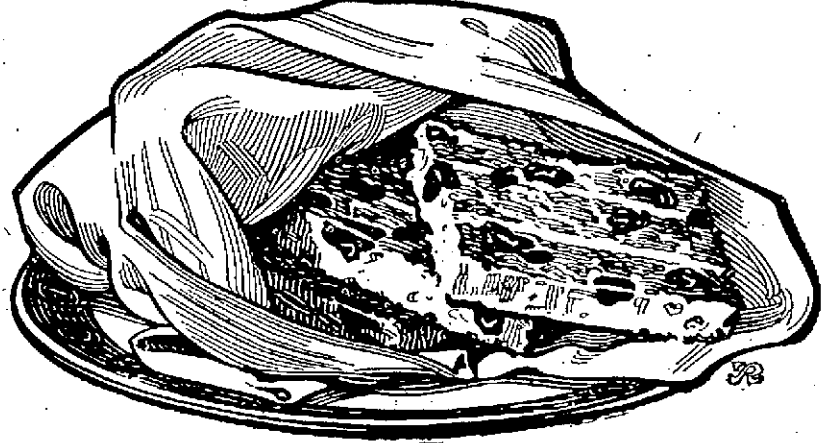

Often an old lady on that uncertain border line separating the grandmother from the angel, will kiss his hand, greatly to his embarrassment. These old people; they impress one and depress him too at times. They have done their work, nurtured their children and are waiting. Mayhap, some are rejoicing that and others may be a distress, but in either event they are their 'children' whom they must soon leave to the vicissitudes of the world. To them, the president seems a guardian and his office a protectorate to those in the little family world so many of us live in.

"To these people the clasp of the president's hand means much. They come purposely to see him. Each one passes on feeling that he had been waiting for them to come. After the greetings as they pass in the spacious room beyond, having departed reluctantly, looking backward, the emotions in the many hearts are beyond knowing, but those critical, suspicious or resentful are all absent and the one feeling is common to all that they are leaving a presence where welcome ever smiles and farewell goes outside."

Stick blue saves you money, space, bother. Far thriftier than liquid blues. You don't pay good money for bottles you can't use. You don't buy water you can get free from your faucet.

Lace Indigo Blue stops one leak in your market purse. Cuts down your washing budget. True blue clean through. No waste, no worry. Makes white clothes whiter—all clothes brighter. One stick dropped into cold or hot water makes a quart of strongest, finest blueing.

Lace Indigo Blue is not for finest lace alone, but for heavy, household washes too.

Lace Indigo Blue has a hundred uses round the home. Tints clothes as well as making them white. Restores faded clothing to its original beauty and brilliance. Helps whiten shoes, gloves, etc. Takes soiled and shiny spots out of suits. Whitens whitewash and kalsomine. Makes windows and mirrors crystal-color. Gives cut glass a sun-light sparkle. Fine for porcelain, tiles, white enamel. Why, it'll even give a silvery sheen to grey hair! Better ask your grocer for a stick of Lace Indigo Blue to-day. Give it a try-out—and you'll stick to it.

WAS LATE IN ARRIVING

Ex-Senator From California Was Put on Wrong Train at North Station

George Wilder Cartwright Addresses Small Audience
at Colonial Theatre

Arriving in this city late, and tired from being misdirected and shunted about on railroad trains, Geo. Wilder Cartwright, former senator in California, last night gave an informal talk to a small audience in Colonial theatre, Middlesex street, delayed in arriving at the North station, Boston, in the afternoon, Senator Cartwright was put on a train, by a red cap, which landed him in Salem. He was forced to go clear back to Boston and thence to this city. As a consequence he did not arrive at the theatre until long after 8 o'clock and most of the audience had left the hall by that time. Saying that he had missed but by two lecture dates in 25 years, Senator Cartwright decided to say a few words to his listeners.

He spoke mainly on great panics of the world and on the ways and trades question. He said in part: "This country is passing through a panic segment of an economic cycle, or in other words through a period of hard times. Every panic the world has known from the time of the panic in 1816 until the present time has been preceded by some wild-eyed reformatory ideas."

Violent Economic Law
"Every time we violate the economic law a panic follows. A panic is not caused by the president or any political party and neither should be blamed for such a condition. When each person in the country sees a panic coming and prepares for it, then and only then will we be able to avoid it."

"The big banks of this country must keep their fingers on the commercial pulse and be warned by their excited hearings. The panic of 1816 was the greatest in the history of the country. It lasted for nine years. This was caused by the attempt of certain countries to demonetize the world's gold."

"The panic of 1837 was caused by a wild-eyed agitation against the banks of the country, started by the greatest financier this country has ever known, Alexander Hamilton. At that time a law was passed against the United States bank which finally resulted in its destruction and the creation of the present system of federal reserve banks."

"In 1873 the panic was caused by wild-eyed agitation for greenbacks. Benjamin B. Butler started the greenback party. I believe Mr. Butler once lived in this city; it seems to me I have read of such being the case. When asked to explain his action in starting the greenback party Mr. Butler said it was the result of a dream he had one night."

"I have this wish to call attention to is the rehypnotizing of prices and stretching credit to the breaking point. Ballooning is dangerous. We have an example of it right here in our own country. We are not experiencing a real panic but we have had a near one. Coming and taken steps to prevent it. As a result of ballooning Russia is starving. England has been tottering for two years. France is in a bad way. Italy is nearly bankrupt and America is carrying on a loan. The money men are hanging on for dear life until January 1, 1923."

Too Much Profit-Seeking
"There has been too much profit-seeking for the good of the country. All of us are profiteers if we have the chance. During the war you didn't see any man going around trying to find a customer for his goods at a price less than he could command in the market. Let the kettle of calling the cat black. The good profit during the war that helped put this country in its present condition. Cost plus violates a commercial law, and violating commercial law is always dangerous. We may violate law, but we cannot violate the law of the market. When the law of the market is violated the burden will be felt. We are now paying the penalty for such a violation."

"My advice to the business men of this country is to take care of credit. The last man to drop his price after a panic is always the first merchant. The man who unloads first and makes a fresh start will be the quickest to come back. The action of retailers is unfortunate because it works hardship on the working man, who has saved little during the period of high wages. The thing I fear most in this country is a premature revival."

"The country which deflates prices first will be the gainer first. Take the case of Germany which has been paying less for labor than before the war, measured in American dollars. What country is the gainer? On the other hand comes the news from the pen of William Z. Foster, that strong Russian advocate, whom I have no use for, that millions died in Russia last winter from starvation. I tell you people Germany lost the war but is winning the peace."

"The present time there are about 225,000 idle in Germany; not a normal number; not enough to do the things that should be done under normal conditions. In England there are two

LOWELL DISTRICT COURT

Judge Enright Rules That Spectators Must Wear
Coats—Today's Cases

The dignity of the district court must be maintained. This was twice demonstrated this morning when Judge Thos. J. Enright ordered a witness to put on his coat and expelled two spectators from the court-room, both of whom were coatless. He closed the incident by issuing an order to all court officers to see to it that persons appearing in the court-room be properly garbed. To appear hatless is proper and mandatory; to appear coatless is out of order and constitutes contempt.

The case which provoked the order was one in which John Perry was found guilty of a statutory offense and sentenced to the house of correction for a term of three months. During the progress of the trial the defendant pointed out another youth in the court room and charged him with having some knowledge of the affair. When ordered to state forward the person in question appeared without a coat. He did not have a coat with him and was ordered to borrow one from a friend, which he did before he appeared on the stand. At this point the judge allowed his eye to roam about the room, spotted the two other spectators and ordered them expelled from the court-room. The incident served to inject a little action into what would have been otherwise a very dull session.

Guilty of Non-Support
Carl Sako was found guilty of non-support and sentenced to the house of correction for a term of six months on a previously imposed sentence. His wife had complained that her husband refused to keep away from the house, despite a court order to do so, and that he had also neglected to contribute anything to her support and the support of her two minor children.

Butterworth and Arthur Pragan, two youths who pleaded guilty to riding bicycles on public sidewalks, had sentences continued for one month upon a recommendation of Deputy Chief Downey. The boys were caught several days ago before the court when they were warned in regard to this infraction of a city ordinance. John F. Lalley of Dorchester pleaded not guilty to a charge of larceny of $3, and his case was continued for 10 days. He was charged with stealing a coat from the store of Philip Dwyer and Officer John J. Mahan upon complaint of the W. T. Griffin company, which has an office at 150 Appleton street. According to the police report, Lalley broke open the cash drawer of the Griffin company and stole a coat in charge of the officer stopped outside, and took from it $3.

As the result of a fight, which was said to have been started at the bill game yesterday on the South common, Arthur Marotte was fined $10 for assault on Joseph Coulet. The latter said that he and Marotte had an argument at the game and after its termination Marotte struck him. It was also brought out that Marotte was not contenting to the support of his wife and was on the verge of taking care of the matter. He was first given a direct sentence of three months to the house of correction, but this was changed following a consultation between the court and the probation officer.

John Stanton, charged with receiving stolen property, had his case continued to June 16. The cases of John Palmos and Rosario Corneille, charged with breaking and entering and larceny, were continued also to June 16. The cases are old ones and have been continued for some time. Another case continued to the 16th was one charging Hector Viviera with assault and battery on a young woman. He was arraigned yesterday and the case put over until today, but when called today the evidence was not ready.

John J. Maloney appeared before the court, pleaded guilty to drunkenness and said that he would be satisfied with a short-term sentence to some institution. He was given one month in the house of correction.

THE SCHEDULING CIRCLE
The Scheduling Circle of the Lowell Ad Club is to hold a meeting Monday evening, but very little is known as to their purposes or plans. It is believed, however, that the club will discuss the various ways of boosting Lowell made goods.

millions idle and walking the streets, while in America we have two million idle. The world is lapping off the trade of the world because of deflation. She has taken from us what little business we had in both South America and Mexico."

Germany Undermining
"As an example of what Germany is doing in the way of undermining the world I cite this incident which was brought to my attention while in Philadelphia recently. Philadelphia, you know, claims to manufacture more silk hose than any other city in the world. A shipment of German-made, full-fashioned silk hose was landed in Philadelphia, with freight and duty paid, to sell for one half the price of the product turned out within right in the city. We must remember that the Germans follow the flag on the constitution, but the best market. Another example: A steel merchant in Beaver Falls, Michigan, had a clipping machine delivered from Germany, right to his door, at a total cost of $3000. The same article cost $6000 in America. In Springfield, Mass., at which the president of a Connecticut industrial club presented a list of 40 articles, used extensively in this country. An examination of the costs showed that Germany was making 12 of them and delivering them to this country at one third the cost of manufacture right in Connecticut."

"Now on the wage question. This is a scientific one. A scientific wage is one as high as needed but sufficient to allow us to compete with our strongest competitors and still leave enough profit to induce business to flourish. Unless business flourishes the working man walks the streets. Paying high wages is not the road to success. It wastes so up, prices go up to and beyond the point of productive possibility to allow a fair profit to be returned. No country can afford to keep its wages too high. The wage proposition will never be settled with the politicians' club nor the use of the military. We must put our feet under the table together and settle these things in a common sense manner. Stop fighting and start figuring is my advice."

FUNERAL NOTICES

HARDY—Died June 3, at New Rochelle, N. Y. Henry P. Hardy, formerly of this city, funeral services will be held from the chapel in the Edison cemetery Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Friends invited to attend. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertaker W. Herbert Blake.

DEATHS

TERNEY—Patrick H. Tierney died yesterday afternoon at his home, 528 Westford street. Mr. Tierney was born in Ireland and came to America in 1870. He was 55 years old. He attended the Lowell public schools and later was employed at the Lowell Machine shop, where he worked in various positions for a period of almost half a century. He leaves his wife, Margaret Tierney; two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Tierney and Mrs. Mary Tierney; and one son, John Tierney of Lowell.

CHENIN—Patrick J. Chenin, a well known resident of the Sacred Heart parish, died yesterday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Patrick H. Wallace, 78 Whipple street, after a short illness. He leaves his sister, Mrs. Wallace, and one son, John Tierney of Lowell.

HARDY—Henry P. Hardy, a resident of this city for many years, died June 3 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Carrie E. Parsons at New Rochelle, N. Y. He leaves besides his daughter, three grandchildren. He was a member of the Order of Union Workmen. The body will be forwarded to Undertaker W. Herbert Blake.

WHITTITT—Alexander Whittitt, the well known florist, died this morning at his home, 31 Wentworth avenue.

WANT MR. CARTWRIGHT TO COME AGAIN

Ex-Senator George W. Cartwright, who spoke before the chamber of commerce and the general public in Colonial theatre last night and is remaining in the city today, is being sought for a return engagement in this city in the fall.

If the chamber can secure the use of the Memorial Auditorium for the date of the senator's next visit, an effort will be made to get every organization in the city behind the movement and make it a huge success.

aged 79 years 1 month and 16 days, after an illness of only a few days' duration. Deceased had been a resident of this city for over half a century and had been engaged in the florist business for a great many years. He was a member of Fenwick lodge, F. and A. M., and was connected with All Souls' church. He is survived by two sons, William David of this city and Charles Alexander of San Gabriel, Cal.; two daughters, Misses Isabelle Elizabeth and Edith Agnes, both of this city, and a brother, Contractor James McKinnel of this city.

MAGUIRE—Mrs. Ellen Manning, for many years a resident of this city and for the past 15 years an attendant of St. Peter's church, died this morning at her home, 124 Salem street, after a prolonged illness. She is survived by one son, David J. Manning, and three grandchildren and one niece. Burial will be in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery. Funeral notice later.

FUNERALS

CANAS—The funeral services of George R. Canas were held yesterday afternoon at the home of his parents, Apostolakis and Rosa Silvia Canas, 83 Elm street. Rev. Joaquin M. Reis of the Elliot Union church officiating. Burial took place in the Westlawn cemetery, where the committal prayer was read by Rev. Mr. Reis. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers M. J. McDonough Sons.

AVIGNON—The funeral of James Avergnon, infant son of John and Argero Avergnon, took place yesterday afternoon from his home, 26 Lundy street. Services were held at the Sacred Heart church. Burial took place in the Edison cemetery where the committal service was read by Rev. Nicholas Menendez and the funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers Napoleon Bloudeau & Son.

HOAR—The funeral of John H. Hoar, a former resident of Lowell, who died June 3 in Flint, Mich., took place yesterday afternoon from the chapel of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons. Services were held at the chapel, Rev. Nathaniel W. Matthews, pastor of the First Primitive Methodist church, officiating. There were many floral tributes.

The bearers were the following: members of Lowell Aerie of Eagles; Frank Barry, Timothy O'Neil, Edward Rosenberry and Trustee William E. Carey. Burial was in Westlawn cemetery, where Rev. Mr. Matthews read the committal prayers.

McGRATH—The funeral of Mrs. Mary McGrath took place this morning at 10 o'clock from the funeral chapel of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons and was largely attended. The cortege proceeded to St. John's church, North Main street, where the mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. John Linahan. The choir, under the direction of Miss Maude Honey, rendered the Gregorian chant. The bearers were William J. Quigley, Michael Welsh, James Dunnigan, George Sheeley, Patrick S. Ward and Mark McGrath. The burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, under the direction of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

REQUIEM MASS

O'DEA—There will be an anniversary mass Monday morning, June 12, at 8 o'clock at St. Michael's church for the repose of the soul of the late Mrs. O'Dea, who died June 10, 1921.

MRS. JAMES O'DEA

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our many friends and neighbors, who by kind actions, expressions of sympathy, floral and spiritual offerings helped to lighten the burden of our sorrow in the sickness and death of our beloved wife, daughter and sister.

THOMAS McCOLOUGH,
THOMAS McDERMOTT AND FAMILY.

WILL INSTALL SHOWER BATHS

At a recent meeting of Club City-Americans it was voted to have two shower baths installed and the contract for the work will be let within a few days. The organization is also planning alterations to the exterior of its building in Middle street and within a few days bids will be called for the installation of new store fronts on the street floor. Other improvements will be made through out the building. The club plans to spend about $8,000 on alterations.

Plans are already under way for the annual outing, which will be held later in the summer and it is expected that a committee to make arrangements for the event will be appointed at the next meeting. The outing always proves to be a big event among the club members and it is expected that this year's affair will eclipse all previous efforts.

MEMORIAL DAY BILLS

When the Budget and audit commission meets tomorrow at 10 a. m. to consider monthly bills from all city departments, bills will be found for the observance of Memorial day, amounting to $2510.01. The G. A. R. spent just $1000, with the other organizations incurring the following expenses: American Legion, $380.42, including $200 for banquet; Sons of Veterans, $320.00; Spanish War Veterans, $202.57; Disabled Veterans of the World War, $326.50.

Charles L. Stafford, son of Arthur T. Stafford, chief engineer of the Locks and Canals, was among the graduates of the Fessenden school, West Newton, last Wednesday. He is a graduate of the Moody grammar school and in the fall will enter Essex academy to prepare for Williams college. He was an honor student at Fessenden.

Postmaster K. A. Delisle announced today that he would appoint a foreman of carriers within the next 24 hours. He has sent the name to Washington for confirmation, and would not disclose the man's identity until he was ready to make the appointment.

This evening at St. Anne's parish house the high school social season will be brought to a close, the students being the ones who have the honor of giving the evening. The young people will turn out in large numbers for to many of them it means the last chance to attend a high school event in the capacity of a student.

Arnold R. Howard and Miss Doris L. Howard, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard of 4 Barton avenue, will graduate this week from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Mt. Holyoke college respectively. Both graduated the same year from the Morey grammar school, 1914, and the Lowell high school, class of 1918.

At the commencement exercises of Jackson college on next Monday, Miss Jessie Roberta Mountford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Mountford, of 134 Moore st., will receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Miss Mountford graduated from the Butler school in 1914 and the Lowell high school in 1918. At Jackson, she specialized in economics.

Miss Virginia L. Emmott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Emmott of 561 Westford street, was one of the graduates of the Mass. State Normal school. Recently Miss Verda E. Huntley also of this city, carried off a certificate of honorable mention for making the best bread at the Auburn-dale school.

Mr. Thomas F. McCann is now manager of the Gately company's store of this city, located at 293 Middlesex street. McCann is well and favorably known in this city having been connected with many of the city's leading clothing establishments. Mr. McCann has the benefit of 25 years of experience in the clothing line and is well fitted for the managerial duties for Gately and Company.

MATRIMONIAL

The marriage of Mr. Edmund de la Hays of Westford and Miss Evelyn M. Caddell of Chelmsford took place yesterday, the ceremony being performed by Rev. A. B. Riger at his home, 76 Promont street. The best man was Mr. John MacMurray, while the bridesmaid was Miss Edith M. Caddell.

Farley—Murphy
The marriage of Mr. Anthony Farley of Lowell and Miss Catherine Murphy of New Bedford took place June 5 at St. Lawrence's church, New Bedford, at a nuptial mass. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Clark. The groom is a well known and popular young man of Lowell and a veteran of the world war, having served in the 60th Field Artillery. The best man was Mr. John Farley, a brother of the groom, while the bridesmaid was Miss Mary Murphy, a sister of the bride. The couple are now on an extended honeymoon trip to the White mountains.

John L. Robertson of the Robertson Furniture Co. spoke in favor of allowing parking on the west side of Prescott street, but not on the east side.

"I like to see congested traffic," said Mr. Robertson, "for that means good business. I would like to see the traffic congestion doubled. One-way streets have a 20-minute stop on all business streets. He said that if it is fair for one, it is fair for all."

Councillor Adams asked Mr. Robertson what he thought of a scheme to transfer the business of the district court from the police station to the Lowell jail and to tear down the station and use the area as a parking space.

Mr. Robertson said that he was not quite prepared to answer the question.

Thomas Lee, manager of the Lowell division of the Eastern Mass. St. Ry. Co., said that if parking should be allowed on the west side of Central street between the canal bridge and Market street, the cars coming from Prescott street would not be able to make a swing into Central street.

He also suggested that no parking be allowed on Merrimack street on the N. E. A. side, between Dutcher and Shattuck streets, and also on Central side between Tower's corner and Little Appleton street, so-called.

William A. Robertson and Mr. Hussey, the latter representing the Bay State Dye House in Prescott street, spoke in favor of allowing some parking in that street.

The hearing was closed at 8:40 o'clock. Chairman Gallagher said that the committee would take the entire matter under consideration.

MASS MEETING SUNDAY Strikers Will Meet on South Common — Brass Band From Fall River

Another mass meeting will be held Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock on the South common. Local and out of town speakers will address the gathering and it is expected that among them will be John L. Campos of Fall River, an organizer for the United Textile Workers of America who will speak in the Portuguese language.

A feature of the meeting will be the presence of a brass band from Fall River, which will give a delightful selection, John Hanley will preside over the meeting, and it is said that an important announcement will be made by him.

The "Dollar" drive organized by the strikers for their benefit, will be brought to a close this evening or tomorrow as it was announced at strike headquarters this morning that the only merchants who have not been visited by the collectors are those whose establishments are in Merrimack street and it was expected they would be seen today or tomorrow morning. If there are any business men who have not been visited by the committee, they would like to join their checks to the strikers, they may send their checks to Mrs. Anna Beagles, treasurer of the strike committee, Trades & Labor hall, Central street.

HEARING ON AUTO PARKING

Mayor Presents Schedule of Proposed Changes in Auto Parking Regulations

One Proponent of Plan Said
Congested Streets Mean
Good Business

John L. Robertson of the Robertson Furniture Co. and president of the Old Lowell National bank last night told members of the council committee on ordinances that he wishes traffic congestion in downtown streets might be doubled instead of reduced.

"Congested streets mean good business," he declared, "and one-way thoroughfares and strict no-parking regulations are detrimental to merchants."

Mr. Robertson made these statements during a hearing on the mayor's schedule of proposed changes in the automobile parking regulations in downtown streets and while he was speaking as a proponent of the idea.

The proposed changes are embraced in the following rules:

No parking on westerly side of Prescott street—not more than 20 minutes.

No parking on easterly side of Prescott street.

No parking on westerly side of Central street and on easterly side from Hurd street to Church street—not more than 20 minutes.

No parking on easterly side of Central street from Merrimack to Hurd.

Parking on southerly side of Merrimack street—not more than 20 minutes.

No parking on northerly side of Merrimack street.

Parking on northerly side of Middle street in Central street—not more than 20 minutes.

No parking on southerly side of Middle street and Market street.

No parking on easterly side of Middle street from Appleton street from Gachan to Central.

The hearing did not develop any great amount of enthusiasm for either side of the question. The traffic regulations committee of the chamber of commerce, represented by its chairman, Henry A. Smith, provided the only out and out opposition to any change whatever from the regulations now in effect. Mr. Smith not only voiced objection of his committee and the directors of the chamber, but also read a number of letters from prominent business men who feel that the present rules are satisfactory.

Prescott street merchants were well represented at the hearing, seeking to have their parking laws in that street. A number of the speakers were neither for nor against the rules in general, but each had a spot or two in which they were interested.

Mr. Thos. Lees of the local street railway company suggested two more locations that might well be included in the proposed changes, the Y. M. C. A. in Merrimack street and on the west side of Central street between Tower's corner and Appleton street.

The hearing was opened at 3:05 o'clock. Chairman James J. Gallagher of the committee on ordinances planned the purpose of the hearing and invited general discussion of the matter.

The committee sitting as auditors were Councillors Adams, Genest, Cameron, Sandler, McMahon and Chairman Gallagher.

Henry A. Smith, chairman of the traffic committee of the chamber of commerce, was the first speaker. He said that he represented not only the committee, but also, the board of directors in opposition to the proposed changes.

He stated that it is the belief of his committee that the regulations now in force are working out satisfactorily. Also, he said, that the proposed changes would cut the parking space downtown almost in half.

Mr. Smith said that when an attempt is made to allow parking on one side of a main street and not on the other, merchants on the side where cars are allowed feel that they are being discriminated against.

Mr. Smith read a number of letters from business men who were unable to be present. The majority of them favored the present system, although there were a few who advocated a change.

In closing, Mr. Smith said that he does not feel that the traffic regulations now in force have been in effect long enough to warrant any change.

John F. Burns, representing the Independent Reef Co., said that he believes that parking should not be allowed on the north side of Market street, but that the south side, where there are no business houses, should be left for parking.

Mr. Robertson of the Robertson Furniture Co. spoke in favor of allowing parking on the west side of Prescott street, but not on the east side.

"I like to see congested traffic," said Mr. Robertson, "for that means good business. I would like to see the traffic congestion doubled. One-way streets have a 20-minute stop on all business streets. He said that if it is fair for one, it is fair for all."

Councillor Adams asked Mr. Robertson what he thought of a scheme to transfer the business of the district court from the police station to the Lowell jail and to tear down the station and use the area as a parking space.

Mr. Robertson said that he was not quite prepared to answer the question.

Thomas Lee, manager of the Lowell division of the Eastern Mass. St. Ry. Co., said that if parking should be allowed on the west side of Central street between the canal bridge and Market street, the cars coming from Prescott street would not be able to make a swing into Central street.

He also suggested that no parking be allowed on Merrimack street on the N. E. A. side, between Dutcher and Shattuck streets, and also on Central side between Tower's corner and Little Appleton street, so-called.

William A. Robertson and Mr. Hussey, the latter representing the Bay State Dye House in Prescott street, spoke in favor of allowing some parking in that street.

The hearing was closed at 8:40 o'clock. Chairman Gallagher said that the committee would take the entire matter under consideration.

Twilight League Notes

No Twilight League game will be played tomorrow.

The C.M.A.C. team, composed of many of the stars of the league, will meet the Lawrence K. of C. team at the Textile campus tomorrow afternoon.

On Sunday the Centralville league leaders will meet the Mount Pleasant K. of C. team at Spaulding park.

Now that the Knights of Columbus have broken into the win column, as a result of a 3 to 2 victory over the Highland Daylights last night Manager Day is confident that the team will maintain a winning stride.

With hot weather upon us a few of the veterans of last year, namely "Charley" Sharkey and "Herbie" White are due to get into the game.

Next Monday night the Broadways and the Centralvilles will have it. A great game is expected.

CITY COUNCIL HOLDS MEETING

Redmond Welch, retired superintendent of police, will seek to recover salary for the length of time he was out of office, dating from the time of his removal by Mayor Brown on Jan. 1 and up to May 30, the day on which he was reinstated to the superintendency by vote of the city council. This period is 16 weeks and five days and figured, more or less roughly, would call for a salary payment of $1126.

A claim for salary covered by this length of time, and accompanied by a request for a hearing before the committee on claims, was presented to the city council last night by Mr. Welch. No action was taken on it, other than to let it follow the usual course of being referred to the claims committee and the city solicitor.

Grant Permit for Burial Ground

The council settled the matter of giving Spaulding park as a burying ground to Page Nine.

TELEGRAPHERS NOT TO BE CUT

CHICAGO, June 9.—Railway telegraphers probably will not be included in the third wage reduction order of the railroad labor board, according to rumors today of the contemplated new slash from railroad payrolls.

The telegraphers number approximately 11,000. So many local conditions on various lines have to be considered that delinquency of an order affecting the telegraphers would necessitate a considerable delay.

New wage cuts to follow the $110,000,000 already lopped off the paychecks of 500,000 maintenance of way employees and 400,000 shovemen will affect 350,000 railroad clerks, signal men, stationery clerks, oilers and marine department employees, according to reports.

Chief among the groups are 22,000 clerks; 22,000 men in the signal departments and 80,000 freight handlers and truckers.

Although board members made no direct statement regarding the next cut, rumors were persistent in predicting a smaller reduction for the clerks than those affecting the shovemen. The reason for this was said to lie in the fact that the clerks did not receive increases proportionately as great as other groups of employees when the wage scale was going up.

With the telegraphers remaining at their posts, it was predicted in some quarters that the likelihood of a strike would be lessened. Even in the event of a strike of shovemen and maintenance of way employees some railroad experts contended that the roads could remain in operation for a considerable time if the telegraphers and trainmen did not join a walkout.

LIQUOR CHARGES ARE DROPPED

BOSTON, June 9.—Herbert W. Downes, supervisor of music in the public schools of Haverhill and a church organist in this city, was brought before a federal commissioner here today, as a result of a raid on his home at Haverhill, last night, when a quantity of whiskey was seized. Commissioner Hayes announced that no warrant would be issued in the case, and that prosecution would be dropped because it was agreed by the prohibition enforcement officials and others that Mr. Downes "was a victim of circumstances."

Prohibition Supervisor James P. Roberts, in a statement to newspapermen after the conference at which the charges were dropped, said the raid and seizure at the Downes home were made as the result of reports that young women students at Bradford academy, had been buying whiskey there.

Mr. Roberts said he chased Miss Catherine Durfee, a graduate of Bradford, the oldest and one of the most fashionable girls in the country, to go to the Downes home, a day or two ago, bringing a flask with her. Miss Durfee reported to him, he said, that the flask was filled by Mrs. Downes, who accepted payment of two dollars for the half pint of whiskey which Miss Durfee brought to Supervisor Roberts' office.

Mr. Roberts added that the whiskey was of good quality and "apparently from the same source of supply as the liquor which we found at the Downes residence yesterday."

It was on this evidence that a search warrant was obtained.

The prohibition supervisor said he went to the Downes home, which is directly opposite Bradford academy, last night, and found two bottles of liquor on the third floor, covered by clothing. Mr. Downes said he knew nothing of the liquor.

"When asked whether she had any liquor in the house," Mr. Roberts' statement added, "Mrs. Downes said that they had a lodger who had some liquor, and the lodger, a Mr. Grover, when questioned, said he had, but that it was all in his room."

"Mr. Downes also told of his lodger, Mr. Grover, having liquor."

DANCING TODAY WITH OLD MERCURY

The following hourly readings were taken today from the thermometer on Uncle Dudley's clock in Merrimack square:

6 a. m.	75
7 a. m.	77
8 a. m.	80
9 a. m.	86
10 a. m.	88
11 a. m.	89
12 noon	90
1 p. m.	91
2 p. m.	91

A breeze from the west took the edge from today's heat by practically clearing humidity from the atmosphere. The day was more bearable than yesterday, although the temperature mounted steadily from the early morning hours.

Last night was distressingly hot, particularly in congested districts, but men of the fire department set down a number of streets and brought a measure of relief.

The sun rose again today like a ball of fire, and although showers had been predicted the sky was practically cloudless. At noon the thermometer in Merrimack square was just 80 degrees, representing a rise of 15 degrees since 6 o'clock. At 2 o'clock it was one degree higher.

The heat was felt a great deal today in most of the public schools and while no sessions were shortened, the daily work was made as light as possible.

$2500 OFFERED FOR SLAYERS

MILTON, June 9.—With a reward of $2500 offered by the selectmen, search for the slayers of Patrolman Emory H. Farrington, whose body was found early yesterday near the Blue Hill reservation, was continued today.

The theory that Farrington was shot down by automobile thieves whom he had detected in the act of stripping a stolen car was almost generally held and officers said they had the description of a small closed car seen traveling rapidly from the scene of the crime at approximately the time of the murder.

The fact that the autopsy revealed that two bullets were fired from a .38 caliber revolver and from behind the victim, with the fact that the patrolman's own revolver was still in his holster, caused the police to believe that he was shot by an unseen assailant.

HEAD CRUSHED, THROAT SLASHED

JACKSON, Mich., June 9.—The body of Miss Alice Malott, 10, assistant manager of the Crittenden Home for Girls here, was found with the head crushed and throat slashed near the home this morning. An axe and razor had been used by her assailant and indications are that a long struggle took place. No clue to the slayer has been uncovered, but bloodhounds are being used in the pursuit.

The clothing had been torn from the body, the woman having been gagged with a handkerchief.

MILL MAN AND GIRL KIDNAPPED

ANDERSON, S. C., June 9.—Robert W. Sullivan, secretary and treasurer of the Orr cotton mills, and Miss Ruby Floyd, were kidnapped from an automobile in front of the young woman's home here last night by masked men who "gave them a lecture" as they described it, and dropped them in the woods some three miles out of town.

Sullivan, who is an official of the South Carolina Cotton Manufacturers' association, was warned not to be seen in Miss Floyd's company again, he told the police, but he denied reports that he had been beaten. He and Miss Floyd informed the police that the men were dressed in regulars, resembling that of the Ku Klux Klan and Miss Floyd asserted that she was positive one of the men was a negro. The couple said they thought they would be unable to identify any of their abductors.

KID WEDGE IN MOVIES

TUCSON, Ariz., June 9.—Fred "Kid" Wedge, lumberjack, former prize fighter, and more recently a student at Harvard, plans to leave Tucson to enter the movies in a picture of his own life story, he said today. Wedge said he intended to employ his profits to return to Harvard, which he was compelled to leave on account of waning finances.

OWNER OF INDIANS DEAD

James C. Dunn, President of Cleveland Am. League Team; Died Today

CHICAGO, June 9.—(By the Associated Press) James C. Dunn, president and chief officer of the Cleveland American League Baseball club, died here at 6:10 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Dunn's death came after a long illness which first became acute last February. He is survived only by his widow.

Game Called Off

CLEVELAND, June 9.—Manager E. J. Spiller, on receiving a message from Chicago that James C. Dunn had died this morning, announced that today's game between the Cleveland and Chicago teams here would be postponed.

WAR VETERANS ELIGIBLE

Result of Examination for Superintendent of Ashes and Waste Collection.

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, June 9.—Announcement was made today by the state department of civil service that it has established a list of 12 men who are eligible for appointments to the position of superintendent of ashes and waste collection in the city of Lowell.

The examination as ordered by the department was held April 13, and was taken by 25 men, among whom Mr. Sutton Wilson, the present incumbent, was not included. Today the department announces that 12 of these men were successful in passing and that if the work is to be continued, it will insist upon the appointment of some one from the eligible list, as required by the civil service law.

Those eligible for appointment, all of whom are World War veterans, are as follows, in order of their ranking: Michael H. Harrington, 16 Fifth Avenue; Patrick H. Queenan, 37 Merrimack street; Garrett G. Royal, 22 Phillips street; Cornelius E. Desmond, 125 Cross street; Jariah R. Dacey, 178 Andover street; James L. Sexton, 284 Gibson street; James J. Powers, 108 Read street; William E. Brown, 46 Third street; William B. Reilly, 107 Inland street; John B. Cassidy, 6 Parnell street, Roxbury; Thomas P. Woodford, 420 West Fourth street, South Boston.

REUNION OF AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The third annual reunion of the American field service, the volunteer organization of American ambulance and camion drivers which distinguished itself in the world war, begins today in Plymouth, Mass., and will continue until Sunday.

Representative A. Platt Andrews of Massachusetts, who as inspector general of the service, organized and directed the 2400 Americans until the United States entered the war, has come to attend the reunion. The field service veterans now maintain an organization and send each year about 30 American students to French universities for graduate study.

HARDING SPEAKS AT PRINCETON

PRINCETON, N. J., June 9.—Prize for Princeton's part in the World war and in all previous wars of the United States, as well as for her achievements through her sons in the paths of peace, was voiced by President Harding today in an address in connection with his receiving an honorary degree from the university.

"It can think of no more appropriate message to be addressed to the Princeton community," he declared, "than an expression of earnest hope that it may live up to its opportunities."

"ADAM AND EVE" PLEAD GUILTY OF CHARGES

HOULTON, Me., June 9.—A plea of guilty to five charges of violation of the state game laws was made today in the municipal court by Carl A. Sutter and his wife of Boston, whose six weeks' retreat into the virgin forests of Arnoosook county as the "modern Adam and Eve" was interrupted by their arrest yesterday in Township 5, range 3, near Hove Brook.

The fines and costs imposed totalled $43.15. They were given until 2 o'clock this afternoon to pay or enter an appeal to the supreme court from the sentences imposed.

It was understood that Mrs. Sutter pleaded guilty to all five counts, through a misunderstanding, and that it was on this account that an appeal was being considered. They were charged with camping and kindling fires, without the services of a registered guide, killing a deer and having parts of it in their possession, hunting without a license, fishing without a license and killing a partridge.

Head Constable Taken by Republicans

BELFAST, June 9.—(By the Associated Press)—It was learned today that the republican forces upon evacuating Pettigoe took with them W. A. Murphy, formerly a captain in the Enniskillen fusiliers and now head constable of the Ulster specials. Thomas Enery, George Hall and Robert J. Jones, constables of the same force, also were taken. None of the captives has been heard from.

GIRL OF 12 SHOT AND KILLED FATHER

WASHINGTON, Pa., June 9.—Charged with shooting and killing her father, 12-year-old Mary Scorsini, of Marianna, is being held in the juvenile detention home here.

According to the police, the girl admitted that she fired three shots, one of which entered the back of her father's head. She claimed the shooting followed a series of attacks on her mother and herself.

TWO FORMER SENATORS DEAD

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 9.—Two former state senators who served in the same year, 1909, died here today. Major Luzerne Ludington, eighth district, succumbed to a month's illness of Frank A. Stiles, 12th district, died on an operation performed Sunday. Major Ludington was long identified with the state's oyster industry.

PEASANT EMBROIDERIES

Peasant embroideries are all characterized by the use of brilliant colors—chiefly red and blue, helped out with touches of orange, purple, green and yellow. Odd looking fruit, tulips, bellflowers and bizarre birds are the favorite patterns. Sometimes the designs are embroidered, but more often they are applied to a garment in some strongly contrasting color.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—President Harding, in a special message to the senate yesterday, stated that the policy of the navy and interior departments in dealing with the naval oil reserves at Teapot Dome, including private leases, has his full approval. The president transmitted a voluminous report made to him by Secretary Fall regarding disposition of the naval reserves. Mr. Harding said the report was not to be construed as a defense of the administration policy, but to give information to the senate in connection with the investigation recently ordered by the senate. The president added that it was only fair to state that the policy of the navy and interior departments dealing with the naval reserves were "submitted to me prior to the adoption thereof and the policy decided upon and the subsequent acts have at all times had my entire approval." The president's message and Secretary Fall's report were referred to the public lands committee, which today received a truckload of papers containing all correspondence for years back with respect to private leasing on the three reserves. Secretary Fall, in a letter to the president accompanying the report, said that he was handing the president the document "in the sincere belief that the contracts entered into and the policy as formulated and as finally carried out up to date, will redound to the credit of your administration, both in the immediate present and the distant future."

The president wrote that he was sending the report to the senate with the hope that it might be of assistance to the house land committee in making its investigation under the direction under the senate resolution. He added that the report was comprehensive and "gives details of the handling of all naval petroleum matters up to the present date."

WALSH SAYS PUBLIC SICK OF COAL GOUGING

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The coal strike was brought into senate debate yesterday by Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, who declared that "there is a limit to the patience of our people" and that "extortion is going on with apparent governmental approval."

"Whether operators or miners are responsible for the prevailing condition," said Senator Walsh, "the general public will begin to care less and less and will come to the inevitable conclusion that the coal industry is so organized that it is no longer being conducted from motives of service but motives of greed and profit."

The public is going to demand," he said, "that motives of service be superior to motives of profit. But the chief trouble today in the bituminous situation is that the motives of the operators are not merely motives of future profit but motives of extortion and immediate gain."

"The public is tired of operators associating themselves to insure profits and laborers associating themselves to insure good wages. What the public will demand if this condition continues is a new system in the conduct of this business."

"My, this cellar
smells clean"
—said Bert

"Last Monday evening Bert went into the cellar to get the garden
tools.

"What's happened down here?"
he said. "It has never smelled so
clean before."

"I had used Sylpho-Nathol that morning for the first time. Our cellar wasn't different from hundreds of others and I kept it clean
as could be. But it had had a damp, unpleasant, just-noticeable odor we simply could not get rid of until
we used Sylpho-Nathol.

"I had put off using a disinfectant. So many of them leave such an unpleasant smell, and are messy
and hard to mix. Sylpho-Nathol has none of those objections.

"I ordered a bottle from the grocer. It was the easiest thing to prepare—a teaspoonful in a quart
of warm water made a clean-smelling, pearly-gray solution. I sprinkled it all around the cellar.
The results were wonderful.

"Since then I have used Sylpho-
Nathol every day all over the house.
A tablespoonful to a pail makes
mop water that destroys the germs
that breed in floor cracks and crannies. Sprinkled over the garbage it keeps away disease-carrying flies. It rids sink drains and pipes of annoying, persistent smells. And it is indispensable for
the sanitary cleansing of bathroom
fixtures and as a flush for the closet
bowl.

"Sylpho-Nathol has many other household uses. It's splendid for wiping off shelves and sprinkling
in all sorts of hard-to-get-at places."

Sylpho-Nathol is pleasant and easy to use. Its faint, friendly odor doesn't linger. Though 4½ times stronger than carbolic acid,
it is as safe to have in the house as
a cake of scouring soap.

Your grocer, or druggist, has
Sylpho-Nathol in four handy sizes,
15c, 35c, 65c, $1.25. If he hasn't it,
he can get it easily. Just ask for it by the name—"Sylpho-Nathol."

Marie "Peggy" Beal, Slayer
of "Perfect Lover," Declares Male Polygamous

KANSAS CITY, June 8.—"I have killed a man and the whole world
seems to be asking the eternal 'why.'"
Marie "Peggy" Beal, her black bob-
bed hair, forming a dark outline for
her small head and sharply defined
face, prefaced the first complete account of her reasons for slaying F.
Warren Anderson, Kansas City and Philadelphia department store welfare director, her "perfect lover" in
the "third floor back" the couple occupied in an obscure hotel here, in
the dawn of Saturday morning.

"My own story, my past life and loves, my most intimate affairs have become public property," she deplored.

"I am something for a public holiday,
the woman who kills.

"A jury is going to try me and find
me guilty.

"I am willing they should, for my heart has died and what becomes of
my body is but small moment now.

"But if all I am going through now
saves but one girl from such a fate
as mine, I shall not have lived in vain.

I have not turned man hater, one man's sin has not turned me against
all men.

"But in the one man I know so well,
my 'perfect love,' I believe I have found the trait of all men, even since Adam.

"Warren, the man I believed perfect, was no different than all men, I believe he was more daring—that is all.

"For it is in all men to deceive. A woman can love but one man; a man
cannot love but one woman.

"Warren told me he had loved 50,
he wrote their names for me, and told
me of their intimate personalities,
their hair, their eyes, their manner-
isms.

"I love them all, Peg," he said.

"It was then I realized for the first
time, the true nature of man.

"Since then, as I lay here on my cot, I have wondered at the wisdom
of modern civilization. When the world was young, man recognized the spirit of polygamy within man.

"I do not believe it is I who failed.
I do believe it is the woman's fault in the thousands upon thousands
of unhappy heart affairs which fill
volumes of newspaper space today.

"Rather it is the inborn spirit of man.

"Some are cowards of their conscience. They are the good men of every community. Others are 'not found out.' Still others are like Warren.

"I tried by every wile of woman to hold his 'perfect love.' I wanted him

Blue Serge Suit

WITH EXTRA PANTS OF
TO YOUR MEASURE FOR

$26.50

The reason why the average motorist carries a spare tire is for emergency. A blow-out, a puncture or stone bruise is liable to happen any moment. So it is with a pair of trousers, they stand most of the wear, and an extra pair doubles the life of the suit.

I buy several pieces for spot cash. I don't claim these goods are $40 value—because I don't know by what standard $40 value might be measured in clothing. I do say they are 14-oz. in weight, twisted worsted both ways, absolutely wool, and no tailor advertises this make serge under $30 for a suit of clothes.

I don't care how big you are, if you can get through my door without blocking traffic, there will be no extra charge. I am going to turn these goods into cash in the next ten days. Every man should own a Blue Serge Suit and you can't find a better value than this 14-oz. material at this price of suit and extra pants of same material, made to your measure, while they last, for $26.50.

Signed, MITCHELL.

for myself. He had planted the seed of love in my heart, as he told me,
and it grew.

"Do not guard a man too closely,
the sob sisters of the press advise,
lest he grow restless under the wifely rule and seek companionship else-never ask for anything in return.

"I gave my soul to Warren.

DARING BANDIT

MEXICO CITY, June 8.—A bandit
who for more than three years has
led a roving band of marauders
through the Tampico oil fields, was killed the other day by one of his own countrymen who refused to believe that Monte Michaels, six shooter
in hand, was on a friendly mission
when he attempted forced entrance
to the headquarters of a petroleum
camp. Monte, a hard-hitting and straight shooting American, came to Tampico several years ago, essentially to work in the oil fields. He tried of drilling and pumping and started
out to gather some of the plentiful gold by means of the familiar attack-up system. He prospered and he gathered followers.

GIRLS! WHITEN SKIN WITH LEMON JUICE

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckles, sunburn and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.—Adv.

HALF FARE FOR CHILDREN DURING SUMMER

BOSTON, June 9.—Representatives T. J. Driscoll of Boston and Francis of Charlestown won a notable victory in the house yesterday, when he succeeded in overturning the recommendation of the house rules committee and secured the adoption of an order requesting the Boston Elevated trustees to allow children under 14 to ride for half fare during the months of July and August.

Both Driscoll and Francis argued that the children in the congested sections of Boston should be allowed an opportunity of getting to the beaches and bathing spots during the period of vacation from school. The children are now allowed to ride for half fare, they argued, during the school terms, and many of them find it difficult to pay the 10-cent fare necessary for them to get away from the congested parts of the city to recreation spots during the hot weather.

Representative Hull of Leominster in charge of the adverse report of the rules committee, argued that the order is unnecessary and that the trustees can put the half fare into effect if they desire. The house at first accepted the report of the rules committee. Later in the session Driscoll moved reconsideration, in which he was supported by Francis, and the order was adopted.

RECREATION HUT FOR DISABLED VETERANS

Plans for a drive to construct a recreation hut for invalided veterans at the Croton hospital were discussed at a special meeting of the auxiliary of Walker-Rogers post, 662, Veterans of Foreign Wars, which was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jennie Garrity, 82 Westford street. The principal speaker was Thomas Cady, chairman of the welfare committee at the hospital, who outlined the needs of such a building at the hospital. He informed his listeners that a few days ago the Lowell Mason choir gave a concert at the hospital and at that time it was necessary to move bed patients out of one of the rooms in order to give the concert. He said the project of erecting a recreation hut has met with the approval of the Rotary club, the Boys' club and other organizations and also that Mayor Brown is strongly in favor of such an improvement. The matter will again be discussed at a later date. During the meeting refreshments were served and a musical entertainment was given.

THE BOY SCOUT STRATEGY BOARD

The Boy Scout strategy board, under the direction of C. D. A. Grasse, met last night for the purpose of outlining the work of the organization as applied to the boys of Lowell and vicinity. The next meeting of the general committee, composed of every one who is interested in the movement, will be held in the chamber of commerce headquarters on Monday at 8 p. m. At this meeting captains will make their first reports on the money raised by the various teams.

Last night at Tyngsboro, the workers of that district held a meeting at the home of Dr. F. D. Lambert. A group of scouts has been organized in this section under the direction of Carlos W. Dunning. About 30 boys have already asked to join. At 7:15 tonight, the Chelmsford Centre troops headed by Reid I. Ripley, will attend a lecture by W. E. Brown, New England scout executive. Mr. Ripley is awaiting a successor, as he is soon to leave Lowell.

ANOTHER RAID IN WORTHEN STREET

About 200 gallons of moonshine and 50 cases of beer were found and confiscated last night by members of the liquor squad who discovered the contraband buried near a house in Worthen street. In addition to the "shine" and beer the police discovered 50 cases of empty beer bottles, a capping machine and much other paraphernalia used in the manufacture and distribution of "shine" and beer. The raiding officers include Serg. Winn, and Officers Moore, Conney, Aldrich, Killoy, Shapiro and Hunter.

PRINCETON MONUMENT DEDICATED BY HARDING

PRINCETON, N. J., June 9.—The Princeton battle monument, commemorating the battle of Princeton, dedicated by Pres. Harding today, is from the hand of F. W. MacMonnies, of New York, who created the much discussed Clive statue in front of the New York city hall. He has been working on it since 1905, the period of the war excepted. It is located on Nassau street, in front of the old Princeton Inn, and was erected by the Princeton Battle Monument committee, which raised $300,000 for the purpose.

The memorial is a large relief with General Washington as the main figure, thus combining the ideas of the heroic, of fame and of victory. It represents Washington at the battle of Princeton, 1777, watching his men as they retreat. General Mercer, who was killed in the battle, lies dying at his feet. The lower part of the monument consists of several minor figures portraying several forms of heroic under difficult circumstances of the battle. Dr. P. S. Grant, of New York, posed for General Mercer; Dr. Allen Marquand for the soldier who is rushing forward, and Charles Dana Gibson, the illustrator, for the figure who is supporting the fallen general.

DANIELSON, Conn., June 8.—The body found on the N.Y. N.H. & H.R.R. tracks two miles below here, early Thursday morning, was positively identified last night as that of Charles Jenks of Providence, R.I. The body was found beside a pile of railroad ties which had been wired to the track in an evident attempt at train wrecking. Coroner Arthur G. Bill said his finding would probably be prepared in three weeks and was understood to have indicated it will be that of suicide. It was said that Mr. Jenks had been in a hospital for the insane some five years ago and that recently he had suffered from heart trouble. He disappeared last Monday afternoon.

Break in Central Bridge Dis-

Other Business

Westford street and Broadway will be resurfaced with amiesite and the work will be started in the very near future. This decision was reached at a meeting of the public service board held last yesterday afternoon in the course of which Chairman Murphy and Engineer George Bowers of the board gave an outline of their trip through the state of Connecticut Wednesday, which was made for the purpose of inspecting roads built with amiesite. In the course of the meeting the board voted to recommend to the mayor the purchase of 12,100 sq. yards of this asphaltic preparation at $2.94 per ton, the material to be laid by the city employees under the supervision of a foreman of the company that handles the material. The city will receive a guarantee of three years, while the company will also give a maintenance guarantee for eight years at a cost of 8 cents a square yard.

Mr. Bowers stated that miles and miles of road built with amiesite were inspected in Connecticut and in his opinion this asphaltic composition is well worth the money, he said it

Mark Ingham, agent of the Silosia mills in North Chelmsford, who will soon sever his connection with the mill, was tendered a farewell banquet by the overseers of the mill last evening, the festivities being held at the Richardson hotel. The evening's program included community singing, led by Raymond O'Neill, and addresses by John E. Hogan, who acted as toastmaster; Peter Plcken and Mr. Ingham. As a token of esteem the guest of honor was presented a handsome traveling case fitted up with useful articles. The committee in charge of arrangements consisted of Al-fred Berry, chairman; John Curry, Arthur Rousseau, Albert Metcalfe, James McEnaney and William T. Plcken. Mr. and Mrs. Ingham will soon sail for England, where they will spend a few months.

COAL PRICES HELD DOWN

Hoover Says Essential Thing About Prices is That Run-away Market Has Stopped

Latest Development in Connection With Agitation in Senate Over Strike

WASHINGTON, June 8.—A statement from Secretary Hoover declaring "the essential things about coal prices is that the runaway market has been stopped," was the latest development today in connection with agitation in the senate over the strike situation and the plan adopted by the secretary for holding prices at a fair level during the troupe of the industry.

Issued after the assertion by Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, on the senate floor, yesterday, that the public patience was being exhausted by coal operators taking advantage of agreements reached with Mr. Hoover to boost their prices to retailers, the secretary's statement said that "some of the senators have been misinformed by misleading statements from a small group of retailers, who object strenuously to any attempt to restrain prices." The fact is, Mr. Hoover contended, that prices have risen from the level reached on May 16, and the public has been protected from a repetition of 1920 conditions.

Incident at Belfast on Monday Night Continues to Agitate Ulster Capital

Aid of International Red Cross Sought for the Sick and Wounded

LONDON, June 9. (By the Associated Press.)—The incident in Belfast Monday night when the Mater hospital was fired upon, continues to agitate the Ulster capital, according to press dispatches. The hospital authorities telegraphed the International Red Cross headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland, protesting against the occurrence, demanding the immediate protection of British troops and also asking the Red Cross to "come to the help of our sick and wounded."

The Geneva office replied that it was ready to take all necessary steps and asked to whom the Red Cross communication should be addressed, to which the hospital authorities replied the British government.

The word "wounded" used in the message to Geneva referred to sufferers from previous street fights who are being cared for in the hospital.

Garbage Made His Hogs Drunk

FITCHBURG, June 9.—Acting on the complaint of the city garbage collector that home brew mash in garbage has made his hogs drunk, and that some of them have died as a result, the board of health has announced that no garbage containing "poisonous matter" will be collected hereafter. The complaint said that some of the young pigs have been so stunted in their growth by over indulgence in the alcoholic garbage that they have been unfit for sale.

City Council Holds Meeting

ground by granting the permit after receiving a favorable report from the board of health on the sanitation phase of the proposition. Although the permit was granted, the council received a petition in remonstrance, signed by 103 residents of Belvidere, most of whom live in Rogers street. Other bright spots of the meeting were unsuccessful attempts to take from the table the mayor's nomination for a new board of assessors and failure on the part of Councillor Gallagher to force action on the mayor's order to transfer $20,000 from the overlay surplus account to an appropriation for the maintenance of the memorial auditorium.

The mayor presented the name of Charles L. Gallagher for the position

Doston Resident Says She Eats Better, Sleeps Better and Feels Better Than in Four Years—Dyspepsia Entirely Overcome

"I have actually gained eight pounds in two weeks' time and am now eating better, sleeping better and feeling better than I have in three or four years," said Mrs. Celesta Poll, 32 Poline street, Boston, Mass., recently, in telling of the benefits she has derived from the use of Tanlac.

"My stomach was in such a bad fix before I took Tanlac that I did not dare eat much of anything, for if I did I would have so much pain and distress from indigestion that I felt like I was going to die. I was so run down and weak from lack of nourishment that I could not do my housework."

"I was so nervous I couldn't keep still during the day nor sleep at night. I can see now if it had not been for Tanlac I would have had to give up entirely. I am now feeling strong and healthy and all the credit belongs to Tanlac."

The council was called to order by President Bagley at 8.43 o'clock.

Petitions for garage and gasoline licenses and street acceptances were referred to the board of public service.

Welch Seeks Back Salary

President Bagley read a claim from Redmond Welch for salary from Jan. 3 to May 20, 1922, as chief of police and asking for a hearing before the committee on claims.

The petition, written on the office stationery of Qua, Howard & Rogers, stated that inasmuch as Redmond Welch had been removed from the office of superintendent of police on Jan. 3 and subsequently reinstated after a hearing on May 20, compensation is asked based on section 36 of the city charter, in which it is provided that after a removed officer is reinstated by a two-thirds vote of the council, the removed officer shall be treated as if he had never been removed.

The period for which compensation is sought is 16 weeks and five days.

President Bagley read a lengthy report from the board of health on the matter of using Springfield park as a burial ground for Polish people.

A petition was read, bearing the signatures of 103 residents of Belvidere, protesting against the granting of the permit.

On motion of Councillor McMeniman, the council unanimously voted to accept the report of the board and to grant the petition.

President Bagley read an opinion from City Solicitor Edward J. Tierney, which stated that when the mayor nominates an entire board at one time such as the board of assessors, the council should vote on the board as a unit, naming in each instance the present incumbent to be succeeded.

ST. LAWRENCE PROJECT

New York Official Replies
to Editorial Appearing in
The Lowell Sun

The following communication is received from the president of the New York state waterways conference committee:

60 Madison Avenue, New York City.

June 2, 1922.

Editor, The Sun, Lowell, Mass.
Dear Sir: In discussing the proposed St. Lawrence seaway, The Sun in its editorial of May 23, takes the general position that the development of the St. Lawrence is wholly dependent upon the plan proposed by the International Joint Commission.

The Sun points out that New England needs cheaper power, cheaper fuel and cheaper food, and in this contention you are evidently correct.

What The Sun neglects to show is the connection between the St. Lawrence seaway plan as proposed by the International Joint Commission and New England power, fuel and food needs. As far as transportation is concerned, it is apparent that New England would not be supplied with either foodstuffs or fuel by means of ocean vessels sailing between cities on the Great Lakes and European ports. Neither is it at all likely that the cheapest way of reaching New England from Buffalo is to sail the entire length of the St. Lawrence and then down the coast to Boston. The New York State Barge canal certainly offers a more logical route.

As far as transportation is concerned, it is now possible for barges to haul bulk commodities from Buffalo to Montreal as cheaply as these cargoes can be carried by ocean-going vessels, even when the re-loading charges are considered. Even though the St. Lawrence were a seaway, bulk cargoes arriving by water would reach Montreal in lake or canal craft.

New England has just grounds for complaint, however, on the score that present water facilities are not now being utilized. Neither the barge canal nor the St. Lawrence rapids are being utilized to more than 1-16 of their capacity. Nevertheless, rates by water are lower than rail rates and as traffic grows, water rates tend to fall.

The power proposition is a different one entirely. Canada has never regarded the transportation features of the proposed St. Lawrence seaway seriously. That, however, is not the case as far as power is concerned. The potential horse power that could be developed on the first three sections of the proposed seaway improvement is estimated at 2,500,000. Of this amount only 200,000 has been developed. The first three sections lie wholly within the province of Quebec. It is not necessary for Canada to negotiate a treaty with the United States in order to develop the horse power of the St. Lawrence between Montreal and Lake St. Francis. Canada, however, has had considerable experience with public developments. She has found that plants developed under governmental auspices have not been able to furnish power to the consumer at rates as low as those quoted by the plants developed under private auspices. Many Canadians, therefore, are inclined to take the view that power developments conducted under international auspices would be no more efficient than power developments conducted under national auspices.

With reference to the international section of the proposed power development, there is an entire absence of agreement among authorities. Colonel Hugh L. Cooper takes the general view that if the international commission follows its present plan, its power plant developments on the St. Lawrence will not be able to compete with steam plants. Col. Cooper may be wrong. Someone is mistaken.

Arthur Survevor, vice president of the Engineering Institute of Canada, Col. Cooper, and H. deB. Parsons, all engineers of note, place the cost of the St. Lawrence development at $1,500,000,000 as a minimum. The engineers of the International Joint Commission place the maximum cost at less than $550,000,000. Very clearly there is need for a very careful checking of figures. Fortunately perhaps, Canada's decision not to negotiate a treaty with the United States at this time affords a period of pause during which facts and figures can be checked. New England transportation and power needs are compelling. It does not follow that those needs can be completely met only by giving complete assent to the St. Lawrence waterway plan as they now stand. The Canadian government has decided that it does not need this waterway just now, and it would undoubtedly be worth while if the American public inquired carefully into the reasons that impelled our Canadian cousins to reach that decision.

Yours sincerely,
JOHN D. DUNLOP, Chairman.

Radio Cadet Corps Is Start for National Army of Radio Fans

A DETAIL OF THE RADIO CADET CORPS. ARROW SHOWS COLONEL ERNEST E. SCHUBLE. AT RIGHT, CADET IRVING GLANTZ, 10, HOLDING WHAT IS CLAIMED TO BE THE FIRST RADIO SET.

By COL. ERNEST E. SCHUBLE, Commander, Radio Cadet Corps, NEW YORK, June 9.—Eventually everyone will be a radio fan. So why not start breaking him in early?

That's what we are doing in our Radio Cadet Corps, the first organization of its kind in the country. At the age of 12 we begin teaching the youngsters the fundamentals of radio. By the time he is 12 or 13, he is a full-fledged fan—knowing enough about a radio set to make a practical use of it. He can fix up his outfit anywhere, "listen in" and receive not only the broadcast programs but the radio messages that are flashing through the air at all times.

The call of radio seems universal. The boy in the crowded city is just as keen to become an adept at it as the boy on the farm. The call of radio seems universal. The boy in the crowded city is just as keen to become an adept at it as the boy on the farm.

There are several hundred in the corps now, and the number is growing rapidly. I see no reason why similar groups should not be organized throughout the country. For disciplinary reasons it is suggested that the corps be formed on a military basis—with some distinctive uniform to give the group a solidarity. It will help make them snappy. At the recent radio show in New York our boys won many prizes for their exhibits. We are now going on week-end hikes. No matter where we camp out, the boys are always able to keep in touch with their homes—by radio. It is rapidly becoming the new outdoor American sport.

Engineers Seeking Secrecy In Radio Transmission

BY PAUL F. GODLEY, America's Foremost Radio Authority. Eventually means will be found whereby radio messages will be sent in comparative secrecy.

Many steps tending toward this end have already been announced. But the first drawback to all present methods has been the expense of equipment. There are two methods of insuring secrecy in the transmission of radio messages. The first—the one which is most likely to be used in the near future—consists in broadcasting a type of wave which cannot be translated by a receiver unless that instrument has been so constructed as to contain a "key."

Another method consists in the use of a wave which is produced in the usual manner. The voice which is to be carried by the wave is thrown upon it. Then a whole is distorted in a way known as "distortion." Upon arriving at the distant station, a receiver signal is again "distorted" in a manner exactly equal and opposite to the first distortion, with the result that the telephone signal is again intelligible. This type of secrecy has the drawback that, in addition to going directly to that one person for whom it is intended, it also spreads in every direction, and acts as interference, except for its own station. A second method of sending radio messages in secrecy consists in the use of a radio which has been designed so that the wave along a given path so that the transmitted energy travels along that path alone. The message is capable of reception only by stations which are in that path. This would reduce to a great extent the possibility of radio telephone conversations being intercepted by those for whom they were not intended. Transmitting systems of this type were used by our expeditionary forces on the western front with considerable success. It should be but a few years before the high-powered stations which plan to provide intercontinental radio telephone service will be utilizing systems of this sort. A combination of these two systems would insure practically complete secrecy in radio communication. Some such combination undoubtedly will be perfected by radio engineers as simpler methods and easier ways of performing the complicated functions of a radio transmitter and receiver are discovered.

THE FARMER'S ISOLATION

The radio will destroy the isolation of the farm. It will bring to rural dwellers more of the advantages of the city. It will furnish a flood of sunshine to the benighted farmer and his family. The emancipation of their souls from the sordid round of drudgery has been realized in the radio. The above is the tone of newspaper articles one sees in connection with the remarkable development of the wireless telephone. But you remember, do you not, that the same claims were made for the rural mail delivery, telephone, the automobiles and good roads. This matter of isolation is relative, and the degree depends on the viewpoint. Lots of people who live in the country are not isolated because they are in close proximity to the greatest thing in the universe—life. They have room for their souls to grow. They enjoy the symphony orchestra of the birds and the painting of the sunsets more than they would enjoy a jazz orchestra or a modern movie thriller, though they have even these as often as they like. So, maybe lots of the sympathy that is wasted on the poor isolated farmer who doesn't have the privilege of hanging out a sign on a crowded street car, or of being rushed into an early grave through fright from automobiles at the crowded crossings, is not fully appreciated by the ones for whom it is meant. Maybe they consider it better to be isolated from the cities to the source of all existence—the soil—Farm Life.

National Radio Chamber of Commerce Factor in Radio Development

NEW YORK, June 9.—The national radio chamber of commerce is negotiating new with the various government departments, such as the bureau of standards, department of commerce, United States Signal Corps and United States navy department, with a view to co-operating with these departments in the standardization of radio apparatus, methods of manufacture, methods of testing, etc. The national radio chamber of commerce intends to work with these departments and assist them in their radio problems. It is planned in the very near future, to have a central testing laboratory for radio apparatus so that the various members of the National radio chamber of commerce and any other manufacturers interested, may avail themselves of the services of such a laboratory for the purpose of testing, outfitting, and making such researches as may be desired.

The national radio chamber of commerce plans to hold a convention in the near future, at which time, it is planned to have a large meeting of the established and reputable radio manufacturers of the United States. It is the general consensus of opinion of the government organizations which have been interviewed with reference to the National radio chamber of commerce, that the movement is the greatest advance in the development of sound radio business manufacturing and organization principles, that has ever been undertaken.

ANOTHER RADIO FAN TO THE FRONT

W. H. Burdson, of Summer street is a real dyed-in-the-wool radio fan, having recently installed a little crystal receiving set, with the antenna wire running from the roof of his own house to that of another adjoining building. Because of the congestion in this district, disturbances at some times felt, but not to any great extent or for any great length of time. In conjunction with George Wagner, a close friend, Mr. Burdson once experimented with a self-made set, and met with a certain degree of success. Today, however, he has a manufactured set which, he says, will compare favorably with any in the city. Though not a member of the Lowell Radio club, Mr. Burdson is loud in his praise of the work of that organization.

CHINA PROVIDES NEW FIELD FOR RADIO

To China goes the honor of installing the longest commercial radio telephone circuit in the world. Radio telephone sets have been installed at Peking and Tientsin, covering a gap of ninety miles. These have been connected with the regular telephone lines of the Chinese government. Music and speeches, aside from the regular commercial business, have already been broadcast. Manufacturers here in America report many orders already being received for small crystal sets and it is only a matter of time before the youth of the "backwoods" will be experimenting with and operating radio apparatus.

A NEW SCHEME FOR "WIRED WIRELESS"

A new scheme for "wired wireless" is in contemplation by certain radio experts, by means of which millions of farmers now out of the regular broadcasting range will be enabled to "listen in" to market and agricultural reports with small crystal sets, which have a receiving range of 10 to 25 miles. This scheme takes into consideration the broadcasting of speech by means of the electrical power lines which cover the country with a network of wires. A sending station may be at one end of a wire which penetrates many miles into the "backwoods" and any farmer who is located less than thirty miles or so from this wire, anywhere along the route, can "listen in" with ease, on a low-priced crystal outfit.

Hanneford Is Termed Greatest Equestrian

One man there is in the newspaper business who knows every circus performer and circus performance of worth that has been given in the last quarter of a century and he is Otto

Floto, the famous sporting editor of the Denver Post and the Kansas City Post—for circuses have been as much an obsession with Floto as sports. He sees every show that is given, often traveling a thousand miles to look at some new act, or to appraise a performance that is supposed to be a bit out of the ordinary.

And of all his experiences, the one outstanding thing of the circus world, to Otto Floto, has been the performance of "Poodles" Hanneford, who is coming to Lowell with the Sells-Floto circus on Saturday, June 10.

Writing in his own paper some time ago, Floto said:

"As we turn back the clock of the days of long ago, when childhood's hour was filled with golden dreams; when we sat up all night to watch the circus come to town and experienced the thrills known only to expectant youth; as we witnessed the unloading of the caravan, memory recalls the glories and feats of James Robinson, the graceful Charles Pish, the dourhearted Billy Dutton, the artist Robert Stokney, Jr., and the picturesque Willie Sells."

"We must concede they were marvelous equestrians, but they were mediocre compared with the wonderful

Poodles Hanneford of our own time and day.

"Some of them could ride as well and as gracefully as Poodles, but none of them possessed the rare artistic comedy mixed with the most grotesque buffoonery and extraordinary feats of horsemanship that Poodles Hanneford of today may boast of."

"Poodles' livelihood does not depend alone on his skill as a horseman. He is funnier than Charlie Chaplin and can perform stunts Charlie could never duplicate. He can step right into Fred Stone's shoes and more than duplicate that comedian's performance."

"They say ambition harassed the career of Caesar, but it is not going to harass or spoil Poodles Hanneford, who is an ordinary mortal and wears well the honors which are heaped upon him, even though he aspires to be recognized as the world's greatest pantomime artist."

The parade will form at 10 o'clock at the old fair grounds on Gorham street and will march down Central to Merriam, to Union, to Middlesex, to Gorham and back to the grounds.

Chief of Police Thomas H. Atkinson has issued the permit. He has also detailed a large force of officers and plain clothes men for duty during the parade and at the circus grounds.

RECITAL BY PUPILS OF EDITH COVE

The annual recital by the pupils of Edith P. Cove was held last night in Kilsen hall, where a large audience was present to enjoy the attractive and varied program.

The pupils who entertained with pleasing numbers were: Lillian Fitzpatrick, Grace Johnson, Helen Blinches, Mildred Finn, Margaret Randall, Helen Jurek, Florence MacBride, Mary Madjes, Orpha Stark, Anna Coleman, Anna Taraszk, Frances Sanbury, Curtis Stanhope, Julia Jotson, Curtis Townsend, Albert Lunn, Edith Zarling, Annah Hapwood, Robert Barclay, Pauline Robinson and Edith Cove.

The visitors were Gladys Pendexter, Mildred Cheney, Marguerite Durt and Helen Connors.

THOUSANDS FLOCK TO CITY BATH HOUSE

More than 3000 men and women and boys and girls flocked to the city bath house yesterday between 11 o'clock in the forenoon and 9 o'clock in the evening to enjoy the first swim of the season under municipal auspices.

The cool waters of the Merrimack never felt any better to the hot and tired bathers than yesterday and from that moment the bath house opened its doors for the first time this year until the "all out" signal was sounded at 9 o'clock, the attendants were busy keeping things moving.

It was a most auspicious opening and on a day particularly fitted for the event.

Writes Letter That Is Worth Reading Very Carefully

Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y. I was afflicted with a very severe sore on my leg for years. I am a teamster. I tried all medicine and salves, but without success. I tried doctors, but they failed to cure me. I couldn't sleep for many nights from pain. Doctors said I could not live for more than two years. Finally Peterson's Ointment was recommended to me and by its use the sore was entirely healed. Thankfully yours, William Hase, West Park, Ohio, March 22, 1919, care P. O. Reitz, Box 199.

Peterson says: "I am proud of the above letter and have hundreds of others that tell of wonderful cures of Eczema, Piles and Skin Diseases."

"JINX" KIRKSEY

Jinx Kirksey, who spent three college years at Stanford trying to beat Charlie Paddock to the tape in the 100-yard dash, is still trying this season to equal the champion's 9 3-8-second record.

Kirksey has trailed Paddock in all their races—but not by much.

Once, a photograph shows, his foot was across the finish line ahead of Paddock's body. Just as the latter touched the string.

Each time, however, there has been just a little margin in Paddock's favor at the end of the lane. Was Kirksey "Jinxed"?

Kirksey has been practicing the hundred in phenomenal form this season—a fast 9 3-8—despite some trouble with weak tendons in one leg.

IN RETIREMENT

Man o' War is living in retirement at present on a stud farm in Kentucky.

Visitors drop in from every state in the Union to see this, the greatest specimen of racing horseflesh of the century. Many of those who come to pay tribute never were interested in racing in the least until Man o' War's triumphs attracted their attention.

On the farm he's known as "Red." His constant attendant is his special groom, a deep brunet of course, this being in "Old Kentucky," who answers, when formally addressed, to the name of "Buck," but who's much better known as "Peck Chops."

"Red" exercises Always under the saddle except during the grazing period, as in his racing days.

Tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock a large class of children will receive first communion at St. Michael's church. In preparation for the reception of this sacrament a two day retreat was held, closing at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

IN MEMORY OF HERO CHAPLAINS

Commemoration Tablet to
Be Installed in Corridor of
State House

Symbolic Design of Memorial
Tablet Will Represent
Dying Mass. Soldier

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, June 8.—Within another month, a tablet commemorative of the sacrifices made by chaplains of Massachusetts regiments in the world war will have been placed in a corridor of the state house.

This became assured today, when announcement was made that the legislative committee on state house, the art commission, and the special legislative commission appointed last year have agreed upon the form of tablet, and upon its location.

The symbolic design of the memorial tablet will represent a dying Massachusetts soldier, who has been carried by two of the chaplains to the protecting structure of a shell hole or dug-out, where with serious faces they were tenderly supporting him as his life ebbs away. The soldier's face is the artist's conception of the representative type of the Massachusetts service man, and the committee appointed to select it, feels that the artist has caught in an excellent manner an expression of Christlike sacrifice. As one member of the committee expressed it: "The whole design makes one think of Christ being taken down from the cross."

The entire committee feels that every soldier who made the supreme sacrifice is indeed worthy of this holy analogy, and that he did indeed, like the Christ, give his life for the world.

Under the plan agreed upon by the committee and the art commission, the entire corridor on the third floor, surrounding the main stairway of the state house, will ultimately be used for tablets and mural paintings, to make a Hall of Fame, commemorating the deeds of sacrifice and valor performed by Massachusetts troops in the World war.

The first panel in the corridor, directly at the left of the south entrance, to the chamber of the house of representatives, has been selected by the committee as the site for the chaplain's tablet, and it is hoped that it may be in place before July 1.

In submitting its report to the legislature today, the special commission, composed of Senator Raymond II. Trefry of Marblehead and Thomas F. Donovan of Boston, Representatives Roland D. Sawyer of Ware and Alfred M. Bessette of New Bedford, Rev. Sturtevant W. Dewar of Winchester and Fr. Michael J. O'Connor of Cambridge, concludes with these words:

No Religious Lines

"Religious history is not always pleasant reading. The long and strife among the sects and denominations, when persecution and hatred, have been a too apparent fact. Regrettable as the religious past has been, it was wiped out by the spirit of the chaplains 'over there.' To quote words of Nathaniel DeValle, 'Over there we knew no racial or religious lines. We were all Americans.'"

"Inspired by one aim, following one noble ideal, our chaplains forgot the petty things, and went among their men as comrades with one another and with every soldier. Only the great naked facts could stand, and chaplains were not 'Catholic' or 'Protestant' in 'No Man's Land,' they were just 'Christians' and religious helpers. Hebrew and Gentile, Catholic and Protestant, united in working side by side to minister to their men, and to take to the aid of our nation in this the strength and fervor of religious faith. When their men were cold and hungry they kept their hearts warm and fed them on the Bread of Life; when their men were weak and tired they refreshed them from the Fountain of Strength—Where shells burst and men fell torn and bleeding they calmly ministered, heroic witnesses of the power of the faith they preached."

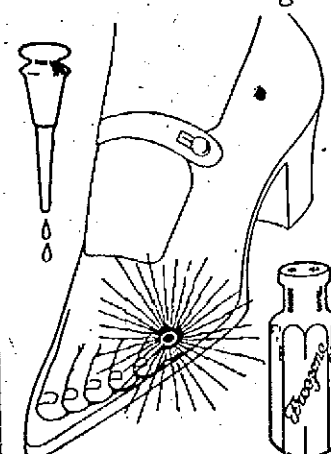

Chaplains Commemorated

The chaplains to be commemorated are:

Reverend Captain Walton S. Danker lived his boyhood days in Pittsfield. He later attended schools in Boston and was ordained to the ministry of the Episcopal church in 1901. In 1904 he was appointed chaplain of the 6th Massachusetts Infantry by Governor John L. Bates, and in 1909 he became chaplain of the 2nd Regiment, as chaplain of which he went to the Mexican border. On March 25, 1917, the 2nd Regiment was taken over into federal service, and on August 6 the regiment was merged into the 104th Rickenbacker said the damage caused his plane in Detroit yesterday when it was struck by lightning had been repaired. He left Niles, Mich., at 3:45 a. m. for Chicago.

THE FEAST OF
CORPUS CHRISTI

A procession, church service and banquet will mark the observance of the feast of Corpus Christi by the members of San Antonio de Padua society Sunday, June 18. This is an annual event with the members of the society, but this year they plan to make the observance the best ever.

According to present arrangements the members of the society will gather in their rooms in Summer street at 10 o'clock and after forming in line, they will march to St. Peter's church in Gorham street, where they will attend the parish mass in a body. They will be headed by a brass band. The sermon at the church will be given by the pastor, Rev. D. J. Kuleher. At the close of the mass the men will return to their headquarters, where dinner will be served, followed by post-prandial exercises.

LOCAL BOY SCOUT DRIVE THE POSTAL SAVINGS BANK

Campaign to Raise Money for Boy Scout Movement Opened Today

That a good report of the money raised by the workers for the local Boy Scout movement may be submitted and tabulated for next Monday night's meeting, to be held in the chamber of commerce headquarters at 8 o'clock, those who started to solicit contributions are busily engaged today in their visits to Lowell citizens from whom contributions are expected. Many encouraging reports regarding the cordial manner in which these workers are being received have already been submitted to headquarters, and an excellent start toward the goal, $6000, is expected at the first meeting on Monday.

At last night's meeting of the executive committee Dr. J. H. Lambert told how simple a matter it was to do the work, if one but gets before the people. "I have not been refused a single subscription," said the doctor, "and the most encouraging thing is the mental attitude of all whom I approach regarding the feeling of the need of this program of citizenship and character building. In this city, Lowell has the questionable distinction of being the largest city in the country without a council of scouts. There are plenty of boys who, during their leisure time, are doing things which may or may not have lasting, beneficial results in their lives. The aim of the scout program is to fill a boy's idle hours with things that are constructive and which will not have any time to spare doing things of doubtful import."

The Chelmsford committee will meet tonight to consider their part in the program. Mr. Read L. Ripley has charge of the Scout troop in Chelmsford, and has been doing excellent work. Calling together his supporters, he, together with Deputy Regional Scout Executive W. E. Brown, will go over with them and discuss the part they have in making the program of service available to more boys in the Lowell district.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION
This year's celebration of the glorious Fourth, as far as the city is concerned, will be limited to band concerts, bell ringing and a display of fireworks on the South common in the evening. There is an appropriation of $1000, available, which will be spent entirely for fireworks.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied, with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair. A well known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now, because it works so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. It's as easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through the hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color, and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. Adv.

PIANO RECITAL BY PUPILS OF MR. HELLER

At Edison hall of St. Anne's parish last evening, the pupils of William C. Heller gave a recital in piano music that was highly enjoyed by a large audience made up of the friends of the teacher and his large class of pupils. The program was a very pretentious one, presenting many features that indicated the careful training under the skilled direction of Mr. Heller as well as hard work on the part of the pupils themselves. Raymond Martin, violinist, accompanied by Miss Grace Martin at the piano, assisted in last evening's program. On the previous evening a recital was also given and the pupils were assisted by St. Anne's choir of men and boys. On both occasions the performance was highly creditable both to teacher and pupils.

In the first recital Mr. Heller's more advanced pupils appeared and last evening the Junior set. The main program was as follows:

- Minuet Mirovitch

VERDICT FOR THE DEFENDANT

In the case of the Waterhouse Welding Co., of Boston, vs. James Reagan of this city, which went to trial at the civil session of the superior court yesterday, the jury late yesterday afternoon returned a verdict for the defendant. The case was an action of contract by which the plaintiff company sought to recover the sum of $300, claiming that it placed a welding machine in the establishment but that the defendant failed to return the same within the time specified in the contract. There was no case tried today for shortly after the opening of court this morning Justice Lawton, who is scheduled to report to the criminal session in Boston next Monday, adjourned court until Monday, June 19, at which time Justice Flynn will occupy the bench.

Attitude as president on the bonus reveal his quiet courage, and the great work of the conference for living armaments, assembled at his call, has won the gratitude of the world. "His charter in things political is the constitution. His guide in things spiritual is the bible. First seeking to make American history sure, he is well aware that charity begins at home, but does not end there. He stands in the tradition of Lincoln, a man of the people, leading the people, heeding the will of the people and the need of the world."

A Cool, Refreshing Drink for Hot Weather

Do you know that iced tea makes one of the best summer beverages—cooling, invigorating and refreshing; that it is inexpensive, costing less than 10 cent glasses? For those who like iced tea we offer a special blend of Formosa or Orange Pekoe Teas which we call our Special Iced Tea Mixture, at

Special Iced Tea Mixture, at

1-4 lb. 12c | 1-2 lb. 23c | 1 lb. 45c

DIRECTIONS FOR MAKING ICED TEA

China or earthenware teapots are best. An even teaspoonful of dry leaf is ample for two cups. The water must be freshly boiled and care should be taken to see that it is really boiling, not merely steaming. When the leaves have steeped for five minutes pour at once the hot and freshly made tea into tall glasses, liberally filled with cracked ice.

Lemon and sugar may be added to suit the taste. Prepared in this manner one gains an idea how truly delicious as a beverage iced tea may be—especially if our Iced Tea Mixture is served.

POPE PIUS ECONOMIZES

Drawing the Purse Strings of Vatican Much Closer Than His Predecessor

ROME, June 8. (By the Associated Press).—Pope Pius is showing his powers of organization and economy even in small matters. Drawing the purse strings of the Vatican much closer than his predecessor, Benedict XV habitually passed with only little examination, the estimates for upkeep of furniture and repairs. Pius has fixed 500 lire, equal to about $12 monthly, for ordinary small repairs, and has appointed a committee of cardinals to examine every detail to see whether it is absolutely necessary.

The pope is attempting to ascertain whether it would not be cheaper to abolish the Vatican studios, replacing the old equipages with a couple of automobiles.

ANIMALS ESCAPE

HEAT PROSTRATION

Despite the fact that the weather has been unusually warm and the humidity great of the last two days, not a single heat prostration of animals has been reported to the humane society agent. This is considered a bit out of the ordinary, but is explained by the fact that animals, especially horses, are being less utilized for labor in the city than in the country. The fact that animal owners in general have heeded the advice given by the society regarding same of animals during extremely hot spells. Relative to horses the advice is to sponge them off frequently, regulate their feed according to the amount of work, see that they are kept in the shade, do not crowd them with too much work, give them plenty of rest between long and hard hauls. As to dogs, keep long-haired ones closely clipped, keep them off the hot sidewalks, bathe frequently, keep on a light diet, keep chained during hotter periods of the day.

Following the advice is at almost a sure preventative for heat prostration, according to Dr. William S. Eaton, veterinarian, who does most of the work for the humane society.

One point which Dr. Eaton made, which will bring relief to many people, is one dealing with the actions of dogs during hot weather. A month or two back there was a great deal of agitation over mad dogs. The doctor points out that dogs, overcome with the heat, especially young dogs, are apt to frolic at the mouth and take this does not mean that they are mad, and a good ducking with cold water will generally bring them around.

One of the reasons for heat prostrations in dogs is too much freedom in running about as they please. Dogs who run on hot sidewalks and hard-furrowed roads are subject to prostration much more quickly than those which are chained during the warmer hours of the day and allowed to roam a bit in fields and cool places toward evening. The veterinarian pointed out that the heat near the sidewalk was four or five degrees greater than at a height reached by humans, which, as an average is four feet farther away from the pavements. As dogs have no foreign covering for their feet, the heat is more easily absorbed by them.

Delorme Murder Trial Postponed

MONTREAL, June 9.—Trial of Rev. Adolphe Delorme for the murder of his half brother, Raoul, today was adjourned until Tuesday by Justice Monet in the Court of King's Bench. The delay was asked by the prosecution, because alienists employed by the crown have not been able to complete their examination of the accused.

THE WORLD A SMALL PLACE AFTER ALL

It has often been said that the world is a small place after all, and in substantiation of this claim, Mrs. Johan de la Parra of 1245 Middlesex street, cites a case of interest locally. In the radio department of The Sun, on Saturday, June 3, there appeared an article and accompanying photograph of a youthful radio prodigy in far-off Los Angeles. It so happens that the youth, Bobbie Garcia, is the nephew of Mrs. de la Parra. When she first saw the photo, the local woman recognized the father of the boy, who also appeared with his son and wife under the caption of the "Garcia Radio Family," and was delighted at the prominence and fame attained by her brother's son who, at the age of eight, is the world's youngest licensed operator.

Mr. Garcia, the father, was at one time manager of the Charlie Chaplin studio in Los Angeles, and is himself an electrical wizard of national repute.

No Change in Manchester Strike Situation

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 9.—Conditions in the textile struggle which has already extended through 18 weeks, were reported quiet and but slightly changed in strike centers throughout New Hampshire today. In this city, stipulations of the injunction granted yesterday prohibiting picketing of mills and molestation of employees were being strictly observed by strike sympathizers. A slightly increased number of workers was reported. Mill officials in Newmarket, Somersworth, Nashua and Dover said that the situation was unchanged with the exception of a steady increase in the number reporting for employment. Exeter and Suncook operators said no definite date for reopening their mills had been set.

The Love Ritual of The "House of David" Brings New Investigations

BY ROY GIBBONS
BENTON HARBOR, Mich., June 9.—"King Benjamin" Purnell, who hasn't shaved or had a haircut in 29 years, is going to be investigated again. Detectives have been snooping around the House of David, temple of the Flying Rollers, a cult of some 900 followers, who live in a combination religious colony and amusement park along the shore of Lake Michigan, just outside of Benton Harbor.

Other investigations by county and state, are promised within three months.

ing Charles W. Gore, prosecuting attorney of Darrin county.

Gore has been spurred to action by repeated reports of peculiar love rites in the House of David, and by rumors of mysterious disappearances of cult members on High Island, a desolate outpost of the organization in upper Michigan.

"These reports have been persisting for years," says Gore. "I believe the time has arrived when they should be either proved or disproved by thorough investigation."

His enemies are spreading false reports as they did formerly," says "King Benjamin." "I am a man of God and live according to His teachings."

Purnell and his wife—she's "Queen Mary"—here—are credited by their followers with having had a vision appointing them God's messengers. They preached that the end of the world was near; several times "King Benjamin" was quoted as having fixed specific dates, but this he denies.

Now "King Benjamin" says the end is coming within 25 years.

That apparently concerns him less than the impending investigations and the inroads modernism is making on the cult—including jazz and flapperism.

"Our colony has endured despite the slanders of myriad enemies," "King Benjamin" says, "but of late modernism has done much harm. Flapperism, jazz music and similar curses have hit us hard."

"These manifestations of modernism have sown seeds of discontent in the hearts of some members. These no longer live in the faith, although they do let their hair and beards grow. But that is not enough."

"We are nearing the end of sin and crime. Christ is coming again within the next 25 years. When He comes every living member of the House of David will be glorified. But they all must live right, eat no meat, work for each other and forget themselves."

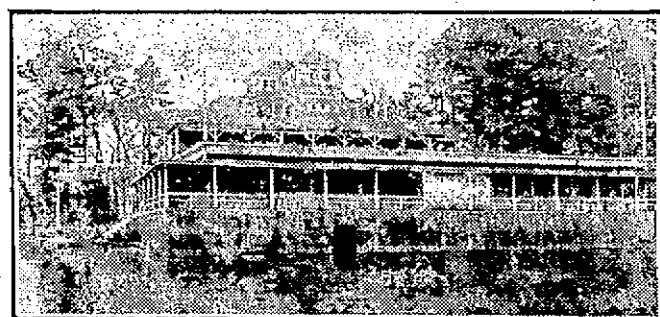

The colony, established in 1903, is run on a communal basis; all members pool their resources and work for the common good. They raise fruit and operate an amusement park, a vegetarian restaurant and therapeutic springs, all patronized by unbelievers. And they have a long haired and bearded baseball team.

Marriage formerly was forbidden, but is fostered now. Bringing children into the world once was branded sinful, but children no longer are barred.

ZONING ORDINANCE APPROVED
In order to endorse the temporary zoning ordinance drawn by the chairman of the committee, the zoning committee of the chamber of commerce met yesterday afternoon at 4.30.

The ordinance was duly approved and as the movement had the previous endorsement of the chamber through its board of directors it was in readiness for presentation to the city council.

Those present at the meeting were: Chairman, John M. O'Donoghue; Allan Dumas, Charles H. Hobson, Walter H. Emmott, Mrs. David W. Dewar, Miss Genevieve Lawrence and Benjamin Pouzzner.

center, where he was a pastor when the war began.

Lieutenant Father John B. DeValles was born in New Bedford, where he spent his boyhood days and was later ordained. He went to France with the 104th Regiment as its K. of C. secretary, and was commissioned United States Chaplain, with the rank of first lieutenant, upon the death of Chaplain Danker. He was one of the 115 men decorated for valor at Appomattox in April, 1918, being the first Catholic chaplain to be decorated for bravery. Eight times in one day he went over the top to bring in a wounded man who was beyond where the rescue squad was allowed to go. His men lovingly called him "the Angel of the Trenches." He was gassed and wounded at the Bois Bruis fight, and broken in health, he was ordered home to recuperate. Chaplain DeValles refused to leave his boys, and when the war was over disease had fastened itself upon him too firmly to be conquered, and he came home only to die. Congress awarded him the Medal of Honor six hours before his death. Lieutenant Father William F. Davitt was born in Holyoke and was located at Worcester at the outbreak of the war. He at once volunteered as a K. of C. chaplain, and was assigned to Camp McArthur in Texas. He went overseas in January, 1918, and was commissioned chaplain and first lieutenant in the 32nd Division. He was with the first American troops on German soil, and was decorated by the French government, his decoration reading in part: "He worked uninterruptedly under violent fire with total disregard of danger."

Chaplain Davitt was the last American officer killed in the war, he being instantly killed in action at five minutes before 11 on November 11, 1918. Lieutenant Father Simon A. O'Rourke was born and reared in Fall River. He entered the naval branch of the service July 15, 1918, and was commissioned chaplain and first lieutenant. He died in the Boston Navy Yard September 20, 1918, where he contracted influenza during the time it was epidemic in our camps. Worn out by administrative night and day, he fell, a sacrificial representative of that great band of heroes who, donned the glory of death of battle, gave up their lives amid the painful sufferings of the disease in the camp—a necessary accompaniment of the waging of war.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem
THE MESSAGE

Though over his lessons he drowzes,
He'll be wide awake with a bang
When summer's blithe advent arouses
The vigor and zest of "the gang."
The boy hears the luring winds humming;
They whisper a message, somehow,
His season of liberty's coming,
"The swimmin' hole's warm enough now!"

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

SWIG HELD FOR ATTACK ON TWO GIRLS

TAUNTON, June 9.—Edward J. Swig, 34 years old, married, and living at 41 Orchard street, was arrested yesterday afternoon on two warrants charging him with criminal assault upon two girls, one 12 years of age and the other 15 years old, whom he is said by the police to have induced to ride with him in his auto into the outskirts of the city. He was bailed in the sum of $1100 by W. J. Dana, a prominent Taunton business man.

Swig, who is a son of Simon Swig of Boston, former president of the Tremont Trust company, denies the charges and declares that he has been "framed."

Upon complaint of Mrs. Maria A. Magano, mother of Alice Magano, no address given, he is charged with assault and battery upon the 12-year-old child. Upon a second warrant sworn by Police Chief James P. Crowley, he is charged with assault upon Julia Crotty, 18 years old, no address given by the police.

On the charge of assault and battery, the bail was placed at $100 and on two other counts, the bail was fixed at $500 each, making a total of $1100.

The police say that Swig, while riding in his automobile in the mid-afternoon, accosted the two girls on the street and invited them to take a ride with him, incidentally commenting on the heat of the day and the enjoyment of an automobile ride. The older girl evinced a willingness to go but the 12-year-old girl is said by the police to have held back and to have shown a disinclination to accept the riding invitation.

The older girl and Swig are said to have followed the smaller girl into the auto. The party drove into the northern outskirts of the city and stopped in the rear of Mayflower fifth company, where the police saw both assaults were made in the machine.

Upon her return home for supper, the younger girl complained to her mother and the mother, Mrs. Magano, hurried to the police station with a complaint. Upon investigation of the charges the police filed three complaints against Swig.

The police then telephoned to the office of Swig, which is in the concern of the C. R. Dean & Co., wholesale and retail cigar dealers on Weir street, and asked him to call at the police station. He answered the telephone message and when apprised of the nature of the police business declared his innocence and arranged for bail.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Vegetables grown in the United States in 1921 had an estimated value of $1,104,000,000, according to the department of agriculture. This was 15.7 per cent. of the total value of all crops. The products of market gardens, which may or may not have been productive enough to be farms within the census definition, are not included in these estimates.

The total value of truck vegetables produced for sale often called the commercial crop, was estimated by the department at $227,000,000.

The potato crop had a farm value of $255,000,000, and the sweet potato, $37,000,000. Together, these two crops comprised 43 per cent. of the value of all vegetables in 1921. The tomato crop of 1921 had a farm value of $50,000,000; the cantaloupe crop was worth $17,000,000; the cucumber, watermelon and cabbage crops each had a value of about $15,000,000.

Farm gardens are a new item in the vegetable list and had an estimated value of $405,000,000 in 1921. The value of the vegetable crop in relation to prominent single crops and to groups of crops has some striking ratios for 1921, a year when the values of the large crops were low. The department pointed out. The total value of the vegetable crop for 1921 was 85 per cent. of the value of the great corn crop; it was almost as large as the value of the hay and forage crops; it was nearly one half as large as the value of the dairy products; it was considerably larger than the value of all poultry products; 46 per cent. larger than the value of the cotton crop; and 60 per cent. larger than the value of the winter and spring wheat crops.

RICKENBACKER'S PLANE STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

DETROIT, June 9.—Captain Eddie Rickenbacker got away for Chicago on the second lap of his transcontinental air flight at 4:21 o'clock, Eastern Standard time, yesterday afternoon, after minor repairs had been made to his plane, damaged earlier in the day when struck by lightning. The start from Detroit was delayed approximately three hours by the accident which resulted in injury to two men who were at work on the plane. One of the victims, Norman McClellan of Roseville, was so seriously affected that physicians at Mount Clemens hospital, where he was taken for treatment, said he would be permanently paralyzed, if his injuries do not prove fatal.

The other man was only slightly injured, it was said. The lightning hit a pole near the hangar where the plane was being "tuned up," then jumped to the engine of the craft.

TWO LATITUDES—AND A LUXURY

66th N. Latitude. Two men and a dog team. Midnight sun. Frozen waters. Heat for the night. A few handfuls of snow are thrown in the tea kettle. Spirit lamp is lighted, kettle boils and tea is made. "Great stuff, Fred," says one. "Tastes like more," "Yes," the other replies. "It's LIPTON'S—the kind we always use down here."

40th N. Latitude. A cheerful drawing room. Bright lights and smiling faces. Butler trundles in the tea-wagon. Tea is poured. Pretty girl whispers "Heard from your son in Alaska?"

Another says, "The tea is delicious. May I have another cup?" It's LIPTON'S—the kind she always serves. Through the civilized world, LIPTON'S is the favorite. Ask your grocer for Lipton's Yellow Label Tea. If he does not sell it, send us his name and address and we will mail you a FREE sample and give you the name of a grocer who can supply you. Thomas J. "CLOSE UP" IMPRESSION OF PRES. HARDING

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Postmaster General Work recently gave a "close-up" impression of President Harding to a group of western visitors who had called at the postoffice department to commend improvements of postal conditions on the Pacific coast. Colleagues of the postmaster general were of the opinion that Dr. Work's description of the president was so unique it should be made public and consequently it was given out today as follows:

"The outstanding characteristic of President Harding is his presence. This can hardly be called a characteristic for it is the sum of many; all in fact that a man has. The president's presence is seen to best advantage when he is receiving the long lines of casual, curious and transient visitors to the White House. This is almost of daily occurrence and always follows the adjournments of cabinet meetings. Many hundreds of visitors to Washington are massed without, waiting for the cabinet officers to leave, when they have been assured they may shake hands with the president.

"The president's art of handshaking has been frequently commented upon. There is no art about it because it is real. It is an instinct. He meets them by the hundreds day after day, forty per minute if there is no hand playing, more if there is music.

"The president likes children and old people, and he is fond of dogs, and they in turn like him, each in their own fashion. The dog 'Laddie Boy,' true to the Alameda instinct for one master only, selected the president as his special friend. Children look up at him and pass on reassured, having forgotten that it was the president who held their hand, while old ladies meet him with, 'Thank God for you, Mr. President, or 'May God bless you, or 'Our country is safe with you.' Often an old lady on that uncertain border line separating the grandmother from the angel, will kiss him hand, greatly to his embarrassment.

"These old people, they impress one and depress him too at times. They have done their work, matured their children and are waiting. Mayhap some are rejoicing them and others may be a distress, but in either event they are their 'children' whom they must soon leave to the vicissitudes of the world. To them, the president seems a guardian and his office a protectorate to those in the little family world so many of us live in.

"To these people the clasp of the president's hand means much. They come purposely to see him. Each one passes on feeling that he had been waiting for them to come. After the greetings as they pass in the spacious room beyond, having departed reluctantly, looking backward, the emotions in the many hearts are beyond knowing, but those critical, suspicious or resentful are all absent and the one feeling is common to all that they are leaving a presence 'where welcome, nor smiles and farewell goes outside.'"

1/9 Quart of Bottle Blueing for 10¢ Or

Stick blue saves you money, space, bother. Far thriftier than liquid blues. You don't pay good money for bottles you can't use. You don't buy water you can get free from your faucet.

Lace Indigo Blue stops one leak in your market purse. Cuts down your washing budget. True blue clean through. No waste, no worry. Makes white clothes whiter—all clothes brighter. One stick dropped into cold or hot water makes a quart of strongest, finest blueing.

Lace Indigo Blue is not for finest lace alone, but for heavy, household washes too

Lace Indigo Blue has a hundred uses round the home. Tints clothes as well as making them white. Restores faded clothing to its original beauty and brilliance. Helps whiten shoes, gloves, etc. Takes soiled and shiny spots out of suits. Whitens whitewash and kalsomine. Makes windows and mirrors crystal-color. Gives cut glass a sun-light sparkle. Fine for porcelain, tiles, white enamel. Why, it'll even give a silvery sheen to grey hair! Better ask your grocer for a stick of Lace Indigo Blue to-day. Give it a try-out—and you'll stick to it.

Adventures of the Twins

TWINS LEARN HOW DREAMS ARE MADE ON MOON

THE TWINS WATCHED ONE LIT TLE TOWSLIE WHILE, HE WORKED OVER A BRIGHT KETTLE

Nanny and Nick followed Mr. Peercout out of his ramshackle old house and along a path through the silver forest to the town of Spooketum, where the Towslies lived. The Towslies were the dream fairies.
It was a very odd place—nothing at all like a dream. For dreams are quiet and beautiful—mostly—while this place was full of noise.
"What are they all doing?" asked Nanny curiously.
"Boiling dreams!" nodded old Peercout approvingly.
The twins watched one little Towslie while he worked over a bright kettle. These were the things he put into it: a piece of beautiful silk, a few raindrops, some tears, some faded flowers and a song.
Then he stirred it all up with a big spoon, bigger than himself. He flew around from one side to the other, singing a quaint little song and looking ever so happy.

At last he unhooked a sack from the wall of his house, made of poppy leaves—the sack, not the house, and held it over the kettle. The steam from the kettle went into it and he tied it up with a tondill off a grape vine.
"That was a whole story the Towslie stirred into the kettle," explained Mr. Peercout. "A little girl wore a new silk dress to a party. It rained and she cried because her dress was spoiled."
"Then she saw some poor, dusty, faded flowers hold up their drooping heads to the rain and look so fresh and glad she forgot about her dress and began to sing."
"The Towslie will slide, down to earth on a moonbeam tonight, then down a chimney and open his bag on some little girl's pillow. That's the way it's done."

Why Flappers Fail!

By AGNES DOHONEY
(Selected as convention girl by the Disabled American Veterans of the world war in a contest from which all flapper types are barred, and only "knew types" admitted.)
"She wants a career."
That's the remark one most frequently hears regarding the flapper. Possibly she does! But can she achieve it?
Here again enters the question of slavery.
A "career" most generally refers to the arts—painting, writing, music, poetry or drama. To do any of these well, it is conceded, there can be little of the superficial in the creator. It is not the work of a butterfly. It involves great originality, creative ability, persistence, application, ideas and ideals. The more ability to turn a smart phrase is not sufficient.
And if we have had the characteristics of the flapper properly presented to us, we see the danger in the light of one who is far more likely to be merely hanging about the edge of the accomplishments than as one who is accomplishing. She will undoubtedly try to force herself upon people who to things and to boast of being in their groove. But will she be doing anything for herself? Does she not merely accept something as "the thing to do?"
If she does not put her life into the task, how can she have a "career"? And so again she fails.

(More on "Why Flappers Fail," by Miss Dohoney, tomorrow.)

Oldest Suffragist Hits Woman's Party

MRS. CHARLOTTE L. PIERCE

BY EDWARD M. THIERRY
PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—The oldest woman suffragist in America does not believe women should form a political party of their own.

Mrs. Charlotte L. Pierce, sole survivor of the first woman suffrage convention in 1848, in a statement repudiated her endorsement of the national woman's party, given when she presented the silver trowel used in laying the cornerstone of the party headquarters in Washington, May 21.

Although she is 83 years old, Mrs. Pierce is in good health and was able to talk in detail of her long years of hope for woman suffrage.

"I sent greetings to Washington and the trowel for the cornerstone," said Mrs. Pierce. "But I am afraid I misunderstood. I thought it meant another step in the history of the great suffrage fight Susan B. Anthony started."

"But this seems to be a woman's party. I do not believe in that. I think women should go into the existing parties. It is no good for them to go off by themselves and form their own party. No, no, that is not the way."

Mrs. Pierce, a little old lady with very white hair and wearing dark glasses for she is losing her sight rapidly—spoke determinedly.

"Women have done great work, and there is much for them to do," she said. "I am sorry I will never be able to vote. Oh, I qualified the last time, but I was ill on election day. And now I do not go out any more. No, no."

"I am glad I have lived to see the day when women's votes did so much in a worth while fight," she said. "It has been such a long fight. Why, I was only a girl of 18 when the Seneca Falls convention was held. Susan B. Anthony was a great and noble woman. You am know her—and I am proud I too am a native of New York state."

Mrs. Pierce was a school teacher when she was 15. She was born 25 miles from Albany and later lived in Waterloo, N. Y. She has lived in Philadelphia for 60 years.

JOHN M. FARRELL Auction
OFFICE, 152 MARKET ST., LOWELL, MASS.

Real Estate at Public Auction

SATURDAY, JUNE 10, 1922, AT 3 P. M., AT NO. 63 MT. VERNON CORNER OF LOMBARD STREET, LOWELL, MASS.

I shall sell at public auction this very desirable residential of real estate consisting of a 2½ story hip-roofed house with pantry and bath, a garage for 4 cars, and 5317 square feet or more or less.

The first floor of the house has large reception hall, parlor, mantle built in, sitting room that has fireplace with mantle and case built in, dining room, kitchen with all conveniences, butler's tray, large pantry with good closets and drawers for linen and ironing chest, and back hall. There is a lavatory off of hall. The floor has 4 large cheerful, sleeping rooms with large closets, 3 windows in each room, and bath room. All the rooms lead off hall. There is a large storage room above. The house is conveniently arranged to make work easy. It has hot and cold water, a high-posted, well lighted cement cellar in which there is vegetable wash room with set tubs and toilet. A door leads from cellar to the yard. The house is heated by furnace and lighted by gas. The garage faces Lombard street and has storage for four cars.

This being a corner lot it has a frontage of about 50 feet on Vernon street and over 155 feet on Lombard street; has concrete driveway, lawn with large shade trees, and is in a good neighborhood.

We shall also sell some household furniture.

You can see this property by calling any day before the sale.

Terms of sale: $500 must be paid at time and place of sale deposit to the auctioneer. Other terms at sale.

Per order, D. W. and JULIA ROYCE.

Councillor Adams asked Mason what he thought of a transfer the business of the city and the police station to Lowell jail and to tear down the station and use the area as a garage.

Mr. Robertson said that he was quite prepared to answer that.

Thomas Lees, manager of the division of the Eastern M. C. C., said that if parking was allowed on the westerly side of the street between the canal and Market street, the cars on Prescott street would not be a disadvantage.

He also suggested that he be allowed on Merrimack street, Y.M.C.A. side, between Shattuck streets and also on the side between Tower's corner and Appleton street, so-called.

William W. Cobb, clerk of the city, said the latter representing State Dye House in Prescott spoke in favor of allowing parking in that street.

The hearing was closed at 9 o'clock. Chairman Gallagher said the committee would consider the matter under consideration.
